PASS ARMY BILL; CRIES OF SCANDAL RAISED IN HOUSE

Democrats and 8 Republicans Force Measure Through; 12 of Former Oppose.

VETO WOOD'S ONLY HOPE

"Tribune's" Exposure of Powder Trust's Activity Figures in Acrimonious Debate.

MANN PAYS TRIBUTE TO GENERAL

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Over vehement protests and the gravest charges of scandal heard in the house of representatives in many years the Democratic majority today forced through the conference report on the army appropriation bill.

The action favorable to this extraordinary piece of legislation was taken by a vote of [illegible] to 92, eight Republicans voting in the affirmative and twelve Democrats in the negative.

There is a growing impression that President Taft will veto the bill. At least he is being strongly urged to do so on the ground that such a law would disorganize the army and unconstitutionally limit the power of the president to appoint a chief of staff.

The only hope of saving Gen. Leonard Wood from being retired from that office lies in a veto. There is no possibility of the bill being passed over a veto.

Exposure Figures in Debate.

The CHICAGO TRIBUNE's exposure of the fact the conference committee, of which Senator Du Pont was chairman, placed on the [illegible] commission the Washington representative of the Du Pont Powder company, Gen. Charles F. Humphrey, figured conspicuously in the acrimonious debate on the report in the house.

It formed the text of an impressive protest made by Minority Leader Mann, who called attention to the possibility that through the vote of Gen. Humphrey on this board the Du Pont Powder trust, which sells millions of dollars' worth of powder to the government annually, may determine whether the United States shall maintain or abandon various army posts.

Representative Prince of Illinois charged that the five retired army officers were placed on this board because it was known that they were against the elimination of superfluous army posts. In addition to Gen. Humphrey, who is against abandonment, Gens. Young, MacArthur, and Randall, it was shown, gave a similar verdict on a previous commission.

It was freely charged that the conference report represented a deal between Senator Warren and Representative Hay, the former getting the commission, provision designed to save Fort D. A. Russell, near Cheyenne, from abandonment, and the latter getting the scalp of Gen. Wood on behalf of Gen. Ainsworth.

Says Plums Were Traded for Votes.

Mr. Prince, in addition, asserted that votes for the deal were garnered in both the senate and house by handing out with a lavish hand appropriation plums to hungry statesmen.

The Republicans who voted for the conference report were:

[illegible] (Kas.),	McLaughlin (Mich.),
[illegible] (Kas.),	Mondell (Wyo.),
[illegible] (Idaho),	Rees (Kas.),
[illegible] (Neb.),	Young (Kas.).

The Democrats who voted against the conference report were:

[illegible] (O.),	Haymen (Ariz.),
[illegible] (Ill.),	Martin (Colo.),
[illegible] (O.),	Peters (Mass.),
[illegible] (O.),	Post (O.),
[illegible] (Pa.),	Reilly (Conn.),
[illegible] (Pa.),	Wilson (Pa.).

Eight Illinoisans Absent.

With the exception of Buchanan, the members of the Illinois delegation present voted with their party colleagues. The Illinois absentees were Fowler, McKenzie, McKinney, Rodenberg, Sabath, Stack, Thistlewood, and Wilson.

"Mr. Speaker," said Minority Leader Mann in his attack on the report, "I do not believe that congress ought to wreak personal animosity against a particular individual by general legislation. I question the advisability of appointing on a commission to pass upon army posts any retired officer of the army who is in the private pay and employ of a company engaged in selling supplies to the army.

"Gen. Humphrey is a man of high character, popular while he was quartermaster general in the army, and popular now. It is not his fault that he is named, but he ought not to have been named on a commission to determine in regard to army posts while he is in the employ of the Du Pont Powder company.

Pays Tribute to Gen. Wood.

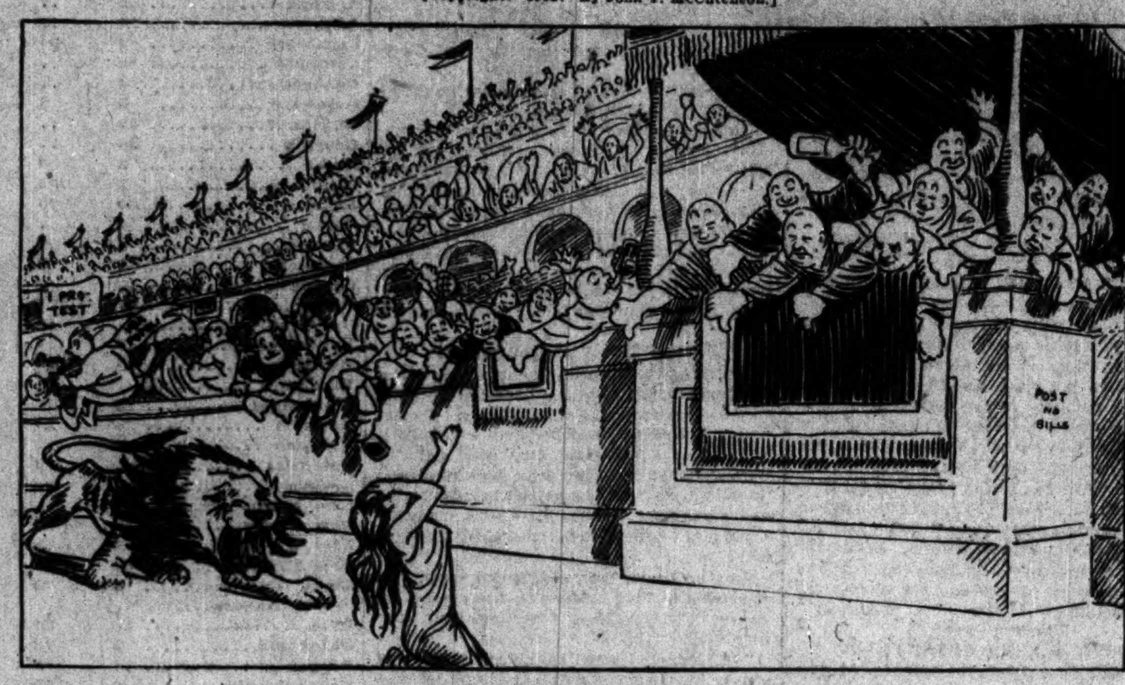

"It is abhorrent to every sense of justice to place any officer or any man in such a position. Working for a company, selling supplies to the army, whose vote might determine whether an army post shall be retained [illegible] among army officers—it seems to me highly improper that he should be named. I have suggested it, and I regret that an occasion has arisen where the house even is called upon to vote whether we shall endeavor to cast odium upon the present chief of staff, Gen. Wood.

"Why, Mr. Speaker, his reputation is beyond and above our assaults. We cast odium upon ourselves by endeavoring to declare that we wreak personal and petty spite and revenge upon this army officer, who has proved his worth both in the field and in his position as chief of staff. Enjoying the confidence, as he has, of two presidents, enjoying the confidence, as he does, of

COL. ROOSEVELT DUE TOMORROW TO LEAD FIGHT

BIG MEETING MONDAY

Auditorium Scene of Protest Over Methods of Seating Delegates.

NEW YORK PAPER URGES TRIP

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is going to Chicago. He is expected to leave Oyster Bay tomorrow and will be in the convention town Saturday. It is understood that Mrs. Roosevelt will accompany him and that they will have rooms at the Blackstone hotel.

The colonel had a three hour conference over the long distance telephone with "Bill" Flinn of Pennsylvania tonight. At the end of the talk the colonel was not prepared to state definitely his plan to go west. However, it may be said that he will start tomorrow.

"I can't tell yet what I will do," the colonel told the reporters. However, he expects to motor in to New York tomorrow morning, leaving Oyster Bay about 9 o'clock and arriving in New York about 11 o'clock. It is likely he will take the afternoon train for Chicago.

Thinks His Presence Necessary.

The colonel is of the opinion that what he terms the theft of the delegates in Arizona, and particularly of the two delegates in California in addition to those in Indiana, has stirred up so much feeling among his followers that they are justified in demanding his presence, not merely as a presidential candidate, but as the leader in the fight of the people against the bosses.

Col. Roosevelt said the delegates arriving at Chicago regard the situation as a cynically open attempt on the part of the national committee to defraud the people of the victory they have won and to nominate for president the man whom the rank and file of the Republican party have overwhelmingly repudiated where they have had the chance to express themselves.

The Roosevelt house on Sagamore Hill was ablaze with lights far into the night. Messages by telegraph and telephone came in large numbers all the evening until at last the colonel said that he must retire for the night.

New York Mail Urges Trip.

The New York Evening Mail, in a seven column streamer across the top of its first page, tonight says:

"The Evening Mail has not believed it possible that a situation could arise in Chicago that would justify Col. Roosevelt's presence in that city, but we now demand of him, in the name of a majority of Republicans in the Republican states of the north, that he assume personal direction of the struggle there against the theft of a presidential nomination by a candidate repudiated in every primary election or popular poll, north or south.

"The next president must be a Republican—no candidate with a tainted title can be elected.

MASSMEETING MONDAY NIGHT.

If the eastern reports that Col. Roosevelt is coming to Chicago are correct, the projected Roosevelt massmeeting in the Auditorium next Monday night acquires an even greater interest.

Senator Dixon clung to the position regarding the colonel's plans he has maintained all the way through the convention preliminaries.

"Nothing has occurred, so far as I know, to change the material situation," he said. "Col. Roosevelt's position all along has been that if there were a change in conditions he would not hesitate to come to Chicago. That time has not arrived, and I have no advices from Oyster Bay which would indicate he thinks it is necessary for him to come."

Meeting to Be Spectacular.

Plans are under way for the Monday night massmeeting which indicate it will be one of the most spectacular and earnest affairs of convention week. Coming as it does on the eve of the assembly of the convention and with the tension at its highest point, the probabilities are there will be developments of the first degree of importance. The colonel's presence will give it supreme interest.

It is the understanding the immediate purpose of the meeting is to express concretely the indignation of the Roosevelt delegates and the Roosevelt men generally from the direct primary states over the methods which have been employed in seating the Taft delegates by the national committee.

Also it is purposed to serve notice specifically on machine bound delegates that the same methods will not be permitted to prevail when the national convention gets into actual session.

Day's Developments In the Political Field

NATIONAL Committee gives Roosevelt 20 to Taft's 16 in Missouri. Revolt in committee cuts down president's "paper" strength.

FIVE STATES join in revolt against steam roller. Pledge electoral votes to Roosevelt should Taft be nominee of "stolen convention."

COLONEL ROOSEVELT will reach Chicago tomorrow to lead fight of progressives in convention; massmeeting in Auditorium Monday night.

TAFT leaders reported to be looking for dark horse; Crane reported suggesting president's strength be thrown to Cummins.

SENATOR KENYON, Cummins' manager, declares feeling in east is strong for third candidate, and Iowan is regarded as best available man.

SENATOR DIXON charges attempt to bribe two members of national committee by anti-Roosevelt forces.

TAFT FORCES call on mayor and get police guard for convention doubled.

ROOSEVELT will insist on plank for encouraging development of south and its waterways and the reclamation of southern swamp lands.

CHICAGO WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE organizations to work for Roosevelt's nomination and election.

FIVE STATES JOIN ANTI-GRAB REVOLT

Pledge Their Electors to Roosevelt if Taft Should Be "Theft" Nominee.

AGAINST STEAM ROLLER.

Five states have joined the revolt against the methods of the Republican national committee and yesterday served warning upon the committee and the country at large that they would refuse to abide by a "stolen convention" nominee.

Following the lead of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the leaders of which declared the Republican presidential electors would vote for Theodore Roosevelt even should President Taft become the "steam roller" nominee, Maryland, Indiana, and Oregon, through the Roosevelt leaders, made similar pledges yesterday.

The pledges were made at a meeting of the Roosevelt leaders and delegates at the Congress hotel, at which the enthusiasm was raised to the highest pitch by Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt campaign manager, Gov. Stubbs of Kansas, Gov. Glasscock of West Virginia, and delegates from a dozen or more states.

Pledges Made in Telegram.

Edward C. Carrington Jr. of Baltimore, Roosevelt leader in Maryland, showed a telegram from seven of the Maryland electors, pledging themselves to stick to Roosevelt regardless of the action of the national committee.

"We carried Maryland for Roosevelt," declared Mr. Carrington, "and he is our candidate for the presidency. We do not have to take orders from any one. These electors will support Theodore Roosevelt as the choice of Maryland in the electoral college."

The signers of the telegram were Joseph R. Baldwin, F. Snowden Hill, D. M. Newbolt Jr., Charles H. Torsch, Henry Hoffman, Dr C. Allen, and A. E. Alberts.

H. W. Coe and Bruce Dennis of Oregon followed with the declaration that their state electors would stick by Roosevelt through thick and thin.

Puts West Virginia in Line.

Gov. Glasscock declared West Virginia would refuse to cast its electoral votes for Taft.

"I come of a family that has been 'regular' politically for years," he said, "but if it comes to a question of either being 'regular' or right I am going to be right. In West Virginia we have nominated electors who are with us, who worked in our camp, and who will continue to be with us. No law compels an elector to vote for any man not fairly nominated. Our motto in West Virginia is 'Mountaineers always are free men,' and we are going to be free men now."

William Flinn of Pittsburgh again declared the Pennsylvania electors would protect the Republican party in the state and would refuse to recognize Taft should the steam roller continue its work.

The proposition first advanced by Mr. Flinn, which has been spreading from state to state, of having the presidential electors nominated as Roosevelt men refuse to recognize the validity of a "stolen convention" should that occur, has been causing the Taft men much worry. Should these men refuse to give the president their support in the electoral college, it is pointed out by the Roosevelt leaders, it would mean certain defeat for Taft.

Won't Have Party Stolen.

"We are not going to bolt," declared Mr. Flinn, "but we certainly are not going to have the party stolen away from us by men who never send a Republican electoral vote to elect a Republican president. We of the real Republican states are the Republican party, and it is time there repudiated and irresponsible misrepresentatives know it."

Five Indiana electors are said to have notified the Roosevelt committee they will stand with it, should the Republicans carry Indiana, and refuse to accept Taft as the regular party nominee. What Illinois electors will do probably will be determined on Monday.

The present situation was not figured on when the electoral tickets were made up and no effort was made to have stanch Roosevelt men placed on them.

Votes Absolutely Lost to Taft.

The votes in the electoral college which the Roosevelt men assert are absolutely lost to Taft, regardless of the action of the national committee, are divided so far as follows: Indiana, 5; Oregon, 5; Maryland, 7; Pennsylvania, 33; West Virginia, 8.

Kansas with 10 votes and California with 13 are expected to be pledged before the convention starts, along with scattering electors from other states, sufficient, the Roosevelt men say, to control the election in the electoral college.

GIVE COLONEL 20 TO TAFT 16 IN MISSOURI

SEEKING A DARK HORSE

Nagel Leaves Town and Hadley Wins His State's "at Large" Delegation.

STEAMROLLER NOW HESITANT

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

A revolt yesterday in the Taft majority of the Republican national committee in connection with the Missouri contests has thrown the president's camp into consternation.

These contests were settled so that Col. Roosevelt will have from that state twenty delegates instead of the twenty-six he claimed, and President Taft sixteen delegates instead of the twenty-four he expected.

The loss of delegates regarded as absolutely essential to the president's nomination has given rise among the Taft managers to a renewal of talk as to a compromise candidate. Their "one best bet" now is not that Taft surely will be nominated, but that Roosevelt will not get the nomination.

It is an entirely different atmosphere that now pervades the inner circle of the president's friends. They are sore and angry over what has occurred, and are expressing themselves in impolite language over what they term the desertion of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel of Missouri, who left Chicago on the eve of the consideration of the Missouri contests.

Ready to Abandon Taft.

While they continue to say they will do "all they can" for Mr. Taft, they are speculating as to how much of their strength they can transfer to another candidate, possibly Senator Cummins. The latter's campaign manager, Senator Kenyon of Iowa, appeared opportunely in Chicago in the morning. They did not see him or communicate with him, but there began gradually to permeate through the lobbies of the hotel the suggestion that perhaps six Pennsylvania delegates instructed for Taft would throw their votes to the Iowa candidate.

Senator Kenyon says he knows nothing about it; the Taft men, including Senator Penrose, deny it. The Taft managers realize that the moment they abandon Mr. Taft that moment the break will occur to Roosevelt. They feel they must not attempt to change horses crossing a stream, and it is announced they will not abandon the president's candidacy.

Try to Suppress Revolt.

What they are doing is to devise a means of suppressing the insurrection. With this in view the committee took an early adjournment yesterday and last night there was a long conference, participated in by Senators Crane and Penrose, Secretary to the President Hilles, William Barnes Jr., and others.

Tentative proposals were suggested for a compromise as favorable as possible to Mr. Taft on some of the remaining contests, but it was determined that the delegates from the state of Washington must be taken en bloc.

The Taft forces realize they have arrived at the edge of the precipice, with only a narrow path of concession leading to possible safety in the committee itself.

But to take the latter route reduces even the Taft figures of control of the convention to a margin so small that the Taft men shudder when they contemplate them.

Missouri Settled Beforehand.

Ostensibly the Missouri contests were settled in the committee yesterday. As a matter of fact, they were arranged some hours before.

The Taft managers were apprised that the national committeemen who had been voting with them, including Williams of Oregon, Devine, who has been holding a proxy from Colorado, and others, were not prepared to vote for the transfer of all the Missouri contests to the Taft column. These men had examined carefully into the facts and they could not convince themselves and felt they could not convince their people at home that there was any justice in the exclusion of the delegates at large from the neighboring state or of the delegates from most of the districts, including the Fifth, which Col. Roosevelt, by a primary, carried 12 to 1.

California Made Them Pause.

These men had not participated with any degree of eagerness in the assault on Wednes-

MICROSCOPE NEEDED TO SEE MILADY'S PEEK-A-BOO HOSE.

Latest Device in Stockings—You Could Not Darn the Darn Things—There Isn't a Darn Thing to Darn.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Hail the peek-a-boo stocking! Of all devices that have proved a boon to mosquitoes, the peek-a-boo hosiery that is about to twine its negligible filaments about shapely ankle and classic calf strikes the final chord.

The interstices of the peek-a-boos are about an inch square, and will stretch farther. They need no darning. You couldn't darn the darn things, for there isn't a darn thing to darn.

The peek-a-boo stocking is on view at 239 West Thirty-ninth street. If Lady Godiva had worn a union suit of it she would have been the same Lady Godiva who made the famous ride.

It is really no stocking at all. The peek-a-boo waist is a cloak of mail beside it. She who wears it may know in her heart that she pulled on her stockings, but others who look without the aid of strong glasses will know nothing about it.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS A WOMAN.

Mrs. Elizabeth Falvey Run Down by a Car Belonging to Essanay Film Company.

Mrs. Elizabeth Falvey was fatally injured early last evening when she was struck by an automobile owned by the Essanay Film company. It was driven by William Snider, 443 Beethoven place. She was crossing Wells street, near Hill, when she is said to have walked directly in front of the machine. She was removed to the Passavant hospital in the automobile by Snider, where she died shortly after midnight. Mrs. Falvey was 60 years old.

FIVE FT. SHERIDAN PRISONERS FLEE

Escape in Auto with Aid of Confederate, Who Brings Them New Clothes.

POLICE CATCH WOMAN.

Five prisoners of the United States army escaped about 8:30 last night from the guard house at Fort Sheridan and rode away in an automobile.

The escape was the result of a prearranged plan in which a woman confederate, and possibly a man, figured. Late last night the woman was arrested. She gave the name of Mrs. Delia Lawrence, 1221 West Van Buren street.

The fugitives were Frank Carr, Frank Newlin, Fred Meyer, Harold Smith, and Charles Underwood. They were all members of troop A, Fourth cavalry.

The five prisoners were employed in the kitchen. The seventy other prisoners had been taken to their cells and locked in. The sentry in charge of the kitchen squad left the quintet alone for a moment. When he returned they were gone.

Accomplices Bought Clothing.

The sentry rushed out into the street and saw an automobile speeding toward Chicago at the rate of about forty miles an hour. Police of the suburbs between Fort Sheridan and Chicago were notified to watch for the car and stop it on sight.

It is believed they had a key for the kitchen door. Hats and coats marked with the "P" in white paint were found outside on the ground to indicate that the accomplice came provided with a change of clothing.

All Military Prisoners.

Mrs. Lawrence told the police that four of the prisoners and the chauffeur in charge of the automobile drove west after reaching Wilmette, where she and the fifth soldier left the machine. They boarded a Northwestern Elevated train at Evanston.

Sergt. Jay and a private from Fort Sheridan recognized Mrs. Lawrence as a woman they had seen in an automobile near the fort in the afternoon. They seized her when she recognized them. She attempted to jump out of one of the open windows.

A man beside her, believed to be one of the soldiers, ran to the opposite door of the car and jumped off the train.

Col. Noel Bishop, commandant at Fort Sheridan, said that the men were to have been taken to Leavenworth prison tomorrow.

J. V. Clarke of Highland Park Plans to Make Daily Trip to Chicago by Boat.

Waukegan, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—J. V. Clarke, a millionaire resident of Highland Park, has a plan by which he will no longer be compelled to use the railroad in his daily trips to Chicago. He has decided to station his $65,000 gasoline launch in Waukegan. It will make daily trips between Waukegan and Chicago.

day on the California state law, whereby two delegates had been taken from Col. Roosevelt, who carried the state by 77,000 majority, and given to the president. They felt it would be unwise to act further in the direction of supporting the charges of unfairness and partiality which have been made against the committee.

Moreover, the declaration of William Flinn of Pennsylvania and the leaders of other state delegations that if the nomination were stolen Roosevelt electors would be elected next November tended to induce the Taft managers to call a halt in their "strong arm" operations.

Advised of the feeling among the committeemen, the Taft managers entered into a long discussion, with the result that the decision was reached to endeavor to obtain a compromise. This decision was strengthened by the information they secured showing if the committee were to declare the Missouri state convention illegal the Republican party thereby would be deprived of the presence of electors on the electoral ticket of the state. These electors had been named by the convention.

Nagel Didn't Face Hadley.

The Taft managers also were discouraged by the unexpected departure from Chicago of Secretary Nagel, who had been depended upon to appear before the committee and there state, in the presence of Gov. Hadley, that an agreement had been entered into while the convention was in session whereby the delegates at large were to be divided between Taft and Roosevelt.

Evidently Mr. Nagel did not care to undergo this ordeal. The committee consequently was forced to take the governor's statement, clearly and forcefully presented, and it was backed up by affidavits so strong that the result could not be in doubt.

If the Taft managers could have had their way they would have been glad to divide the Missouri delegates at large with Col. Roosevelt, but it became apparent while Gov. Hadley was speaking that the majority of the committee would not stand for anything less than the seating of all the Roosevelt delegates. As soon as this situation was established Senator Crane told Representative Bartholdt, who was sitting under Secretary Nagel's proxy, to negotiate a compromise with Gov. Hadley in connection with the district contests.

How Missouri Stands.

An agreement was reached whereby the Roosevelt delegates from the First and Fifth districts and the Taft delegates from the Third, Seventh, and Fourteenth were recognized. The committee accepted the agreement. As a result, the Missouri delegation will be divided upon the floor of the convention, as follows, unless the Taft managers decide they must have the votes and make another fight in the credentials committee.

Texas and Washington Puzzle.

The question which engrossed the attention of the Taft conference last night was as to the number of contests the committee might be induced to seat from Texas and Washington.

It is expected there will be no trouble today in transferring the Third Oklahoma, the First South Carolina, and most of the four contested Tennessee districts to the Taft column. An effort is being made to make a compromise favorable to the president in connection with Tennessee. Eight delegates at large and twenty-two delegates, representing eleven districts, are in contest in Texas.

The president needs every one of these delegates. But it is extremely doubtful if the majority of the committee will be disposed to proceed to such unusual lengths.

It is admitted, even by the Taft managers, that most of the Texas contests are indefensible. Moreover, Cecil Lyon, who has been long a committeeman, is extremely popular with the committee, especially the southern members, who want him reelected to the body.

Finally, in some of the southern contests Lyon has been considerate and has abandoned the Roosevelt men to join with his brethren in seating their delegates. The Taft managers fear a revolt upon Texas also, and they are displaying a desire to compromise, giving Roosevelt the majority. If they can stiffen their members of the committee they will relinquish this plan, but the indications are that Mr. Lyon will be successful in obtaining a majority of the contests.

Situation Is Canvassed.

Following Texas the committee will dispose of the contests from Virginia—which will be transferred bodily to the Taft column—Washington, and the District of Columbia. There were local primaries in Washington which the Taft men declare were irregular, though the vote showed Roosevelt to be overwhelmingly the favorite of the Republican voters.

In the District of Columbia primaries there were practiced frauds of the most glaring character. It is the belief of the Taft managers they can hold a majority of both Washington and the District of Columbia, which will add sixteen votes to the president.

It is claimed by the Taft managers that up to date they have lost only three delegates they had expected to get as a result of the action of the committee—one in the Eleventh Kentucky district and two in Missouri. So far as the latter state is concerned, they had determined to divide the delegates equally between the two candidates.

In other words, Roosevelt was to be allowed eighteen delegates and the president was to have eighteen delegates.

Gives Result to President.

But this plan was knocked in the head by the revolt which took place. One Taft authority declares the president will control the convention on paper by from twenty to twenty-five majority, while others insist fifteen has been the largest majority expected. Neither of these estimates takes into account possible desertions.

When the committee adjourned Secretary Hilles was advised of the action taken and immediately informed the president over the special wire which connects the Taft headquarters with the White House. The president is understood to have taken the position that it is advisable to make the best of a bad bargain and to have insisted that everything possible be done to keep the national committee in line hereafter. The president is in hearty sympathy with the desire of Senators Crane and Penrose to beat Roosevelt, and he has manifested it in no uncertain language.

REPORT OF DAY'S CONTESTS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Only twenty-five members were present when the Republican national committee resumed consideration of the contests at 9:10 yesterday morning.

The contest in the Second district of Mississippi was the first called. At the suggestion of Committeeman Penrose attorneys for both sides agreed to consolidate the Second, Fourth, Sixth, and Seventh Mississippi districts. Argument on these cases collectively was then begun.

Views Expressed by Readers of the Tribune.

LOWDEN AS A COMMITTEEMAN.

Sterling, Ill., June 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Frank O. Lowden, national committeeman because the politicians forced instructions for Joe Cannon as against Taft four years ago, is again at odds with the people of the state as a Taft representative on the committee. However, his political lights have been glimmering fitfully for some time and if he could, "for the good of the party," turn his proxy over to the notorious Billy Lorimer, why cannot he save the wrenching of his conscience, due to an occasional vote for a Roosevelt contestant, by turning over his proxy to a genuine progressive?

Lowden always has won his political honors by false pretenses. He won his election to congress only by claiming to be a warm admirer of Roosevelt and a supporter of his progressive platform.

He came out over night to the Thirteenth district to "stand" for the congressional nomination with all the sangfroid of an English nobleman who decided to "stand" for a rural constituency. But he was brought up standing in his standpat attitude and found it necessary to break into a run. The attitude of dignified reserve soon changed to undignified scramble and the voters were informed that he was not only a progressive but the original progressive, and he slipped through by the skin of his teeth.

He made one general speech in congress to the effect that the trusts must be good and was immediately taken under the wing of "Uncle Joe" Cannon and always sided with him against the insurgents and urged his constituents, contrary to primary instructions, to send Cannon delegates to Chicago. He turned his proxy over to the progressive Lorimer, refused the petitions for direct primaries, and now is giving aid and comfort to a candidate overwhelmingly repudiated at the primaries. EVAN L. REED.

CHOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Omaha, Neb., June 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Take this from me, and from the majority of the people of the state, that if Taft is renominated the next president of the United States will be a Democrat. Taft is a lawyer and a good man, but Roosevelt is better and greater. He is familiar with the needs and wants of the people and will carry out their wishes. He can be elected if nominated, because he is the people's choice.

J. W. S. BANKS.

ROOSEVELT SHOWS BACKBONE.

Chicago, June 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Of the Republican and Democratic leaders Roosevelt is the first man who has shown he possesses the intelligence and backbone to declare himself publicly for the recall, the initiative, and the referendum. This irrefutable proof of his willingness to speak and to work for the masses of the people should be sufficient in itself to insure his nomination and his election. L. C. C.

WILL TAFT REPUDIATE IT?

Keokuk, Ia., June 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If President Taft sits quietly by and permits the national committee to be controlled by his jobholding bosses in direct opposition to the emphatic wish of the masses of the Republican party, he then is guilty of the flagrant crime of transgressing those eternal, immutable laws of justice on which this nation is founded, and I, as a negro, and as an American citizen, would consider such transgression as absolving the negro from all obligation to a presidential candidate nominated by such pernicious methods.

THE TRIBUNE, in its fight for honesty, in its increasing demand that the will of the Republican party prevail, is deserving of the unlimited praise of justice loving people. Let those unscrupulous persons who would pervert the principle of honor and force on the Republican party an undesirable candidate remember that this case goes to the court of last appeal, the people. "Lord, God of Hosts, be with them yet lest they forget"—November. B. L. ANDERSON, OLD TWEED GANG OUTDONE.

Chicago, June 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The Tweed gang of scoundrels in its political achievements has been eclipsed and overshadowed by the unprecedented audacity and arbitrary rulings of the national committee. Roosevelt carried Maryland by a decided majority, but the committee turned it over to Taft. Roosevelt carried California by a majority of 77,000. The committee of brilliants gave it to Taft. Nebraska gave Roosevelt a large majority and it was turned over to Taft. Pennsylvania, Ohio, and New Jersey also gave Roosevelt unquestioned majorities and the shameless robbery was repeated, by turning all over to Taft. The acts of the national committee for plain and unequivocal stealing stand without a parallel in the history of the country. A. J. PARK.

CALLS TAFT A FAILURE.

Chicago, June 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—What is evident to all the world must be evident to Mr. Taft—the people of this country do not want Taft for president and that they do want Roosevelt. Knowing this, what kind of a man is Taft in trying to force himself on the people?

The day after Taft made his Winona speech he was politically dead. He has been a colossal failure—not one great epoch mark in his career—absolutely nothing done for the benefit of the people during his four years as president.

I am a poor man, but I would rather be on the outside with honor than on the inside with the contempt of my countrymen.

A ROOSEVELT REPUBLICAN.

WOULD NOT VOTE FOR TAFT.

Dwight, Ill., June 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have been a Republican all my life, voting for fifty-five years, but, with hundreds of thousands of others, I will not vote for Taft if he is nominated. I am a Republican, but do not wear a brass collar with some boss' name on it, and more especially Lorimer's name.

Thanks to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for its success in giving us the presidential preference primary law and in helping to rid the state of Lorimerism. Thanks to Theodore Roosevelt for consenting to again become a candidate.

The people, the common people, have spoken. They will not consent this time to be ignored in the nomination for president, and Taft, if nominated, cannot be elected.

Our only hope now is that the national convention will undo the work of the national committee. Every state, which has made known its wish should see that its wish is respected by its representatives.

ORSON POTTER.

LIKES BAGGAGE CHECK EMBLEM.

Chicago, June 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—W. H. Taft was born an aristocrat, always has been one, and has no touch or sympathy with those whom he does not consider in his class, and these constitute the vast majority of the American people. Your cartoon of June 8 shows him in his right light. His followers and campaign managers are like him and both he and they are out of touch with the people. It is time for Chicago and all the people to recall the baggage check used as a campaign emblem when Mr. Roosevelt last was a candidate. Let all his friends spring this baggage check badge now and wear it continuously during the pre-convention campaign. NERICON.

IOWA WANTS ROOSEVELT.

Earlham, Ia., June 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The honest people of Iowa want Teddy to come out on an independent ticket if necessary. He can carry Iowa. When the truth of the highway robbery of the national convention is known to the public they will repudiate the outfit so bad they will never try for office again. Nine-tenths of the people are for the initiative, referendum, and recall. A few people would try to make one believe Iowa is for Cummins. With a primary Teddy would carry the state overwhelmingly. Keep the good work going on. HARRY W. HILL.

MUST REPUBLICANS SUBMIT?

Chicago, June 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Must 5,000,000 Republican patriots submit to the damnable work of the repudiated Taft national committee as shown in the California contest decided today? Can we be thus misrepresented in the twentieth century and still be powerless to prevent it? Let us have thousands at the massmeeting.

—ONE OF THE 5,000,000.

bitter feeling towards Francis J. Heney of San Francisco again was displayed. Mr. Heney had come in on the proxy of Thomas Thorson of South Dakota.

Committeeman W. S. Sturgess of Arizona made a motion that Mr. Heney's proxy be refused and the Californian excluded. He said the records showed the San Francisco man had run for prosecuting attorney on the Democratic ticket.

"I refused to accept the Democratic nomination," replied Mr. Heney. "I did run as an independent. I was defeated by the money of Patrick Calhoun."

On the motion of Committeeman Chubb of Florida the proposal to exclude Mr. Heney was tabled. He was allowed to retain his seat.

Fifth Mississippi to Taft.

In the Fifth Mississippi district the Taft delegates were the contestants. Their attorneys announced they would rest their case on affidavits and records purporting to show their delegates were regularly elected.

After considerable argument and another clash between Mr. Heney and the Taft forces the president's delegates were seated.

The Eighth Mississippi district then was considered. Dean C. Ryman for the Roosevelt men said Committeeman Mosely refused to issue tickets of admission to the district convention to delegates unfriendly to Taft.

A double contest developed. Wesley Crayton and George C. Granberry claimed to be the regular Taft delegates, but P. W. Howard appeared to contest Granberry's seat.

Borah Denounces "Agreements."

There were hurried conferences between committeemen and delegates on the floor. Delegate Howard finally said there had been "an agreement." Senator Borah denounced the making of any agreement on the committee floor as "an insult and an outrage."

Mr. Howard insisted the "agreement" was for peace and harmony and did not concern the Taft-Roosevelt fight. It contemplated the seating of the three Taft delegates with two-thirds vote each.

"If you are entitled to a full vote," demanded Borah, "why do you now give up one-third of your vote?"

Mr. Howard declared all the three delegates were instructed for Taft and that there had been no "trade" or "deal."

The committee finally seated Crayton and Howard unanimously. While both are listed as Taft delegates, Howard is claimed also by the Roosevelt forces.

Start Missouri Contests.

The Missouri contests were then taken up. These, filed by the Taft allies, involved the four delegates at large, and two delegates each from the First, Third, Fifth, Seventh, and Fourteenth districts, fourteen in all.

Gov. Hadley's delegation at large numbered eight. The aTft delegation at large, headed by John Q. Black, included four members. The case of the delegates at large opened the fight. Grant Gillespie, attorney for the Taft men, took up the history of the Missouri state convention, at which Gov. Hadley's Roosevelt delegation was selected. The Taft forces, he said, had controlled the state committee by eighteen to fourteen and had decided the contests on the night before the convention.

Taft Man Tells of "Pact."

Police took possession of the convention hall at sunrise, he said, under orders of state officers and 147 policemen and an equal number of militia were in possession the morning of the convention.

A new committee, including Gov. Hadley and Secretary Nagel, president Taft's representative, then took up the contests, he said, and an agreement was reached to send four Taft and four Roosevelt men without instructions to cast Missouri's four votes at large in the Chicago convention. This agreement, he said, was indorsed by the state committee and it was expected it would be followed in the state convention. Gov. Hadley was made permanent chairman. The resolution then offered, he said, made no reference to Col. Roosevelt.

Reviews Missouri Convention.

At this point, declared Mr. Gillespie, Chairman Hadley asked the convention to "indulge" the resolutions committee a few minutes, while it corrected a "misunderstanding" in the resolutions. The convention proceeded to elect eight delegates, and their alternates.

Chairman Hadley left the chair, said Mr. Gillespie, and went into the room where the resolutions committee was still working. When the committee finally came in with its report the resolutions referred in complimentary language to Roosevelt. The resolution to instruct for the colonel, he asserted, was made from the floor of the convention.

"Have you any proof here?" asked Senator Borah, "of the terms of this agreement made by the committee of eight, of which Gov. Hadley and Secretary Nagel were members?"

Mr. Gillespie said he had nothing but the general understanding of what they had done.

Pressed by Gov. Stubbs, Mr. Gillespie admitted the Roosevelt forces had a majority of the state convention when the Hadley delegates were elected and that each of the delegates had received a good majority of votes.

Hadley States Roosevelt Case.

Gov. Hadley, in stating the Roosevelt side, declared "paper contests" had been instituted by the Taft forces to control the state convention. He said the state committee had decided all but eight county contests, and that these had been referred to a committee of six, with Secretary Nagel and Gov. Hadley as "advisers."

"The settlement of these things was the only thing that committee was authorized to do," insisted the governor.

He denied there had been any agreement to select eight men, divided between Taft and Roosevelt. The convention proceeded harmoniously, he said, until the matter of resolutions was reached.

Explains About Resolutions.

"There was a delay because of the loss of a sheet of the resolutions," he explained. "It was not until a resolution was offered from the floor instructing for Roosevelt, that there arose any question of an agreement or division of the delegation."

The governor insisted there was no previous agreement except as to the seating of the contested delegates. He presented affidavits and the records of the convention to show that other men in the subcommittee meeting also had no knowledge of any agreement to divide the delegation or to prevent instructions for Roosevelt.

He produced sworn records of the official stenographers, indorsed by the regular officers of the convention to show it had adjourned on a formal motion, properly put and carried.

Delegates at Large to Colonel.

Gov. Hadley announced at the close of his argument that four of the Roosevelt delegates at large had offered to withdraw, thus leaving the official number four on the Roosevelt delegation.

On the conclusion of the presentation of the case the national committee by unanimous vote declared the Roosevelt delegates at large entitled to seats in the convention. The delegation of eight was divided, four being given regular recognition and the other four being named as alternates.

The committee spent no time in debate of its decision, but awarded the delegates at large to Col. Roosevelt without a roll call.

The delegates seated were Gov. Hadley, Jesse A. Tolerton, Walter S. Dickey, Hugh McIndoe. The rest of the Roosevelt delegation was seated as alternates. They were: John D. McNeeley, Frederick Essen, A. A. Speer, John W. Tippin.

Six to Taft; Four to Colonel.

The committee then considered the First Missouri district, Henry L. Eads representing the Taft contestants. Charles E. Rendlen argued for the Roosevelt forces.

After the argument Mr. Bartholdt asked for a delay, saying an agreement on all Missouri districts was under consideration.

Later it was announced that by a compromise reached between Missouri factions President Taft was given six and Col. Roosevelt four of the contested delegates from the First, Third, Fifth, Seventh, and Fourteenth congressional districts.

In the First and Fifth districts the Roosevelt men, and in the others the Taft men were seated. The motion was made by Mr. Bartholdt with Gov. Hadley's consent and the vote was unanimous.

The Roosevelt delegates seated were: First district, Charles E. Rendlen and Joseph Moore; Fifth district, Homer B. Mann and Ernest R. Sweeney.

The Taft delegates seated were: Third district, H. G. Orton and H. L. Eads; Seventh district, Richard Johnson and Louis Hoffman; Fourteenth district, H. B. Duncan and George S. Green.

Four of North Carolina's to Colonel.

The Third North Carolina district contest was then called and, without argument Marion Butler of Turkey, N. C., and W. S. O'B. Robinson of Goldsboro, announced as Roosevelt delegates, were seated without argument by the attorneys and without a roll call.

Consideration of the Fourth district contest was postponed. In the Ninth North Carolina district both sets of delegates were credited to Roosevelt. The set headed by S. S. McNinch was seated.

The committee adjourned at 3:15. This was explained as being due to the fact that it held long sessions each day and enough progress had been made to dispose of the contests within the time remaining before the convention.

Roosevelt Allies Rejoice.

Events of the day gave the Roosevelt delegates and leaders their first real cause for jollification, and they were not slow to take advantage of it.

While the national committee was disposing of the Missouri contests Roosevelt delegates were assembled in the Congress hotel listening to a speech by William Flinn of Pennsylvania, who urged that "every man must do his full duty and not give up the fight."

Several hundred men were in the room cheering when it was learned Missouri had been won for Roosevelt in the national committee. Francis J. Heney of San Francisco brought the tidings. He first communicated it to former Gov. Franklin Fort of New Jersey and Alexander Moore of Pittsburgh.

"We don't know that here," said the former New Jersey executive. "For heaven's sake get up there and start something."

Mr. Heney started to wedge his way through the crowd to the rostrum and was about to be recognized by Mr. Flinn when Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt campaign manager, who had been sent for, arrived. Cheers for Dixon postponed Heney's announcement and the leader of the Roosevelt fight advanced to speak.

Says Colonel Will Be Nominee.

"If Theodore Roosevelt is not wanted by the convention for president of the United States next Thursday," Senator Dixon asserted, "you can back me up against a wall and do anything you want to with me."

After he had been cheered until he raised his hand for silence, the senator declared the national committee could not get enough delegates to nominate Taft.

"The members of the national committee cannot stand the strain of public opinion," he continued, "and you will be the national committee to choose the standard bearer a few days from now."

Heney Tells the News.

Mr. Heney then took the rostrum. When he announced that the national committee had given the Missouri delegates at large to Roosevelt there was a tumult and then Mr. Flinn asked:

"After that do you still compare the national committee to forty thieves?"

"Yes," responded Heney. "I still compare some of the commitee to the forty thieves."

"But don't you think the committee is improving?" Flinn continued.

"Only as to results," said Mr. Heney.

Gov. Stubbs of Kansas, William Allen White, Edward C. Carrington of Maryland delegation, and others joined in stirring up enthusiasm. Mr. Carrington predicted that electors to be chosen in Maryland probably would be found with the electors of West Virginia and Pennsylvania in supporting Roosevelt in the electoral college even if he should not be named as the Republican candidate.

Discuss Early Adjournment.

Following this meeting the members of the national committee began to arrive from the adjourned meeting at the Coliseum. Explanation of the early adjournment was sought.

"Senator Crane told me," said Senator Borah, "that the committee was tired and thought time could be gained by adjourning and arranging to consolidate some contests. I told him I was not in favor of early adjournment."

Senator Dixon took a different view. He insisted the Taft leaders on the committee had been frightened by desertions from their own ranks.

"I positively know," said Mr. Dixon, "that two members of the national committee who have been voting with the steam roller served notice that they would go no further in unseating Roosevelt delegates regularly chosen. I know who they are. There are other members of the committee who cannot stand the strain much longer."

Send Word to White House.

At the Taft headquarters a period of great activity followed the announcement of the adjournment of the committee. The Missouri result was immediately communicated to the White House over the long distance telephone by Secretary Hilles and the Taft advisers were called in. Mr. Hilles would make no comment on the situation.

Senator Boies Penrose was the first to arrive, and he went over the day's developments with Director McKinley. Senator Penrose asserted that the committee had adjourned because it was desirable to allow time for the preparation of various contests and thus facilitate the hearings. He would not comment upon the departure of Mr. Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, who had been expected to argue the Missouri contests for the Taft delegates.

NAGEL SILENT ON RESULTS.

St. Louis, Mo., June 13.—Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, national Republican committeeman from Missouri, tonight declined to comment on the decision of the national committee by which Theodore Roosevelt was awarded Missouri's four delegates at large and four district delegates.

The secretary represented President Taft at a conference the night before the Missouri convention instructed the delegates at large for Roosevelt.

"I have not taken part in any of the contests," Secretary Nagel said, "because I do not think it would be well for me, a member of the president's cabinet, to participate in a contest."

The secretary said he left Chicago to attend to personal business here and that he intended to return to the convention city on Saturday or Sunday.

NEGRO MASSMEETING TONIGHT.

Roosevelt Supporters Will Speak at Pekin Theater, 2700 South State Street.

The Roosevelt national negro organization will hold a massmeeting tonight at the Pekin theater, 2700 South State street. Addresses will be made by John C. Dancy of North Carolina, Nelson C. Crews of Missouri, John R. Lynch, Judson W. Lyons, H. E. Macbeth, I. B. Allen of Massachusetts, and W. H. C. Brown.

Resolutions expressing appreciation of Mr. Roosevelt's efforts in behalf of the negro race and urging negro delegates to stand for him in the convention were adopted at a meeting Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall, 3345 South State street.

Officers of the organization are: George W. Ellis, president; W. L. Sledge, vice president, and W. H. A. Moore, secretary. Headquarters are at 3522 South State street.

TAFT BROTHERS DUE SUNDAY.

Charles and Henry W. Reserve Rooms at Blackstone—Thomas Lawson Coming, Too.

Reservations have been made at the Blackstone hotel for Charles and Henry W. Taft, brothers of the president, who will arrive on Sunday for the convention. Thomas Lawson will come the same day.

"Mr. Lawson and the Taft brothers will occupy adjoining rooms, although, as I understand it, the two parties are not working together," said Clerk Prior.

HADLEY WINS AT CRANE'S 'BARGAIN'

Majority, Given to Colonel, Will Fight Taft Men Before Credentials Committee.

Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, Taft leader on the national committee, met his master yesterday in the person of Gov. Hadley of Missouri. He proposed a truce and a compromise and found himself worsted when he awoke to the situation.

The sum total of the "agreement" between Gov. Hadley and Senator Crane gave the Roosevelt forces control of the Missouri delegation, twenty to sixteen. It also insured the confirmation of Thomas K. Niedringhaus, a Roosevelt man, as national committeeman, and Roosevelt men on all the convention committees from Missouri.

Senator Crane made the overtures after Gov. Hadley, by his forcible presentation of the Roosevelt case in the delegation at large contest, had awed the committee into making the Hadley-Roosevelt "big four."

Senator Crane Makes Proposal.

Approaching the young "show me" executive Senator Crane suggested:

"Governor, there are five district contests yet to be decided in Missouri. Now, as I understand it, all involve a question of facts as to the majority in each county convention. We haven't the time to go into those details. What do you say to seating the contestees in each instance and letting the credentials committee of the convention finally settle these controversies."

Gov. Hadley pondered a minute. Then slapping Senator Crane on the back, he said: "You're on, senator, I'll agree to that with the distinct understanding that we do not surrender any of our rights before the credentials committee."

Senator Crane acquiesced, smilingly. Gov. Hadley's smile broadened as Senator Crane returned to the committee room to put through the agreed program. On his motion the Roosevelt delegates were seated in the First and Fifth districts, the latter including Kansas City, where the colonel won in a primary. The Taft delegations were seated in the Third, Seventh, and Fourteenth districts.

Crane Awakes to Blunder.

It was not until the Missouri Taft [illegible] let out a big roar that Senator Crane realized that he had purchased a gold brick. The vote had been taken, however, and the final breakdown of the Taft majority on the committee was of record.

"Unless I have lost my reputation as a prophet we will win the other three districts," said Gov. Hadley when he returned to the Congress hotel. "I am sure we will get an even better break before the credentials committee than we did before the national committee. You see, we had a majority of the uncontested delegates from Missouri, which, with the delegation at large and the four from the First and Fifth districts, insures us control."

Because of lack of space in the convention hall the Missouri delegation at large was cut down from eight with half a vote each to four with a full vote each. They will be Gov. Hadley, Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City, Jesse A. Tolerton of Jefferson City, and Hugh McIndoe of Joplin.

HADLEY WINS AT CRANE'S 'BARGAIN'

Majority, Given to Colonel, Will Fight Taft Men Before Credentials Committee.

Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, Taft leader on the national committee, met his master yesterday in the person of Gov. Hadley of Missouri. He proposed a truce and a compromise and found himself deserted when he awoke to the situation.

The sum total of the "agreement" between Gov. Hadley and Senator Crane gave the Roosevelt forces control of the Missouri delegation, twenty to sixteen. It also insures the confirmation of Thomas K. Niedringhaus, a Roosevelt man, as national committeeman, and Roosevelt men on all the convention committees from Missouri.

Senator Crane made the overtures after Gov. Hadley, by his forcible presentation of the Roosevelt case in the delegation at large contest, had awed the committee into seating the Hadley-Roosevelt "big four."

Senator Crane Makes Proposal.

Approaching the young "show me" executive Senator Crane suggested:

"Governor, there are five district contests yet to be decided in Missouri. Now, as I understand it, all involve a question of facts as to the majority in each county convention. We haven't the time to go into those details. What do you say to seating the contestees in each instance and letting the credentials committee of the convention finally settle these controversies."

Gov. Hadley pondered a minute. Then clapping Senator Crane on the back, he said: "You're on, senator, I'll agree to that with the distinct understanding that we do not surrender any of our rights before the credentials committee."

Senator Crane acquiesced, smilingly. Governor Hadley's smile broadened as Senator Crane returned to the committee room to put through the agreed program. On his motion the Roosevelt delegates were seated in the First and Fifth districts, the latter including Kansas City, where the colonel won in a primary. The Taft delegations were seated in the Third, Seventh, and Fourteenth districts.

Crane Awakes to Blunder.

It was not until the Missouri Taft boosters let out a big roar that Senator Crane realized that he had purchased a gold brick. The vote had been taken, however, and the first backdown of the Taft majority on the committee is of record.

"Unless I have lost my reputation as a prophet we will win the other three districts," said Gov. Hadley when he returned to the Congress hotel. "I am sure we will get an even better break before the credentials committee than we did before the national committee. You see, we had a majority of the uncontested delegates from Missouri, which, with the delegation at large and the four from the First and Fifth districts, insures us control."

Because of lack of space in the convention hall the Missouri delegation at large was cut down from eight with half a vote each to four with a full vote each. They will be Gov. Hadley, Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City, James Tolerton of Jefferson City, and Hugh Mudge of Joplin.

TAFT MEN HUNT FOR DARK HORSE?

Crane Reported Suggesting President's Strength Be Thrown to Cummins.

KENYON AIDS COLLEAGUE.

Junior Senator Says Sentiment for the Iowa Candidate Is Growing.

The Taft leaders began to look around yesterday for a dark horse, realizing that the chances of the president's renomination are not so good. Talk of a third candidate centered around Senator Cummins of Iowa.

There was a well authenticated report that Senator Crane of Massachusetts had sounded out quietly, and in his characteristic way, certain state leaders now openly aligned with Taft, suggesting that the Taft strength be delivered in bulk to the Iowa senator.

This action of the senator from Massachusetts followed hard upon the return of Senator Kenyon of Iowa from Washington. Mr. Kenyon, who made a flying trip east and a rapid journey back, came into the Cummins headquarters yesterday morning and promptly issued a statement declaring that in Washington there is rapidly growing sentiment for a third candidate and that Senator Cummins answers the description.

Cummins Talk Flows Freely.

Immediately after the breakup of the national committee session in midafternoon the Cummins talk was permitted to flow fully and freely, particularly among the national committeemen and delegates who have been playing the Taft game during the preconvention fight.

Cummins badges appeared in the Congress hotel and no effort was made apparently by the Taft management to stop the sudden accretion of Cummins sentiment.

Senator Kenyon at night was sponsor for the declaration that the prospects for the nomination of his colleague were better than they have been at any time since the campaign for delegates opened.

This statement, coupled with the failure of Senator Crane or of the Taft management to attempt to offset the Cummins boom, was held by the politicians to be deeply significant and one of the strongest indications that the props had gone from under the Taft movement and that the old guard had determined upon desperate methods to preserve themselves.

Senator Kenyon Optimistic.

Senator Kenyon, thoroughly optimistic over the situation from the Cummins standpoint, issued the following statement immediately after his return from Washington:

"I found an amazingly strong and rapidly growing sentiment in and about Washington for a third candidate," said Mr. Kenyon. "Senator Cummins is the only man suggested as having the qualifications necessary to insure the success of the Republican party. The Republican party withstood the stress and strain put upon it since its organization, in the administration of governmental affairs, and this convention should do nothing that will endanger its future or hazard a defeat at the polls in November.

"The talk we hear of two conventions, bolts, and riots is not in keeping with the dignity of the party or its orderly administration of affairs, and is obnoxious to substantially all its members.

"If the two fiercely contending factions would eliminate all personal resentment and look only to the best interests of the party, and, through it, to the best interests of the country, a third candidate would speedily be chosen."

Heney and Kenyon Confer.

Francis J. Heney of the Roosevelt headquarters held a brief but earnest conference with Senator Kenyon before dinner. Neither would discuss it. Mr. Kenyon asserted the Iowa delegates instructed for Cummins will stick to their candidate. He inferred the Cummins forces would do nothing to help prevent a deadlock in the convention. He said under no circumstances would Mr. Cummins accept the nomination for the vice presidency.

Mr. Kenyon visited the La Follette headquarters. It was not denied there that he made the call in the interest of Senator Cummins. Alfred T. Rogers, committeeman from Wisconsin, repeated that the La Follette delegates had no second choice. He was asked if Gov. McGovern will be proposed as temporary chairman.

"That has not been decided," he replied. "The La Follette delegates have tentatively arranged for a meeting at the Grand Pacific hotel for Monday night. They will complete their organization and make their plans at that time. No one can truthfully say now just what those plans will be. This is a party in which the people really rule. There is no boss of the Wisconsin or North Dakota delegations."

Regarding Vice Presidency.

"Will the nomination for the vice presidency be offered a Wisconsin man in the hope of securing the delegation from that state?"

"It is not probable," replied Mr. Rogers. "I do not believe even that would influence the delegates."

John Hannon, secretary to Senator La Follette, said he did not see how the nomination of Taft or Roosevelt could affect the progressive movement.

"Neither Taft nor Roosevelt advocates the La Follette principles," said Mr. Hannon. "It is not probable that either candidate would with any sincerity attempt to see them carried out. It is amusing to think what could be done with a progressive platform."

Senator Borah held prominent mention among the gossipers as a probable dark horse for the presidential nomination.

SAYS COLONEL WILL GET IDAHO

A. R. Cruzen, Head of Delegation, Declares Two Taft Men Will Vote for Roosevelt.

"Idaho's eight delegates will be solidly for Col. Roosevelt," was the statement of A. R. Cruzen of Boise, who is to be the chairman of the Idaho delegation when the convention assembles. The significance of the statement lies in the fact that so far as the Idaho delegation is concerned, in all of the tilting of delegate strength Taft and Roosevelt have been variously estimated.

The latest returns from the state were that the delegation would stand 6 for Roosevelt and 2 for Taft. Mr. Cruzen's statement last night was that there had been a conference yesterday afternoon of the Idaho men and that it had been determined to throw the solid vote to Roosevelt.

The news was disappointing to the Taft managers. In their own tables they have claimed that the Idaho men would be split equally, 4 and 4. Mr. Cruzen said that Senator Borah's influence had been felt and that their determination had been reached that the entire vote of the state must go to Col. Roosevelt.

FINDS CONVENTION RUSH PLOT

Doorkeeper Tells Plan to Let In Nonticket Holders.

COL. THAYER GETS BUSY.

Hires Sleuths to Watch Doors and Will Punch Pasteboards.

A talkative doorkeeper yesterday unwittingly disclosed a plot to smuggle thousands of nonticket holders into the Republican national convention. His exposure enabled Col. Thayer, assistant sergeant at arms, to draw the lines so closely that not more than 15,000 people will be crowded into the Coliseum at one time. Last year there were over 30,000 present when the building and fire departments called a halt.

The doorkeeper spoke in anger to his political sponsor because a particular friend failed to secure a similar appointment.

"I've got the job now and you can go to thunder," the doorkeeper was heard to say. "I won't slip in a single person on the list you handed me."

"Indeed, I am glad to hear that," was Col. Thayer's response when the story was told him. "That was the only break in the airtight plans we made, and I have devised a way to stop smuggling."

Smuggling has always been the hardest problem that convention managers had to contend with. A common scheme was for persons already in to gather up tickets, get a pass out check, and distribute these tickets to others waiting.

Tickets Will Be Punched.

Col. Taylor has attached coupons to this year's tickets and arranged to punch each ticket as it is presented, thus preventing the use of the same ticket a second time at the meeting in session. He has also installed ticket boxes, secured with lock. He was sure that the character of men selected to watch the doors this year was above reproach. But when he heard that politicians were actually planning the crooked work he gave a hurry up order to a private detective agency to have representatives at each of the eleven doors in the building. The instant a doorkeeper or a policeman is discovered favoring politicians in the manner indicated the offender will be withdrawn from the service.

Architect Arthur G. Brown and Charles R. Hall, general superintendent of the Coliseum, expect to have the last chair in its place by 9 o'clock tonight. The arrangements are considerably more elaborate this year, and several innovations are installed.

Divide Hall Into Sections.

The big hall has been divided into ten sections, divided off with a system of railings and partitions so that the occupants of one section cannot get into another, and are compelled to use the entrance and exit specially provided therefor. At every entrance are railings and bars to prevent the crowds from rushing the doors. The doors will be braced open. The crowds will be kept in single file and the doorkeeper will always have control over the situation.

LABOR FAVORS ROOSEVELT, DECLARES WEST VIRGINIAN.

Delegate Says He Has Word of Leaders That Toilers Will Vote for the Colonel for President.

"Organized labor is behind the candidacy of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and stands almost as a unit for his nomination at the Chicago national convention."

This is the gist of a statement made yesterday at the Roosevelt headquarters by James H. Huling, former member of congress, who is here with the West Virginia delegation.

"My acquaintance with the labor leaders throughout the country has amply demonstrated to me the position of organized labor in the contest between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt," declared Huling. "These leaders of the organized labor movement have repeatedly told me they favor the nomination of Roosevelt and will heartily support him in the election.

"It will be remembered that the leaders in the labor world vigorously opposed President Taft for election four years ago, and it is generally believed they would have encompassed his defeat but for the popularity of the Roosevelt administration.

"Throughout West Virginia the labor element, and we employ 75,000 men in our coal mines, are enlisted in the Roosevelt movement. It was largely through their work that West Virginia was enabled to give a solid delegation to Roosevelt, the only state in the union which sent to Chicago a solid Roosevelt delegation without the aid of the direct primary.

"Unless Roosevelt is nominated at Chicago the miners of West Virginia will suffer a disappointment from which they will not recover before the general election."

MAKES NEW BRIBE CHARGES

Dixon Asserts Two Committeemen Were Tempted by Taftites

TO HOLD "ROLLER" IN LINE.

U. S. Job Offered to Stand by "Kill 'Em Quick" Program.

Senator Dixon, in command of the Roosevelt campaign, went a step further yesterday speaking of the allegations of attempted bribery in the effort of the anti-Roosevelt forces to control the national committee and the national convention.

The senator did not give names but he said publicly that two members of the national committee, cogs in the machine, had been approached in the effort to line them up for the relentless program for the steam roller as it had been arranged before the settlement of the Missouri cases.

"One of these committeemen was offered a substantial federal appointment if he would agree to stand for the "kill 'em all" plan as was originally formulated as the saving grace for the old guard," said Mr. Dixon. "I told him he never would be confirmed by the United States senate if he accepted the proposition."

Developments May Follow Attempt.

The second case Mr. Dixon did not detail, but it is understood that developments of the utmost importance may follow as a result of propositions made and refused.

Absolute silence was the policy of the day at the Taft headquarters. No statement of any kind was issued by the publicity bureau and Congressman McKinley had no declaration to make other than to assert the circumstances are unchanged by anything which has happened and that President Taft will be renominated on the first ballot.

"No use in answering charges which begin nowhere, end nowhere, and cannot be traced to any responsible source," was the word from within the Taft headquarters.

Senator Dixon had declined to make any specific bribery charges, preferring, as he explained, to await an amplification of the original allegation from Mr. McKinley that "money was sent into a southern state through two men from New York," the inference being permitted to be drawn from the formal statement issued on Wednesday that the men and the money went into the south to get delegates for Roosevelt.

Cross Fire Stirs Up Ill Feeling.

The cross fire of charges of corruption stirred up the antagonism between the Taft and Roosevelt managers and developed the ill feeling to a bitterness which brings about a situation such as the oldest inhabitant around national conventions does not recall in the past.

The charges and recriminations broke out in several spots at night where partisans of the two sides happened to meet on common ground.

HUGHES BALKS AT CANDIDACY.

Supreme Court Justice Says He Will Not Permit the Use of His Name.

New York, June 13.—Justice Charles E. Hughes of the United States Supreme court, with his family, passed through this city today on his way to the Adirondacks, where he will pass the summer. He has taken a camp at Lake Placid for the season. To friends who spoke to him of the reports from Chicago in which he has been mentioned as a possible compromise nominee for the presidency, he said he is out of politics and would not permit the use of his name under any circumstances.

BOOMS BORAH FOR CHAIRMAN

Hadley Urges Dixon to Indorse the Idaho Senator.

AID OF THE PROGRESSIVES.

Plan Believed Favorable to La Follette and Cummins.

United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was picked yesterday as the "best bet" for temporary chairman of the Republican national convention if the progressive forces control on the temporary roll.

Impetus was given the Borah boom when Gov. Hadley of Missouri, reported as the tentative choice of Col. Roosevelt, urged Senator Dixon, the colonel's campaign manager to indorse Borah to make the fight against Senator Root.

Both Col. Roosevelt and Senator Dixon are said to look with favor on Gov. Hadley's suggestion and before the end of the week the Idaho senator is expected to be put forward as the candidate.

Liked by La Follette and Cummins.

As between Senator Borah and Senator Root, it is predicted by politicians, the Cummins and La Follette delegates will support Borah. He is on friendly terms with both the Wisconsin and Iowa senators and has been allied with them in all fights for progressive legislation.

Definite announcement of Senator Borah as a candidate, progressives leaders believe, will result in the withdrawal of Gov. McGovern of Wisconsin from the presiding officer contest. While there is no objection to Gov. Hadley, he and the other leaders in the Roosevelt camp foresaw the possibility of a three cornered tussle that might result in Senator Root's selection if McGovern remained a contender.

A keynote speech by Senator Borah, the progressives assert, will be as pleasing to La Follette and Cummins as to Col. Roosevelt. A speech by Gov. Hadley would be equally acceptable, but the close bond of sympathy between the three progressive senators adds to the Borah strength, it is thought.

As Reward for Fight.

Another argument advanced in Senator Borah's favor is that he is entitled to reward for his consistent fight in behalf of the colonel in the contest hearings.

With the Roosevelt, La Follette, and Cummins followers behind Senator Borah his election by the convention would be practically assured, the statisticians predict.

G. O. P. MEN LOSE CARGO OF WINE

Shipment of 250 Bottles Billed to Chicago Delegates Stolen from a Freight Car in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., June 13.—[Special.]—A cargo of champagne arrived in Detroit two days ago, in bond, from Montreal, addressed to certain men in attendance at the Republican national convention, Chicago.

Before the champagne car had been on the side track an hour an automobile with two men was driven up alongside, the bonded seal was nipped and a short time later the automobile was driven away with a cargo of 250 bottles of the distilled enthusiasm.

The story came out when the United States customs officials were requested to place a new seal on the car and declined to do so because the contents failed to agree with the customs manifest.

MOORE HERE TO AID COLONEL

Editor Who Married Lillian Russell Will Sit on Committee.

LEAVES BRIDE IN THE EAST.

Says Progressives' Success Means the Emancipation of Pennsylvania.

If matters work themselves out as they have been planned the Republican national committee is to be graced today by a bridegroom. He is Alexander P. Moore, editor of the Pittsburgh Leader, who on Wednesday married Lillian Russell in the Hotel Schenly in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Moore arrived in Chicago yesterday morning, having left his bride the day after the marriage. He is a red hot Roosevelt man, and, although expressing himself as deeply in love with Miss Russell, wants to miss none of the excitement of the convention.

In order to be in the thick of the fray Mr. Moore spent much of yesterday arranging to obtain a proxy to sit with the national committee. He said last night that he had been successful, but declined to state whose proxy he held.

Sees Pennsylvania Emancipated.

"The success of the progressive campaign means the emancipation of Pennsylvania," said Mr. Moore. "Unless Roosevelt or some other strong progressive is nominated the state will go Democratic. That is a strong statement to make, but I know the situation."

"Where is your wife?" inquired a reporter.

"My what?" asked Moore. Then he suddenly recalled that he had been married.

"That's funny," he said, and laughed. "When a man has been living alone for a while it gives him a shock to speak to him about his wife. Mrs. Moore is still in New York. She is winding up some business there, and incidentally is making plans for our new home. I expect to see her in Chicago in a few days."

Both of 'Em Suffragists.

"Is Miss Rus—or Mrs. Moore—a suffragist?"

"Sure," replied Moore. "She's just like I am. She stands for everything that's progressive."

"I suppose you feel pretty happy over your marriage?"

"You bet," responded the bridegroom. "Why, if I lost my paper tomorrow I wouldn't care. I've got a wife who can go out any day and make $5,000 a week."

WIRE IN "THEFT" PROTESTS

Republicans All Over Country Resent Committee's Acts.

NAGEL MADE ONE TARGET.

Missourians Brand the Secretary a "Political Dodger."

Protests against the steam roller tactics of the national committee poured into Chicago in an incessant stream over the telegraph wires from Republicans all over the United States yesterday. Many of the indignant messages were signed by 100 and 200 voters. Others were from massmeetings and individuals.

Criticism of Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, for hurrying out of Chicago when called upon to sit with the committee and pass upon the Missouri contests were particularly bitter.

A massmeeting of citizens in Chillicothe and Livingston counties, Mo., adopted resolutions terming Mr. Nagel "a political dodger without the moral courage to stand up for the rights of the state he represents in the national committee."

Resolutions Condemn Nagel.

The resolutions follow:

"Resolved, that we deplore the action taken by our national Republican committeeman, Charles Nagel, that we class him as the politician dodger, and without the moral courage to stand up for the rights of the majority of the Republicans of the great state of Missouri as well as the people of the other states, and that we ask him to resign or be represented by proxy by some Republican having the moral courage to keep within the bounds of decency and honesty.

"We condemn him for being represented by Richard Bartholdt as his proxy to help the federal officials of the president's administration to unjustly deprive a large majority of the Republicans of this state and country of what is justly due them, and we as Republicans believe any man qualified has the right to contest for any office of this nation, and it should be an open, honest contest.

Serve Notice on Taftites.

"We serve notice now on President Taft and his followers that they may secure delegates through dishonesty, but the people will decide later regarding this dishonest contest or sham contest now in session at Chicago stealing away the rights of the majority.

"We condemn the action of the members of the national committee in their acts of theft and remind President Taft that we shall hold him responsible for receiving stolen property should he permit his nomination by those fraudulently selected delegates. We commend the efforts of Senator Dixon and his able assistants in their efforts to prevent this wholesale robbery."

Vandalia, Ill., Republicans Act.

Sixty Vandalia, Ill., Republicans forwarded the following open letter to the Illinois delegates:

"Gentlemen, the primary held on April 9 was for the voters to register their preference for president, and Theodore Roosevelt was the choice by an overwhelming majority. As the selected representatives of the people we expect an accounting of your stewardship in accordance with their wishes and demand they be carried out, using all honorable means toward securing the nomination of Col. Roosevelt.

"We wish also to sound this warning to the candidates for state offices among you, that we will support no man for any office who attempts to subvert the will of the people."

Indianians Receive Protests.

Many letters have been received by the Indiana delegates to the national convention protesting against the methods used by the national committee in settling contests.

William Holton Dye, a leader of the Indiana Roosevelt supporters, said his state has five districts in favor of Roosevelt and the people do not intend to permit their representatives from those districts to be deprived of their rights.

Austin W. Stutts of Fort Wayne, a candidate for presidential elector, said that he would vote to the finish with the Roosevelt forces.

"We are against a bolt," said Mr. Stutts, "but we will stand by Col. Roosevelt at all hazards."

Open Telegram from Canton, O.

An open telegram from Canton, O., to Vorys, Penrose, Crane, and others, signed by William A. Ernst and 189 other Canton Republicans, follows:

"It may be pleasant pastime to steam roll delegates, but how different it will be to roll over the voters next November. You lose if you win, for you can't get away with such a deal at an election. The people in the Republican states where our electoral vote comes from will not stand for it. If you get your just dues the southern delegates will repudiate you in the convention and save the day. If they don't you'll wear the steam roller out.

"We hope it wasn't imposing on your extreme generosity and immaculate fairness to accept one lonely delegate from Kentucky."

Tulsa, Okla., Republicans Indignant.

At Tulsa, Okla., yesterday 800 Roosevelt Republicans, led by Thomas A. Latta, Frank Perry, and other men prominent in Oklahoma politics, signed a memorial denouncing what they term "a deliberate steal of Roosevelt delegates by the Republican national committee." The leaders declared they would follow it with an appeal to Col. Roosevelt to bolt the convention if he is not nominated on the first ballot.

Some of the Tulsaites urged that W. J. Bryan and Roosevelt form a third party. The fathers of this idea called a massmeeting for this afternoon when they will go on record.

ROOSEVELT FOR SOUTHERN PLANK

Would Bind Party to Development of the Section and Its Waterways.

PANAMA SHOWS THE WAY.

Reclamation of Great Swamp Lands Another Point to Be Insisted Upon.

The development of the south and its waterways and the reclamation of southern swamp lands are two things for which Col. Roosevelt and the Roosevelt forces will fight in the Republican national convention.

The plan is to force the adoption of a plank in the platform which will bind the party to efforts along these lines. And if nominated and elected it is assured Col. Roosevelt will throw the same energy into carrying out this policy that he displayed in his advocacy of reclamation and irrigation of the arid lands of the west.

It is the belief of the colonel that with the opening of the Panama canal the south finally will come into its own. The Mississippi river, its branches, and tributary streams are not only the great arteries of the continent but they are integral parts of a gigantic system of transportation of which the Panama canal will be the central link.

Would Open Arteries to Traffic.

Steps should be taken at once, he believes, to repair the neglect of years and see that these great arteries are opened to traffic. Until this is done the interior of the United States cannot participate with the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards in the benefits which will accrue from the opening of the canal.

The government for years has been making a study of this problem. Its engineers have collected data of great value, and Col. Roosevelt believes the time is ripe for utilizing this information and developing a comprehensive plan designed to secure for these streams their maximum usefulness for navigation, irrigation, and water power, and also for the prevention of floods.

This latter item alone would mean a saving of hundreds of millions to the south and would stop wastage which is nothing less than criminal. The development of water power would be of enormous advantage and would revolutionize the industrial standing of many states.

Reclamation of Swamp Lands.

The reclamation of swamp lands is another big feature of the plan, and as the southern states contain a large proportion of the 74,541,700 acres of swamp in the country, the south would be the great immediate beneficiary. The government engineers estimated it would cost on an average of $40 an acre to reclaim and irrigate western lands, a total of $116,000,000 to reclaim 3,000,000 acres. So far 700,000 acres have been reclaimed at a cost of $80,000,000.

The engineers put the cost of reclamation of swamp lands at $8 an acre. These lands when reclaimed would not only furnish homes for millions of people but their reclamation would remove a constant source of expense and disease.

The states having the greatest area of swamp lands are:

	Acres.
Florida	18,500,000
Louisiana	9,800,000
Mississippi	6,173,000
Arkansas	5,760,000
Minnesota	4,500,000
Michigan	4,400,000
Illinois	2,688,000
Wisconsin	2,500,000

Panama Canal an Object Lesson.

The whole problem is gigantic, but the lessons learned in the construction of the Panama canal will make it easy, and it is Col. Roosevelt's idea that when the canal is completed the men who build the Panama canal should tackle the problem of reclamation in the south in cooperation with the various states and at the lowest cost to the people.

START HOSPITAL AT COLISEUM.

Establish Annunciator and Red Light System for First Aid to Injured.

A modern hospital has been established at the Coliseum annex. Besides an annunciator to show from what section of the building a distress call is sent, there will be a red signal light above the chairman's table on the platform to inform the physicians there is work to do in the hospital. Dr. George C. Hunt, chief of the city's ambulance service, has recruited a staff of competent physicians and graduate nurses to operate the hospital and attend the needs of the audience.

College President Not to Attend.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 13.—Former President Andrew D. White of Cornell university and formerly American ambassador to Germany, will not represent the Thirty-seventh congressional district at the Republican national convention. He feels he will not be able to stand the trip, and has asked his alternate, Elmer Sherwood of Odessa, to go in his place.

SUFFRAGETS PICK COL. ROOSEVELT

Chicago "Equal Rights" Organizations Send Telegram of Support to Oyster Bay.

SEE CAUSE NOW WON.

Backing of "Next President" Foretells Victory, Leaders Assert.

Woman suffragists of Chicago yesterday picked Theodore Roosevelt as their candidate for the presidency.

Women representing all active suffrage organizations in Chicago united in sending a telegram congratulating the colonel upon his decision to put a suffrage plank in his platform and announcing their intention of supporting his candidacy for the Republican nomination.

As a means of presenting their views to the national delegates the women planned a meeting at the Illinois theater for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Telegram to Roosevelt.

The telegram follows:

Theodore Roosevelt, Oyster Bay, L. I., New York: Congratulations on your promised suffrage plank. Planning big Sunday suffrage love feast for benefit of national delegates. Will you send us message?

The message was signed by Antoinette Funk, vice president Woman Suffrage party in Illinois; Abba Bass, vice president Suffrage Federation Cook County Clubs; Marion H. Drake, president Cook County Suffrage alliance; Belle Squire, president No Vote-No Tax league; Catharine Waugh McCulloch, vice president Illinois Equal Suffrage association; Mrs. George S. Welles, Chicago Political Equality league; Margaret Day Blake, president North Side Suffrage association; Mary M. Bartelme, chairman Woman Lawyers' Suffrage league.

Women who gathered in Mrs. Funk's office in the Unity building to write the telegram and arrange the Sunday meeting said Col. Roosevelt's announcement was the greatest advance their cause had made in the United States.

Fight Now Almost Over.

"It looks as if we were going to get the vote and get it quick," Mrs. Funk said. "When a man who has been president of the United States and is likely to be president again decides to put a suffrage plank in his platform we feel the fight is about over.

"Men can't take the cause of woman suffrage lightly any more. Not after Theodore Roosevelt has declared for it.

"It is the first time a man in the United States of Col. Roosevelt's power and influence has shown he really understands democracy, that he appreciates what justice means. Of course, he has never been against suffrage. The point is that he is really for it, that he has thought it worth while to put it in his platform. What better thing could happen to the suffrage cause? We are for him."

D. A. R. Entertains Women Visitors.

Four hundred members of the D. A. R. and four wives of delegates to the Republican national convention attended a reception at the Art institute yesterday afternoon. The affair was in honor of the wives of visiting politicians.

As an appropriate bit of costuming Mrs. Frank McMullin, the state regent, wore a French gown of red, white, and blue. It was composed of dark blue soft material and was decorated in red chiffon over white satin. The red was embroidered in blue and the blue in red. With it she wore a great black hat lined with white and trimmed with a single white aigret. Her lorgnettes hung from a diamond chain. Most of the other members were elaborately gowned.

Wives of delegates present were Mrs. William E. Borah, Mrs. William B. McKinley, Mrs. Joseph M. Dixon, and Mrs. Thomas Emerson. They wore simple tailored dresses.

The three rooms at the north end of the art institute were splendid in flags and flowers. An orchestra played patriotic airs. The receiving line was composed of Mrs. I. C. Cope, vice chairman of the social committee; Mrs. McMullin, Mrs. Luther Derwent, Mrs. Willard T. Block, Mrs. Frank R. Fuller, Miss Helen Wayne, Mrs. William Warner Abbott, Mrs. Noble C. Shurman, Mrs. Frederick K. Howes, and Miss Brown of Rockford.

Women Divided on Suffrage.

Several members of the feminine contingent of the convention occupied themselves in other ways—playing with the children for the most part and telling how they felt about suffrage. Mrs. Ella S. Webb from Hawaii favors "equal rights."

Mrs. Charles D. Hilles, wife of the secretary to President Taft, told a story to illustrate her views.

"It was at a dinner party in Washington," laughed this slip of a woman, who looks like a girl and has been married for sixteen years. "The man on my left asked me whether I was a suffragist and I was just prepared to say I didn't give a whoop about it, when I glanced at the woman at the other side of him. It was Miss Shaw—the national president, you know. I stuck to my sentiments, but phrased them differently. She said if I ever thought about the matter, I should feel differently. But I never have thought about it and don't care to. I am more interested in other things."

The Roosevelt Orators in Action.

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

ENTERING Col. Roosevelt's ornamental headquarters, Florentine room, parlor floor, Congress hotel, yesterday at 2:45 in the afternoon one observes Gov. Glasscock of West Virginia coining a paraphrase.

Gov. Glasscock, one of the immortal seven who summoned Cincinnatus from his plow, is a bent individual, with a shrewd, virile face, an unbecoming Panama, and a half burnt cigar—looking a bit disinterested, as if he were engaged in the proceedings merely to be obliging. He might be said to have a blasé aspect were he not from West Virginia. He talks deprecatingly of his state, which he says is small in area and population, but immense in Rooseveltian sentiment.

Some 200 or 300 delegates and pseudo delegates listen to him mildly as if they had heard it all before. He pauses for a moment, looking at his audience. Then says he:

"The Glasscocks have always been Republicans. Perhaps they have wavered in church and other serious matters, but their Republicanism has been regular. However, I wish to leave a legacy to my boy. I want him to be able to say after I am dead and gone that his dad in a pinch was Right rather than Regular!"

To be right rather than regular in the circumstances, as is explained elsewhere in a report of Gov. Glasscock's sentiments, signifies that Gov. Glasscock will support a bolt of the West Virginia electors if the president is renominated. There is applause in the Florentine room and the governor limps out of the crowd, takes an elevator, and resumes his picturesque promenade in the Congress' "Small Change" alley. After his exit everybody repeats: "I'd rather be Right than be Regular." Gov. Glasscock does not inspire any one to render the Wheeling Marseillaise "Dixie."

William Flinn of Pennsylvania, iron gray and grim, is presiding at this first of a series of experience meetings. He inserts between the orations a little practical leaven and calls upon the delegates from states less certainly Republican than Pennsylvania to remember that they will be the sufferers when Mr. Taft's candidacy avalanches them in November.

He is proceeding thus when some one on the outskirts says "Stubbs!" The fiery Kansan is pushed through the crowd into the arena, doffs his straw hat, and begins to orate.

Gov. Stubbs is grand-paternal in appearance wearing jovial clothes and a prosperous smile. He speaks well of the Republican party up to date, but suggests doubt about the morality of some of the present leaders.

"They'll steal anything from coal lands to a hoss," he asserts, and gives his word and that of the commonwealth of Kansas that "McKinley is licked."

Pursuing Mr. Glasscock in the path of paraphrase, Gov. Stubbs raises his voice.

"They say that Teddy is an anarchist, a drunkard, and a madman," he cries. "Would to God we had more of them in this republic."

Whereupon many persons cheer and throw their hats into the air. Encouraged by the demonstration, Gov. Stubbs returns.

"In the next six days, boys," he shouts, "we want to raise ——" and he stops as if he wished to say hell, but peters out into a mild Kansan "dickens," at which there is no enthusiasm.

Ex-Gov. Fort of New Jersey, a suave person with an ingratiating smile, utters a few pleasant platitudes and then Senator Dixon is to be observed in the offing. Senator Dixon, besides being the chief Roosevelt chieftain, is also the man who introduced the word "debacle" into American politics, and so he is doubly of interest. He looks like Holbrook Blinn, who is an actor, and though he mentions "moral forces" and other old stuff he gets the crowd with his chill, incisive, monosyllabic diction. His garb is immaculate.

"They are thieves and safeblowers," he says calmly, "yet they quail after being watched for a week by the American public."

Senator Dixon gives his word that Roosevelt will be nominated.

"If he is not," he asserts, "you may take me and others, tie our hands behind our backs, and do with us as you please."

Lieut. Jack Greenway of the Rough Riders, who has been leaning unmoved heretofore against the rear wall, stirs himself as Senator Dixon exits.

"I like him," says he; "he is cool."

By this time the going is good and those present want more. "Where's Heney?" is an inquiry, and in an instant Heney is there, fresh from the session of the national committee and looking like the cat that ate the canary. A quizzical person, Heney; somewhat grizzled and with an obvious passion for battle. He gives the gathering the glad news of the day. "They couldn't do anything else," says he; "the evidence in the Missouri case was so overwhelming that they couldn't do anything else"—and he adds, after the pause of the true comedian—"especially after what I said to them." "Has the committee improved any in your estimation?" asks Senator Flinn. "Well," says Mr. Heney, "the results are better, but I see no genuine repentance."

R. R. McCormick of the Boosters' committee is summoned, and in his speech considerable modest pride in the state of Illinois is manifested. A noticeable thing about these Roosevelt leaders is that they are vigorous and visceral, and when they talk their voices carry conviction. Mr. McCormick's suggestion that Chicago is a Roosevelt town and that the man in the street is the friend of the Roosevelt partisan, meets with much approval from the visiting delegates. Col. Carrington of Maryland, well groomed and eastern, tells of his revolutionary impressions—impressions that sound unique from one so conservative as to aspect. A youthful Oregonian, full of Portland "pep," causes Senator Flinn to gaze at him sadly as he delivers a diatribe against political bosses. "I was a boss for twenty-five years," says the senator gamely, "but never again."

Then there is William Allen White, the good writer from Kansas, who announces a sane scheme for biting a hole in the steam roller with sixteen indignant national committeemen representing 250 electoral votes, ready to give the word to bolt. Mr. Jessup, a bronzed plainsman from South Dakota; Mr. Hale, a soft, spectacled logician from Massachusetts; Bruce Dennis, who eats embers in Oregon—all of them speak with feeling about the people's choice; and the experience meeting is closed with some vigorous eloquence from Henry Allen of Kansas, who is dragged in by Gov. Stubbs and announced as the real hero of the controversy in that part of the nation. "You may have to throw some of them out of the Coliseum windows," counsels Mr. Allen, "but you will never have to bolt."

A picturesque fragment in the afternoon's oratory is Alex Moore, proprietor of the Pittsburgh Leader and a pre-historic Roosevelt man, fresh from the chantress smiles of his bride, Miss Lillian Russell, whom he engaged in matrimony the day before yesterday. "I abandon a honeymoon," says Mr. Moore, "to come to these proceedings," adding ungallantly, "and they are worth it." Mr. Moore's appearance baffles pessimism concerning the finicky Miss Russell and marriage, since he is brilliant and personable. He also submits a phrase when he calls the national committee "the suicide club." "Mr. Taft," he remarks, "carries too much weight, both physically and mentally, to be a progressive." Mr. Moore encounters Gov. Stubbs as he makes his way through the crowd. "Here's my next candidate for president," he cries as he puts his arms arounds the Kansan, and there is great applause.

So what may be termed a pleasant time was had yesterday afternoon at the Roosevelt reception rooms situate in the Florentine apartments, parlor floor of the Congress. The aspect of these quarters is anything but Florentine, being ornamented with chromatic illustrations of Col. Roosevelt in various attitudes of war and peace, with the trenchant cartoons of Mr. McCutcheon and with numerous vicious onslaughts in big type upon the culpable Mr. Barnes of New York and other politicians regarded as insanitary by the colonel's guardsmen.

However, they are a comfortable rallying place for the visiting and local patriots who sit about in the easy chairs perusing the pamphlets and feuilletons of the Roosevelt propaganda, smoking Mr. Revell's monogrammed cigars, and discoursing on the sinful proceedings of the national committee at the Coliseum.

DEMOCRAT CHIEFS REACH BALTIMORE

Chairman Mack, Roger Sullivan, and Urey Woodson Arrive in Convention City.

CHAIRMAN YET IN DOUBT.

Advance Guard of Contesting Cook County Men Will Start for Maryland Tomorrow.

Baltimore, Md., June 13.—National Chairman Mack came to Baltimore tonight, officially opened the headquarters of the Democratic national committee and inspected the convention hall.

The national chairman was accompanied from New York by National Committeeman Roger Sullivan of Illinois, Secretary Urey Woodson of Kentucky, and Assistant Treasurer J. P. Doolin. The party was joined here by National Committeeman Goltra of Missouri, who spent the day in Washington conferring with Speaker Champ Clark.

Chairman Mack and his fellow national committeemen were delighted with the convention hall.

Temporary Chairman in Doubt.

Mr. Mack said the question of the temporary chairmanship was still unsettled, saying:

"We have talked about former Judge Parker, Senator O'Gorman, Ollie James, Senator Kern, and others for temporary presiding officer and that is as far as we have got. As for the permanent chairmanship that is a matter for the committee on permanent organization."

"What about the presidential candidates?" was asked.

"I can say this, that there will be no serious conferences on the presidential nominations until after the Chicago convention," replied Mr. Mack, who added that the principal planks in the Baltimore platform would be the tariff, the high cost of living, and the trusts.

Mr. Mack said regarding the reports that he would retire from the chairmanship of the national committee:

"It is foolish to talk of the chairmanship at this time. The new chairman is named by the candidate and until the candidate is nominated and gets his feet on the ground no one can say who will be chairman."

Cardinal Gibbons will deliver the invocation at the opening of the convention.

CHICAGOANS OFF TOMORROW.

The advance guards of the contesting Cook county Democracy delegations will leave for Baltimore tomorrow ready to take up the contests before the Democratic national committee.

Corporation Counsel Sexton and Maj. E. B. Tolman are to represent the Hearst-Harrison forces at Baltimore. With them will go a dozen or more Harrison men. John McGillen and the Sullivan delegates are expected to leave on Sunday.

While practically all the local political interest is centered in the Republican gathering, the Democrats are completing their plans for a large turnout at Baltimore. The Iroquois club has filled two cars of its special train with reservations and it is expected that another car will be needed by the club members.

The club expects to arrive in Baltimore two days before the convention starts. The County Democracy also has chartered a special train and Robert E. Burke announced yesterday that 400 would make the trip.

Gates' Nephew Gets $250,000.

Aurora, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—Henry Rockwell Baker of St. Charles, 20 years old, nephew of the widow of John W. Gates, will get $250,000 left him by the financier on condition that he finish a college course, whether he ever goes to school again or not. Mrs. Gates and her son, Charles, agreed to settle the sum upon young Baker in St. Charles today. Young Baker is now speeding westward with his parent, Mrs. John W. Gates, Charles, and Mrs. Charles Gates, his fiancée, Miss Nina Carlson, and nurses and doctors, for Colorado Springs. He went on orders of doctors for a change of climate.

SNAPSHOTS of the CONVENTION.

RAIN in intermittent torrents interfered with an open air pow-wowing yesterday. To escape the lobby crowds and "spies of the enemy" many of the committeemen, delegates, and leaders have been holding their secret conferences in Grant park on benches. But not yesterday.

Because of the downpour both the Coliseum Annex and the Congress hotel lobby were more crowded than usual through the afternoon. Among the rainy day, under-tone discussions was one between Col. New and William Flinn, Taft and Roosevelt chiefs—an odd pair to be together talking in hushed voices.

So much curiosity was aroused by the sight of the two hostile generals inclose communion that one eager spectator dared to listen. And of the low toned words that were caught these were coherent:

"You can't beat a good horse." . . . "Well, my car is always on the job. Just wind it up and——" . . . "You betcha! The finest kid in the world. Tow-headed little duffer" . . . "They're good eating all right. I don't like 'em overripe, though." . . . "Is that so? How long has he been dead? Well, well, well!"

At this juncture the eavesdropper grazed against Col. New's coat. He whirled around.

"I beg your pardon, but I should like to inquire when the contests will be finished," stammered the listener.

"In just a minute," said Col. New frowning.

The curious one "blew."

Cummins' Brother Busy.

B. F. Cummins of Chicago is a daily visitor at the Congress lobby. He is a brother of the Iowa senator and presidential dark horse possibility, and is a manufacturer of perforating machines.

"My perforating machines are not working on the senator's boom, however," he said yesterday.

Bivouacin Florentine Room.

The Roosevelt forces bivouacked in the Florentine room early yesterday. The big Congress ballroom can more adequately handle the crowds than the suite of rooms vacated. Hung on the walls are a series of McCutcheon cartoons and a big painting by Vanness showing Col. Roosevelt in hunting togs standing over a slain lion.

Missourians in Grief.

Missouri day at the Coliseum Annex caused sorriest distress in the Taft phalanx from the "houn' dawg" state.

First, there was C. F. Mead from Kansas City, who wrung his beard most lugubriously. What made it hard for him was the fact that his nomination as delegate by an illegal convention was his first venture in politics. He had neither voted before nor been registered at the primaries.

"I never liked politics—didn't understand what politics meant," Mr. Mead recounted. "I always skipped the political news. Then along comes a friend and says a great injustice was being done the country by the Missouri convention that instructed for Roosevelt.

"So I went with him one night to the Coates house in Kansas City. They all made speeches for Taft. So I did, too. Then I was elected delegate from the Fifth district."

"Bossy" Davisson on Hand.

One sorrowful Missourl "mysterious stranger" was Sam Davisson, who is called "Bossy" by his friends (when he isn't around), because he was a milkman up to two years ago. "Bossy" was elected to the state senate then, and, while he was making law, he thumbed through Blackstone and Chitty and became a lawyer himself before he left the legislature. He still has a few choice Jerseys at home from which he gets milk for home consumption only—"excepting the little that he sells to neighbors."

Harry Train, also from Kansas City, lost two suits of clothes in wagers because he failed to hold his seat.

"But I'm not so sorry," Mr. Train said. "I'm going to take the first train home and play with a brand new grandbaby that just came to my daughter's house. And also I'm not so sorry, because Gov. Hadley certainly made a fine talk before the committee—was a gentleman throughout. So I don't feel so bad if he did blackball me."

Senator Crane "Interviewed."

Senator Crane—he of the pallbearer's visage—alarmed his confreres at the Coliseum in the afternoon by consenting to pose for a sketch artist for THE TRIBUNE. But he insisted on the sitting being in a private room.

While the artist sketched a hard working reporter who had overcome the senator's scruples tried to engage him in profitable conversation as follows:

Q.—Haven't a good funny story on tap, eh, senator?

A.—None. Isn't he about finished?

Q.—Nothing startling, you know. Just a good yarn applicable to the convention?

A.—No. What's he doing, drawing plans for a new postoffice?

Q.—Just a minute, senator, please. Hasn't anything amusing happened to you since you came to Chicago?

A.—(Low, in the key of G)—Nothing amusing ever happens to me. I've got to go.

Q.—Aw, just a minute. Haven't you lost the key to your room or fallen down the steps or swallowed a fish bone or something?

A.—Say, I didn't come in here for an oil painting or to have my anatomy delineated.

Artist and reporter—Thanks, senator. We have it now.

(Business of the senator hesitating whether to ask to see the sketch and then walking softly away.)

LORIMER RETURNS TO CITY; BUT HE WILL NOT RESIGN.

Reports That the Senator Is Ready to Quit Fight for "Vindication" Are Not Confirmed.

Senator Lorimer has returned to Chicago from Washington, intending to spend at home the interim before resumption of the senate debate on his case. The consideration of the case, interrupted after Senator Kern's speech by the interest in the national convention, is to be resumed about July 1. The vote is set for July 6.

Reports current among politicians last night that Senator Lorimer had come home to prepare his resignation for the governor were not confirmed. It is understood that the senator has no present intention of resigning.

The gossip that had no substantiation included the story that the senator has abandoned his fight for vindication and is preparing to "tell on" everybody else who ranks among the important Illinois politicians.

Of Course You Know All about COLORADO

If you have been there before, you need no persuading to go again. Hundreds of thousands of people are taking their vacations there this year. Your memory holds no other place where the mountains are so green. In no other land do the white clouds float so lazily in the clear blue sky. Not even in books is Romance half so fair. Every man or woman who has a touch of poetry in his or her veins desires to go. And that is why the cities and the level country of the Middle West pour out their myriads of people into these glorious mountains every year. Of course you, too, are going to Colorado, if you possibly can. The only question is of the best way to go.

There are five routes to Colorado, but the route that most people travel and all people recommend, is

Union Pacific
The Hundred-Million-Dollar Road of Luxury

Not to have taken these Westward Palace Trains is to have missed one of the great luxuries of railroad travel.

Imagine walking into one of the wealthiest of homes and having it quietly roll away with you. Imagine it carrying you half way across this continent between two suns. Do you realize that you can have speckled trout for dinner tomorrow night in Denver?

It took a hundred million dollars in improvements alone to accomplish this luxury for you. It isn't a train—it is a Palace that is waiting to take you there. And it costs not one cent more than the ordinary ways. Is there any question in your mind about which route to take?

CHICAGO MECCA FOR DELEGATIONS

Traffic Officials Complete Arrangements for Rush of Arrivals.

TIME SCHEDULE READY.

Tomorrow and Sunday and Monday Will Bring the Convention Throngs.

Passenger officials of the railroads entering Chicago are completing final arrangements for handling the trainloads of Republican delegates and others coming to attend the convention. Schedules for special trains and second and third sections of regular trains are arranged for the handling of the heavy traffic on tomorrow, Sunday, and Monday.

There will not be as many special trains bearing delegates as in former years, according to the traffic men. E. K. Bixby, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania road, said:

"The day of marching clubs and other organized political societies which formerly attended every national convention in a body has passed. The discontinuance of passes also has cut down the attendance. Then, again, the summer tourist rates went into effect on June 1, and the rates for large parties would be only slightly less. This has resulted in many of the convention delegates and other visitors coming at the most convenient time instead of in large parties, as at former conventions."

Arkansas and Washington Here.

A few of the smaller delegations have arrived in the city, among them the Arkansas and Washington state delegations.

The official time of arrival of other delegations as announced by railroad officials, and the railroads on which they will come, are as follows:

Saturday.

VIRGINIA and WEST VIRGINIA delegation of 75, Chesapeake and Ohio, 7 a. m.
IOWA delegation of 200 from Des Moines, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, 8:15 a. m.

NEW YORK ON TRAIN DE LUXE.

Empire State Delegates, Alternates, and Friends Will Start for Chicago at Noon Today.

New York, June 13.—A special New York Central train de luxe, heralded as the finest that ever pulled out of New York, will leave tomorrow at noon for the national convention at Chicago with New York's delegates and alternates and their friends aboard. Over twenty newspaper men are along.

The special will consist of two dining cars, a buffet car, and six drawing room cars. The Roosevelt delegates, who at first announced they would make other plans for the trip, will all be aboard, including Controller William A. Prendergast, who expects to place Col. Roosevelt's name before the convention.

The train is due in Chicago at 11:20 o'clock Saturday morning.

DENEEN COMES TO CHICAGO AND ROUNDS UP HIS FRIENDS.

Governor Desirous to Ascertain Exact Status of West's Candidacy for National Committeeman.

Gov. Deneen arrived in Chicago unexpectedly yesterday morning and called for an immediate roundup of his friends on the state delegation to determine the exact status of the candidacy of Roy O. West for national committeeman.

After a long conference with Mr. West the governor declared the situation was satisfactory to him, but he refused to commit himself further.

A special meeting of the state delegation has been called for Monday morning by Temporary Chairman R. R. McCormick to discuss the presidential situation, but it will probably also have an important effect upon the regular meeting to be held Monday evening on a call from State Committeeman Frank O. Lowden to elect his successor and organize for the convention.

The morning meeting, Mr. McCormick announced yesterday, had become necessary on account of the critical situation that has arisen due to the "steam roller" tactics of the national committee. The Illinois delegation is already pledged to "support Theodore Roosevelt until nominated and elected." Just how far some of the delegates who are thought to have some Taft leanings, although elected and instructed as Roosevelt men, will go will be determined at this meeting.

"The Illinois delegation will not stand by and see highway robbery committed," declared Mr. McCormick.

LEAGUERS PLAN BIG RALLY.

National Republican Clubs Will Hold Ratification Meeting Following Presidential Nomination.

More than 1,000 delegates will come to Chicago next week to attend the biennial convention of the National Republican league at the Congress hotel Tuesday night. After appointing committees and receiving the reports of the officers, the convention will adjourn to await the action of the national convention.

Upon the night of the day after the Republican nominations the league will hold a monster public ratification meeting in the First Regiment armory. The league was organized in 1887. Its president is John Hays Hammond.

"Our league," said D. B. Atherton, secretary, "is composed of more than 2,000 Republican clubs, with a membership of 1,500,000 voters in practically every state."

J. F. Wade of the Watertown Public Opinion Began Fight Against Senator on Issue of Lorimerism.

J. F. Wade, editor of the Watertown Public Opinion, is the first delegate from South Dakota to arrive. He started the fight against the reëlection of Senator Robert J. Gamble, a member of the Lorimer "whitewashing" committee. Mr. Wade's campaign ended a few days ago when Senator Gamble was defeated by Thomas Sterling.

"I feel proud that I began the fight which finally beat Senator Gamble," Mr. Wade said. "I plugged away at him in my paper for fifteen months. People in that part of the state got so that they could not think of either Lorimer or Gamble unless they thought of both. Not one of the senators who voted for Lorimer has been reëlected."

Mr. Wade was a visitor at the Cummins headquarters. He formerly resided in Kossuth county, Iowa, and although he is an enthusiastic Roosevelt delegate, he favors Senator Cummins as a compromise candidate.

OKLAHOMA WILL SEND 500.

Roosevelt Boosters Will Carry Replicas of an Invitation Extended to Former President.

Five hundred Roosevelt "boosters" from Oklahoma will arrive in Chicago Saturday night or Sunday morning, according to George C. Priestly, national committeeman-elect from that state.

"Being the first state to indorse the candidacy of Mr. Roosevelt," Mr. Priestly said, "Oklahomans feel it is in a way their campaign and they are coming with the idea of boosting from first to last."

TAFT FORCES GET EXTRA POLICEMEN

New, Upham, Hilles, and Stone Make Special Appeal to the Mayor.

NUMBER OF MEN DOUBLED

Detachment of Deputy Sheriffs May Be Added for Convention Duty.

The weight of the Taft forces on the convention arrangements committee was piled behind an effort yesterday to have assigned to the Coliseum the greatest number of policemen obtainable.

For this purpose Harry S. New, chairman of the arrangements committee; Fred W. Upham, chairman of the Chicago convention committee, and Sergeant at Arms William F. Stone called upon Mayor Harrison. To make the occasion still more impressive, Charles D. Hilles, secretary to the president, was the fourth member of the party.

This heavy artillery obtained from the mayor the promise of 250 policemen under the command of Assistant Chief Schuettler. The total was much in contrast with the promise of about 100 men made to Sergeant at Arms Stone by Chief McWeeny before the mayor's return to the city.

Mayor Tells of Visit.

No member of the party volunteered any information of their diplomatic call or its results, but Mayor Harrison discussed it as one of the interesting events of the day.

"They told me that disquieting rumors had come to them," he asserted, "and asked that the proper number of men be assigned to the Coliseum to assure order. They said they feared an attempt might be made to rush one of the doors or in some other way obtain entrance to the convention hall for persons not entitled to be present there.

"We discussed the lay of the ground, the number of entrances and their doors, and I told them I would agree that they be given 250 men under the command of Assistant Chief Schuettler. They did not ask for any definite number, but spoke of the number of doors to be covered, and they wanted a number of plain clothes men inside the building and a number of policemen outside. The men will not be 'used' by any faction. They will be there for the sole purpose of preserving order.

McWeeny Issues Order.

Before the interview of the committee with the mayor, Chief McWeeny issued a general order assigning 181 men to convention duty in addition to the 150 men at the detective bureau who will be subject to service.

"I cannot understand why so many men should be asked for to do police duty," the chief said. "I would undertake to see that there is perfect order in the Coliseum with 50 men in uniform and say 40 others in plain clothes to look after pickpockets and thieves.

"The sergeant at arms of the convention, of course, will be boss on the job, but the police will be under the direct supervision of Capt. P. D. O'Brien, assisted by Maj. Bauder, the drillmaster of the department. My two officers will be able to take care of any situation that comes up in the convention or outside the big hall."

Plan to Get Deputy Sheriffs.

Besides the big quota of police the committee plans to have another force composed of deputy sheriffs—all in addition to the 1,200 assistant sergeants at arms. Sheriff Zimmer said he had not yet received a call for deputies.

"I have heard for several days, however," he added, "that this office would be asked for men to help as peace officers at the convention."

Fined for Daily Wife Beatings.

Clement Convitch, 942 West Thirty-fourth street, who according to the testimony of his wife beat her at least once each day, was fined $200 and costs yesterday by Municipal Judge Scully.

CRIED DAY AND NIGHT WITH ECZEMA

Baby a Mass of Sores. Looked for His Death any Minute. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Brought First Good Sleep for Two Years. Soon Cured.

R. F. D. 4, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.—"When my little boy was a week old he was taken with eczema and I was looking for his death any minute. First his face turned so red, but I did not pay any attention to it. It began to get worse and he just tossed his little head to and fro on the pillow and cried day and night. He began to scratch himself so that I had to muffle his little hands, and then the rash began to go over his whole body until he was a mass of running sores. The more I doctored the worse he got. He had it so bad that his little ears began to rot off and his scalp was something awful to look at. I saw the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment advertised and got a bar of Cuticura Soap, making a lather all over his body with the Soap and hot water and then I dried him off well and anointed him with the Cuticura Ointment. He went right to sleep and slept four hours, the first good sleep he had had for very nearly two years, so I kept on using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it was no time before his skin began to get well. Soon he was completely cured. He is sixteen years old now and has not had a sign of the eczema since he was cured by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. N. M. Beecher, Sept. 12, 1911.

No stronger evidence than this could be given of the success and economy of warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

WORKING WITH A SMALL MARGIN.

The Missouri compromise, which was supported by the national committee unanimously, and which gives Roosevelt eight and Taft six of the contested votes, was the first faltering step taken by the tory majority in the direction of right doing. In this case wrong meant ruin.

It does not make amends for what has been done in the Fourth California, the Eleventh Kentucky, and other districts, but it held the committee back from shouting from the house tops that it purposed giving the president control of the temporary organization of the convention by hook or crook.

The tories are figuring with small margins. They have taken away from Roosevelt two California delegates, won in a state carried by 77,000 votes, on the pretext that the state law governing the selection of delegates ran counter to the law of the party and the call of the convention prescribing that delegates should be elected by districts.

Unfortunately for the Taft contention in this case the argument could not be made on the broad principle of district rights. To raise this question it was necessary to present contesting delegates who could demonstrate that they had carried the district. This could not be done. Before it was possible to protest that a district was being denied proper representation it was necessary to show that the district was wronged by the statewide action, and this was not done. The two California delegates were taken from the Roosevelt strength arbitrarily.

The splitting of the Eleventh Kentucky representation into one for Roosevelt and one for Taft was a confession in itself. The action of the committee shows that the tories are playing with a small margin, seeking to protect themselves as best they may, and yet preserve the control of the temporary organization of the convention for President Taft.

When a contesting delegation, declared in favor of Roosevelt, appears before the committee and presents a flimsy case the vote of the committee is unanimous in favor of the Taft delegates.

In the muddied waters it is difficult to find where justice is at all in many of the cases; but doubts, substantial or unsubstantial, have been resolved in favor of the president by the Roosevelt members. There has been no sign of an intent on the part of the Roosevelt members to determine cases regardless of equity.

Some of the contests never should have been presented to the committee. They were brought by men anxious to hitch their carts to a winning movement. They did not see the movement at the time when their states were choosing delegates. They made foolish and vain efforts to catch up with it when it was too late.

But what complaint have the Taft men to make of this? It is their "game." It is the way they "play politics." It is in accordance with the methods they seek to maintain in the affairs of the party. How many contests come from states which have presidential preference primary laws? Mighty few. How many Taft supporters favor the presidential primary? Mighty few. None, if all would speak frankly.

As soon as the Roosevelt candidacy gathered its headway it attracted place hunters and time servers from rotten boroughs, just as any winning campaign will. They made a running jump for the band wagon, and they have not been at all scrupulous as to the ways of getting into it.

What complaint have the Taft men here? None. It's their own chosen way of doing business. It agrees in every particular with their ideas of political control. The Roosevelt men have rebuked it themselves. The vote of the committee shows that—unanimous on the flimsy contests; unanimous even when the contest was brought in good faith, but without sufficient evidence to substantiate the charges.

When the national committee began its sessions President Taft's delegate strength was such that if he were given all the contested delegates he would have, "on paper," a small margin of control to start with. But it's a hazardous thing to rely on a paper strength of a tiny majority, a mighty hazardous thing. If Taft were given all the contested delegates he would have a small margin. So it has been figured—"on paper."

The task of the national committee, a tory organization misrepresenting a liberal party, was to protect that margin.

There were Roosevelt contests founded on justice and equity which would eat it up and bite into the bare paper majority claimed for the president. These were the critical, decisive contests. These were the contests which the tory majority on the committee had to settle regardless of fact and fairness, had to decide regardless of fact and fairness if the tory faction were to go into the temporary organization of the convention and even hope to control it.

Col. Roosevelt has declared that the action of the tories in deciding the vital contests was "naked theft." So it was. There has been an effort on the part of his enemies to give this statement an application to the contests which were without merit or in which, clouded by doubt, as they were, the Taft men seemed to be in the right. That little trick will not work.

The phrase "naked theft" is applied to the action of the committee in taking from the Roosevelt forces the delegates who in justice ought to have been seated. The phrase "naked theft" describes the action of the tories in protecting that "Taft margin" on paper. Col. Roosevelt says it is being protected "by theft," and the phrase is not too strong.

It is useless to defend the tories on the national committee, quite useless. Their task was given them and they have been doing it, regardless of fairness and fact and regardless of consequences.

In the confusion and dust of a multiplicity of contests this theft stands out and may be seen by all. There can be no defense of it.

The phrase "naked theft" points to the fact that the amiable strangers who entered the house and behaved politely slipped the jewels under their coats. They got what they came after.

THE MISSISSIPPI PROBLEM.

The recent disastrous floods in the Mississippi valley give special interest and timeliness to the Mississippi valley interstate drainage conference called by Gov. Deneen for today. Fourteen states are expected to have representatives present, and it is to be hoped a strong declaration will be made in favor of prompt steps by the nation to study and set on foot a broad solution of this great problem.

Col. Roosevelt already has called attention to the need of taking up the task of the Mississippi control. He has pointed out, in a private letter recently published, that it is primarily a national question, and there can be no doubt that we should be done with dabbling over it, wasting money on makeshift measures. It is time to take the whole problem up for final solution, as Col. Roosevelt urges.

The statesmanly vision of Theodore Roosevelt could not be better illustrated than in his recognition of the magnitude of the great problem of the Mississippi. One of the chief planks he will urge deals with this. It will declare that, if the full benefits of the Panama canal are to be reaped by the people of the Mississippi valley, the great Mississippi system must be improved and developed.

The Mississippi valley conference should discuss the constitutional, economic, and engineering aspects of this tremendous work and should put forth some practical recommendations. Mr. Isham Randolph proposes a commission. Undoubtedly this is a necessary preliminary, but it should be one of the highest expert character, with ample means and ample time to make the most thorough study and the most authoritative plan. Some man like Col. Goethals should be placed at its head.

If Col. Roosevelt is our next president there can be no doubt that this great public work will be got under way.

THE RECALL ADOPTED.

The greatest deliberative body in the world gives us an example of the most drastic form of recall of judges. The Commerce court having been rebuked by the Supreme court, the senate now proposes to abolish the new tribunal and retire its members to private life.

That this is the headlong impulse of the mob cannot be contended even by Messrs. Penrose, Crane, Barnes, and Nicholas Murray Butler. But it is certainly the promptest and most thoroughgoing exhibition of the recall that the most heedless of radicals could ask for.

Col. Roosevelt's tentative suggestion of a recall of state court decisions looks very pale beside this blaze in our conservative senate.

NOT THINKING AT ALL.

When asked to comment on the Missouri case Secretary Nagel said:

I've quit thinking during the last six months.

Mr. Nagel has lots of company. Many things indicate that prominent gentlemen in the Republican party have quit thinking—of consequences. The tory program reveals as complete a lack of thought as ever was observed in the plans of men credited with shrewdness and discernment.

FIT FOR A JURY.

Most of his diatribes sounded like the echoes of addresses to a San Francisco jury.—From a not conspicuously friendly account of Francis J. Heney's talk to the national committee.

It is a bit unfortunate that a few of the cases cannot be made the subject of addresses to a jury. Mr. Heney would be on familiar ground there discussing a matter involving Mr. Patrick Calhoun.

Look out for another ocean calamity. The political prophets are all at sea.

Meanwhile the work on the Panama canal is moving right along, utterly regardless.

If at first you don't succeed in curing a scorching motorcyclist, try, try again—with a larger fine.

Would it not be a good idea for both political parties to have a plank in their platforms upholding the Safe and Sane Fourth of July?

There is a rumor that Mr. Patten, in the endeavor to get away, is going to the land of the midnight sun, but Mr. Patten is not hampered by conditions that keep the average citizen nearer home.

Do not allow yourself to imagine that when you have seen the Hon. Billiam Barnes of New York you have seen the entire menagerie. There will be other attractions.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

PASTEURIZATION IS NECESSARY.

MILK which is fresh, clean, and cold may be the means of spreading typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria, sore throat, or tuberculosis. None of these is a cow disease except the last. This simply means that the cow is only partly responsible for the milk. She generally starts it right. When she parts company with it, it is as clean as it looks, but it must travel a long road before it reaches baby. If anywhere along the line any disease germs get in, they stay and increase for at least a few days. There is a pretty good chance that somewhere along the way milk may be touched by hands that carry typhoid or some of the other milk-borne diseases.

The responsibility for disease spreading is to be divided between the cow and the people who handle the milk. I have heard people say that cows do not have typhoid—therefore, milk does not spread typhoid. The germs which cause milk to spoil do not come from the cow, yet nobody would say that milk does not spoil.

No woman can tell whether milk is typhoid or tubercular from its taste or its looks. It cannot be done. She must buy on faith. That means she must select a careful, cleanly, conscientious milkman, and beyond that she must look to the health department for protection.

The laws provide that any milkman, in town or outside, must notify the department if contagion develops amongst the milkers or milk handlers. The department has scouts whose business it is to learn of contagion amongst those in contact with milk. Such are dairy inspectors in the country and the milk inspectors in town.

The physicians coöperate by reporting contagion on milk farms and in city dairies. In every case of contagion within the city the health department inspectors report as to whose milk is used and the central office studies these reports to locate epidemics that are milk-borne.

However, it is the conclusion of 99 per cent of health department administrators that the difficulties of protection against milk-borne infection are so great in a large city with a distant milk supply that these measures are not enough and that controlled pasteurization is a necessity. This is the position of the national government, of the milk standards commission, of the New York health department, of that of Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston; in fact, it is almost a universal opinion amongst health officials. It has long been the prevailing custom in Europe.

Proper pasteurization kills the germs of tuberculosis, sore throat, typhoid, and diphtheria. Therefore, properly pasteurized milk is safe as regards them—and raw market milk is not.

RELIEF FROM SCIATICA.

W. S. E. writes: "A contributor to your department, signing himself 'E. C. B.,' is entitled to my sympathy. What is more annoying than a stiff neck? For over fifteen years I was similarly afflicted. And to cap the climax had a severe attack of sciatica. For more than a month I suffered all manner of torture, employing in the meantime a 'regular' physician and accordingly applied the remedies prescribed for sciatica. Receiving no benefit or relief from doctoring, in desperation I finally applied to a chiropractor. After six treatments, or adjustments, of the spine the sciatica disappeared. Neither has there been any recurrence. Nor have I had any stiffness of the neck. For twenty years I had been afflicted, too, with lumbago. That, too, has left me."

REPLY.

Such manipulation would help some cases of sciatica and fail to help others.

TOBACCO AND WEAK HEART.

E. W. S. writes: "1. Would 5 cents' worth of chewing tobacco a week be injurious to a person with heart leakage? 2. Is a person with a weak heart liable to be troubled with insomnia? 3. Is a person with a weak heart apt to be troubled with nervousness? 4. Should a person with heart leakage take much exercise, and what kind is best? 5. Which is more injurious, smoking or chewing tobacco? 6. Would one or two glasses of beer daily be injurious to a person with a weak or 'leaking heart'?"

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No; not until heart asthma comes on.
3. No; not particularly.
4. A person with a leaking heart valve must take enough exercise to keep his muscles strong. He needs individual medical counsel.
5. Generally smoking, though it depends on the quantities consumed and the habit as to inhaling.
6. No.

REST AND RECUPERATION.

K. T. R. writes: "Where should a business man who is nervous and fagged out mentally go for rest and recuperation? Would a place like Old Point Comfort be preferable to the mountains?"

REPLY.

What pleases a man best will help him most. Old Point Comfort is excellent. Wherever you can find relaxation through diversion is the place for you.

CAR SICKNESS.

R. N. L. writes: "Why are some people made sick at their stomach, faint, and even headache, etc., from riding in the street cars? I have a little girl 12 years old who has this trouble. Is there anything that can be done for it?"

REPLY.

Some persons get seasick or carsick much easier than others. There is a disease of the inner ear characterized by dizziness, but whether ordinary seasickness is related to any inner ear condition has never been determined. Some milder cases of seasickness are amenable to suggestion; bad ones are not.

BITING THE FINGERNAILS.

E. J. P. writes "Is the biting of fingernails injurious? I have been addicted to this habit for ten years. I have broken myself of it every now and then for a short period, but found myself biting and chewing away again before I even was aware of it. How can I stop the practice?"

REPLY.

No. You will infect your nails from time to time, causing local suppuration, but otherwise it does you no harm. However, such a habit means that you have not good brain control. You need psychotherapy or suggestion, not for your nails but for your mental development.

IN order to understand the diplomatic unpleasantness which France has encountered of late from both Russia and Austria, it must be explained that each of these empires has privately urged the republic in the most pressing manner to send to their respective courts an ambassador selected from the old aristocracy.

It has been pointed out to Premier Poincare and his colleagues that the exclusiveness of society at Vienna and St Petersburg renders the position of a French envoy of bourgeois birth extremely awkward, no matter how estimable his personality. He finds himself at a great disadvantage compared with the titled ambassadors of most of the other powers, who, by reason of their noble birth, find a ready entrée to those court circles and to that grand monde in which the leading Russian and Austrian statesmen live, move, and have their being.

Indeed, a bourgeois French ambassador is subjected, together with his family, to something much akin to a social boycott, rendered all the more marked by the fact that any well born secretaries or attachés that he may have are invited where he is excluded, which of course cannot but gravely impair the prestige of his mission and his usefulness to his country.

This is the secret of the extraordinary demand made by the Russian government, through its minister of foreign affairs, Sazonoff, for the transfer from St. Petersburg of the French envoy, Georges Louis, a message conveyed through the Muscovite ambassador at Paris, Baron Iswolsky. The baron went so far as to intimate that the presence of Louis at St. Petersburg was interfering with the sympathetic understanding between the two allies.

It seems that Louis and his wife, during the last season at St. Petersburg, have been invited nowhere, excepting of course to those official functions at which Louis' position as ambassador rendered his presence obligatory.

In consequence he never had an opportunity of seeing Sazonoff and his colleagues socially and establishing that friendly footing which is essential to the fulfillment of his diplomatic mission.

It follows that Ambassador Louis found himself exposed to charges on the part of Russia to the effect that he had failed to keep the two nations in touch and had misconstrued and even misunderstood the communications made him by the Russian foreign office for transmission to Paris.

So unpleasant was the tone of the Russian request for Ambassador Louis' recall that the French government at first felt disposed to display resentment by refusing compliance. But realizing on second thoughts that the Franco-Russian alliance, upon which so much depends and which Germany is extremely anxious to break, might be endangered, Premier Poincare resolved to go in person to St. Petersburg in order to discuss the matter personally with the czar, the prime minister, and Sazonoff, the minister of foreign affairs.

Whatever the outcome may be, Louis will have to go, his withdrawal being the more unpleasant to France because his predecessor, Bompard, was withdrawn for similar reasons at the instance of the Russian government.

Bompard is now accredited to Stamboul, where he does not precisely tend to promote the interests of Russia, France's ally.

Oddly enough, Georges Louis was sent to St. Petersburg some years ago on the strength of a strong recommendation from the late King Edward VII.

Louis was for years the political director and secretary general of the French department of foreign affairs, and was, indeed, the head of the permanent staff of the foreign office.

As such he had been brought to the attention of Edward VII, who, when visiting Paris both before and after his accession to the throne, was accustomed to invite him often to lunch and found much to interest in his conversation. This favor shown by the English king to Louis was undoubtedly of use to the English interests.

When the king urged his appointment as ambassador to Russia and wrote so pleasantly about him to his nephew, the czar, that the latter accepted him as persona grata, he seems not to have sufficiently considered the attitude and prejudices of St Petersburg's great world, of which he knew comparatively little, his visits there having been few and far between.

Edward VII. was a good judge of men, but his advocacy of Georges Louis, I am afraid, must be set down as one of his mistakes.

With regard to the French embassy at Vienna, just vacated by M. Crozier, whose term of office has aged him considerably and who insisted upon retiring, France has vainly endeavored to comply with Austria's pressing request for an envoy who, as a member of the old French aristocracy, would have the entrée to the inner court circles and the inner circle at Vienna.

There are plenty of old, noble families left in France, but many members thereof are unwilling to represent the present government in a diplomatic capacity, while those few who might consent to do so are open to such suspicion of disloyalty to the republic as to render their appointment neither politic nor possible.

The republic has already had one such experience—when the late Duke de la Rochefoucauld, during the decade following the Franco-German war, was envoy to the court of St. James and made a hasty trip from London to Paris to cast his vote for his seat in the chamber of deputies against the republic and in favor of restoring the monarchy.

He was a grand seigneur of the old school, a man of great wealth, but so strait minded that he was overwhelmed with surprise when, the following week, the republic asked him to resign his ambassadorship.

In default of a nobleman, the French government has therefore appointed to the embassy at Vienna a diplomat of the name of Dumaine, a bourgeois, but a man with thirty years' service behind him—at Berlin as chargé d'affaires, and especially at Munich as minister plenipotentiary.

In the latter post he was a general favorite, and, thanks to the intimate intercourse between the Austrian and Bavarian courts and aristocracy, there is no doubt that he will be strongly recommended in his new position by the royal and noble friends whom he left at the old ones.

The very manner in which he was obliged to leave Munich endeared him to that extremely Catholic court.

When, shortly after the rupture of official relations between the vatican and France, he, as dean of the diplomatic corps at the Bavarian capital and in compliance with strict diplomatic usage, called upon the newly appointed nuncio on his arrival, the anti-clerical French administration severely censured his courtesy as indicative of clerical tendencies and banished him, by way of disgrace, to the unpopular post of Mexico.

Even that was eventually considered too small a punishment, and he was virtually shelved by appointment to membership on some unimportant commission in the Pyrenees.

Now he is receiving a post which, in point of salary and appurtenances, is regarded as the blue ribbon of the French diplomatic service.

CONGESTED TRAFFIC.

Chicago, May 31.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The worst possible service on North Clark street, between Evanston and Chicago, came to a climax Thursday night, when the patrons of the North Shore festival were returning to their homes, about 11:20 p. m. Three cars had dumped their "human freight" into the street to await the one Howard avenue car which accepts transfers to and from this northern suburb. During the interval of waiting three Rogers Park cars started southward, bearing as many people as were willing to put up an extra fare for the few blocks to Rogers Park, Edgewater, etc. (Notice the thoughtfulness of the system in providing plenty of extra fare cars.) When a Howard avenue car, No. 455, arrived more than sixty people who had been dodging switching cars and passing automobiles for ten minutes, started to get aboard. To their request that the door be opened, the conductor, No. 3706, responded that he would "open the door when he got ready." And the motorman likened some of the people to "cattle from the stockyards." While this throng of people were waiting on the west track for the door to be opened, another Evanston car, bearing another installment of people with transfers, bore down upon them and threatened to run them down "if they did not get out of the way." For a time lives were imperiled, a panic was narrowly averted, and fully a hundred unwilling patrons of this system were outraged in their feelings. The men in charge of the car were extremely discourteous, but the company perpetuating this arrangement for transfers is chiefly responsible for this outrage. How long shall public service corporations, holding franchises in the public thoroughfares, worth millions of dollars, be permitted to impose upon the public? Some day a tragedy at this place will cost the company many times what they are saving by this "penny wise" policy. Several gentlemen gave their names and addresses to the writer to back up a protest against the treatment they had received, and will support the statements made herein.

J. R. NICHOLS.

From the foregoing complaint it appears that an unusual number of people were at the Howard avenue terminus of the Chicago Railways company's line on the night in question, due to the fact that a festival was in progress. Ordinarily there is no congestion at that point at that hour of the night. As the company had no previous information of the entertainment, it did not make its usual preparation to take care of the crowd by sending an inspector to that point.

The transfer of passengers at Howard avenue is made necessary by the fact that that is the northern boundary of the city, and the Chicago Railways company does not operate its cars outside the city limits.

The charge of discourtesy made against the trainmen will be the subject of an investigation, as the company wishes to have its patrons treated courteously at all times.

CHARLES A. LIVINGSTON,
Chicago Railways Company.

MISTAKE SOMEWHERE.

Chicago, June 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A few months ago I had the pleasure of reading a complaint regarding the noisy street cars in Sixty-first street.

At that time the complaint was answered by the street car company, stating that the matter had their immediate attention. I have not noticed any improvement in the conditions, and the cars going down that street during the night make enough noise with their flat wheels to wake the dead.

A week ago last Sunday I checked the cars with flat wheels, which are as follows: Cars numbered 3250, 2410, 2434, 2367, 2436, 2309, 2472, 2482, and 2345.

These cars with flat wheels represent about 60 per cent of the cars running in Sixty-first street, and I hope this complaint will bring some good results.

C. E. JENKINS, 6109 Evans avenue.

We have had an inspector check up the cars on this street daily since receiving the report. He found only one flat wheel, and that was on a car not mentioned in the list.

This list mentions car No. 3250; the company owns no car bearing that number. The list also mentions car No. 2309, which has not been operating on the street in question this season.

We are constantly watching for flat wheels and changing them as fast as we have reports or find them on inspection.

[2] The anti-muffler ordinance prohibits running with the muffler open at any time, so that it is a violation of this ordinance to open the muffler to warn pedestrians. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

HOW THE FIRST ILLINOIS REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION CONFIRMED "NOMINATION ALREADY MADE BY THE PEOPLE."

BY PAUL SELBY.

Chicago, June 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—While it is generally known that Col. William H. Bissell was the first Republican elected to the office of governor of Illinois, after a continuous succession of majorities for the Democratic candidates for executive offices, both state and national, from the date of the admission of Illinois into the union, there are few who can now recall the method by which Bissell was put in nomination, and the party harmony based on sound principles and unselfish policy which resulted in his election in November, 1856. This event marked the beginning of a series of Republican victories within the state which continued unbroken for a period of thirty-six years, antedating the election of Abraham Lincoln to the presidency by four years, with the final wiping away of the stain of slavery and the preservation of the union.

On May 29, 1856, what has been recognized as the first regular state convention representing the principles of the Republican party, was held at Bloomington, Ill., at the suggestion of twelve editors at Decatur in February previous. The Bloomington convention, while formally called by a state central committee appointed at Decatur, in the absence of local party organizations in the respective counties, was made up of voluntary or self-appointed delegates, varying from one to twenty from the individual counties represented. This list embraced seventy-two counties, the remaining thirty counties—all in the southern portion of the state—being unrepresented.

Although the total number of delegates, according to the record, amounted to a little less than 250, it included a large number of names now recognized as historic. In the list from Adams county appear the names of Orville H. Browning (later a United States senator and cabinet officer under Andrew Johnson) and Archibald Williams, a distinguished lawyer of his time; from Cook county, George Schneider, John Wentworth, Dr. Charles H. Ray (then editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE), John L. Scripps, Isaac N. Arnold, N. B. Judd, Mark Skinner, and Joseph Medill; from La Salle, Burton C. Cook and Elmer Baldwin; from Macoupin, John M. Palmer and Dr. John Logan (afterwards a colonel of the civil war); from Morgan, Richard Yates (later war governor), Isaac L. Morrison, and eighteen others; from Pike, John G. Nicolay, Jack Grimshaw, and O. M. Hatch (then nominated for secretary of state); from St. Clair, Nathaniel Niles; from Sangamon, Abraham Lincoln, James C. Conkling, William H. Herndon, William Jayne (still living), and a half dozen more. A number of other names familiar in state and national history might be added. Orville H. Browning took a prominent part in effecting an organization of the convention, Archibald Williams being chosen temporary chairman, followed by John M. Palmer as permanent president, with Richard Yates as one of the thirteen vice presidents.

Immediately after the permanent organization had been effected Leander Munsell, a delegate from Edgar county, without waiting for the usual preliminary steps for such an occasion, moved the nomination of W. H. Bissell for governor. This was promptly followed by a motion from F. S. Rutherford of Madison county (later a colonel in civil war time) "that no nominations be made, but that this convention confirm the nomination of Col. Bissell, which the people have already made."

Before action was taken on this motion George T. Brown, a leading newspaper editor of southern Illinois and also a delegate from Madison county, asked the privilege of reading a letter from Col. Bissell. In this letter, after alluding to his physical disability as likely to disqualify him from making an active campaign, but recognizing the possibility of his name being placed before the convention, Col. Bissell added:

"If, in view of these facts, the convention deems it proper to nominate me, I shall not decline the honor—though I say, in all candor, I prefer that the nomination should fall upon another individual; and, should that happen, you can rely upon my most zealous and cheerful efforts in his behalf."

"Whereupon," proceeds the report "the entire convention arose and, with nine long, loud, and hearty cheers, declared that the nomination of Col. William H. Bissell of St. Clair by the people of Illinois, as their candidate for governor, was then and there unanimously confirmed."

And thus it was that the Republican party in Illinois opened its first state campaign; that the nomination of Col. Bissell "by the people," which had been indorsed by Abraham Lincoln at Decatur in February previous was "confirmed" at Bloomington and ratified at the polls in November following by a plurality of 4,697 votes over his Democratic opponent in face of a plurality of over 9,000 for Buchanan for president. And it was as the climax to this convention that Abraham Lincoln delivered his famous "lost speech," which thrilled his auditors and, without being published at the time, bore a conspicuous part in winning the final victory in the state at large.

The Step Beyond the Line of Fair Play.

[Chicago Evening Post of Yesterday.]

The Republican national committee majority yesterday definitely stepped over the line.

Alabama, yes; Indiana, yes; even Kentucky, yes; but Arizona—no.

Which is to say that in the contests that came before the Arizona contests the Taft men in the committee had carried themselves with considerable credit. They had not been generous. They had given Roosevelt but a single delegate. But they were upheld in most of their decisions by the Roosevelt committeemen themselves. They had refrained from carrying out the original Barnes program of "disfranchising" all California and South Dakota by declaring their primary elected delegates without title.

But it is impossible for any friend of fair play to defend the decision to give the Taft delegates the contested seats from Arizona. It was the turning point, and hence has even greater significance than the later "grab" of the two Californians.

It is part of the game to make these contests appear as intricate as possible, to obscure the real rights and wrongs, to raise technicalities and hide behind them. But the Arizona case is too plain for any man to fumble over.

The complexion of the regular Republican state convention in Arizona depended upon the complexion of the delegates from Maricopa—the largest county. The county committee there decided to settle the issue by a county primary, the vote on the decision being 22 to 19, only unchallenged nonproxy committeemen being allowed by the Taft bosses to cast a ballot. In the primary the Roosevelt delegates received 960 votes to 11 for Taft. Thereupon the nineteen Taft committeemen held a little meeting of their own, elected themselves delegates to the state convention, and the bosses of the latter gathering seated them there. The convention refused to receive these credentials, and to complete the hocus-pocus the Taft delegates held a rump gathering, proclaiming openly they would be recognized at Chicago.

They have been recognized at Chicago—at least by the Taft majority in the national committee. But it is as certain as anything political can be that this recognition will be the most costly outrage committed at the Coliseum.

It sweeps away the pretense of fairness so far maintained by the Taft bosses. It gives unquestionable proof of the justice of the Roosevelt cry of "fraud," and thereby gives the colonel's cause the exact strengthening that it needs. Finally, it puts the Taft majority definitely in the wrong and kills the support of all those Republicans who hold fairness and right above either Taft or Roosevelt.

HARRISON DOOMS 'TIPS' ON RACING

Sends Ordinance to Council Forbidding Sale or Distribution of "Info."

ITS PASSAGE PREDICTED

Also Covers Betting in Any Form and Particularly on Politics.

COUNCIL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Mayor presented ordinance prohibiting distribution of race news for guidance of bettors.

Mayor Harrison reappointed Dr. Theodore B. Sachs trustee of municipal tuberculosis sanitarium.

The mayor recommended ordinance regulating placing of automobile numbers.

Committee appointed to offer services as arbitrators of freight handlers' strike.

Two ordinances passed regulating automobiles.

Special commission on garbage disposal reported.

The death sentence was pronounced on racing "info" in Chicago by Mayor Harrison last evening.

The mayor sent to the city council an ordinance prohibiting the sale or distribution by any manner of papers containing information on racing odds or advice commonly known as "tips" to bettors. He transmitted with it an opinion from the law department holding the ordinance valid and in his letter he urged that it be sent to the judiciary committee for "early consideration." This was done and the passage of the measure before the summer vacation was predicted.

"I am told," said the mayor, "that most of the men who place bets on the races get their information from a limited number of sources and one paper devoted exclusively to this kind of matter is accepted as the authority for the payment of bets. In some cases, I am told, it has printed the odds inversely—for what purpose I do not know."

Prohibitory Section of Ordinance.

The prohibitory section of the ordinance follows:

No person shall sell, offer for sale, give away, display, exhibit, distribute, or cause to be distributed any newspaper or publication, circular, blank, handbill, pamphlet, or other written or printed matter giving or purporting to give information concerning the rate at which bets are being offered or taken in the city or elsewhere, or the odds being given or taken on bets within the city or elsewhere, or advice as to betting or the ratio at which bets should be made upon the result of any trial or test of skill, speed, or power of endurance of man or beast, or upon the result of any political nomination, appointment, or election.

Aimed at the Handbooks.

"Some years ago," read the mayor's letter, "at my suggestion the city council passed an ordinance which prohibited the distribution of news calculated to promote handbook and poolroom betting by information given over the telegraph lines of the so-called 'tickers.' At the present time the information is secured through the medium of publications such as one devoted entirely to that purpose. The police department report that in many cases handbook bets are paid off on the reports published in papers of this character.

"By means of this ordinance the prevention of handbooks and other forms of betting on horse races would be greatly facilitated."

The mayor also sent to the council an ordinance requiring the placing and illumination of automobile license numbers so that they can be easily read. It was referred to the judiciary committee, the reports of which on other automobile measures were adopted. The first of the measures adopted was an ordinance requiring an automobile following a street car which comes to a stop to halt at least ten feet to the rear of the car. The other provides that the switch controlling the rear light of an automobile must be so placed that it cannot be turned by a person within the machine.

Ald. Joseph F. Ryan of the Fourth ward presented a resolution authorizing the mayor to appoint a committee to offer its services in an effort to arbitrate the freight handlers' strike. It was passed and Mayor Harrison made Ald. Ryan chairman of the committee.

The other members named are Ald. A. J. Fisher, Frank J. Wilson, John Kjellander, John Haderlein, A. W. Beilfuss, John J. Coughlin, T. J. Ahern, and Hugh Norris. Chairman Ryan probably will endeavor to bring the committee together today.

DROP TEACHERS FROM PAYROLL NUMBER AND NAMES SECRET.

Mrs. Young Admits "Some" Will Not Be in Service Next Year, but No Principal Is Affected.

A number of teachers in the public schools have been dropped by the board of education, to take effect at the end of the school year this month. How many were cut off the pay roll Supt. Ella Flagg Young refused to say yesterday, but she admitted "some" were dismissed.

When the board "reelected the teachers" it did not reelect all. But all of the principals, including those whom it had been reported were slated for removal because of superannuation or for other reasons, were reelected.

That these principals were reelected does not mean that some of them may not be asked to resign in the course of the next year, it is said.

Mrs. Young, however, denied there was any truth in the report that Principals Albert R. Sabin of the Medill High school and Oliver S. Westcott of the Waller High school had been asked to resign.

Mr. Captain, stop the ship!
I'm sick of the bounding main.

And take me home again.
—Old Song.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Herman Lutz of Chicago was an unwilling passenger on board the French line steamship Savoie, which left for Havre today. He will visit his relatives in Alsace-Lorraine, Germany, when the steamship gets on the other side.

Lutz, who came from France, has made several ineffectual attempts to overcome his dread of the sea and return to his home. When the Provence steamed away last week Lutz was booked as a passenger, but at the last moment he canceled his passage.

Terrified at Sea Voyage.

He booked for the Savoie and arrived at the pier today with his baggage. Once in his stateroom, he unpacked his trunk and reappeared on the deck. But the thought of spending several days at sea so terrified him that he rushed ashore fifteen minutes before steaming time and demanded his money back. Officials tried to argue with him, but it was useless, and finally his money was promised him.

"Mr. Captain, Stop the Ship."

Lutz ran to his stateroom and hurriedly packed his clothing. When the steaming hour arrived and the gangplank was hoisted Lutz was still on the ship. As the steamship backed out into the stream Lutz appeared on deck. He was carrying two suitcases, one of which came open as he started for the rail, scattering his clothing about the boat. When he saw his last chance to reach the shore gone he begged that the steamship be stopped or that he be put ashore.

WILL ASK PARTIES FOR LIVING WAGE

Charities Conference Wants Republicans and Democrats to Take Up Plan.

THREE YEARS' INQUIRY.

Abolition of Night Work for Children Also Recommended in Report.

Cleveland, O., June 13.—The substance of a report containing recommendations on industrial conditions, which will be submitted to both national parties for incorporation in their platforms, was made public at today's session of the thirty-ninth national conference of charities and corrections.

The report was written by Owen R. Lovejoy of New York as a result of three years of investigation by a committee of social workers.

Favors Eight Hour Day.

In part it recommends an eight hour day, abolition of night work for women and children, minimizing of night work for men, publication by employers of wages they pay, prohibition of the manufacture of poisons dangerous to workers when harmless substitutes are possible, no child under 16 to work, insurance against unemployment, a workingmen's compensation act, and women not to work in standing positions.

The report pays particular attention to a "living wage," which, it maintains, should provide for a normal standard of existence with forty consecutive rest hours each week, education, recreation, support for immature members of the family, sickness, and old age. To secure these minimum wage commissions are urged.

On Investigating Committee.

Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago, Dr. John B. Andrews of New York, Julius Henry Cohen of New York, John Golden of Fall River, Mass.; Congressman W. B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Florence Kelley of New York, and the Rev. C. S. MacFarland of New York formed the investigating committee.

An address by Wilbur C. Phillips of Milwaukee delivered before the section considering children was the feature of today's session.

Chicago Problem Unsolved.

Chicago is still far from having solved its housing problem, according to Sophonisba Breckinridge of Chicago in her talk on the immigrant lodger as a factor in the housing problem.

"We found in our recent survey in the stockyards district flagrant cases of overcrowding and disregard of regulations concerning air space and lighting," she said. "It is the unmarried immigrant who has no home of his own and who is taken into the family of a worker of his nationality who is causing so much of the overcrowding."

"There is as much reason in restricting the admission of the foreigner on the grounds that he is more susceptible to the various germs which the native born has been made to understand as it is to argue for the restriction of immigration because of the resulting conditions of overcrowding," said Miss Grace Abbott of the Chicago league in discussion of Miss Breckinridge's paper. "What we need is a movement for the establishing of homes to accommodate these more or less transient unmarried immigrant men and women. The immigrant does not overcrowd because he likes it but because he has to."

WOMAN FIGURES IN DARROW CASE

Attempt to Show Wife of David Caplan Was Abducted Through Conspiracy.

CARRIED AWAY IN AUTO.

Defense Raises Point That She Could Not Have Been McNamara Trial Witness.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—The jury bribery charge against Clarence S. Darrow was almost lost sight of in today's session of the trial in the effort of the prosecution to show that Darrow had conspired with Anton Johannsen and Olaf A. Tveitmoe of San Francisco to prevent Mrs. David Caplan from testifying at the McNamara trial.

There was a marked difference in how the opposing sides viewed the disappearance of the wife and children of one of the men indicted with the McNamaras for the blowing up of the Times building.

The prosecution contended that Mrs. Caplan was a material witness for the prosecution in the McNamara case who had been surreptitiously taken, first to an isolated mountain retreat some distance from San Francisco and later by automobile to Reno, Nev., accompanied by Johannsen.

The defense pictured her as a woman toiling in a sweat shop to support her two little children, harassed by private detectives until she had appealed twice to the police for protection, finally "hounded out of her position" and then taken in charge by friends.

The strongest point made by the defense in this connection was that Mrs. Caplan, as the wife of a co-defendant, could not have been a witness in the McNamara case.

Objects to Chauffeur's Story.

The defense made strong objections to the admission of the testimony of Malcolm Loughead, the chauffeur, who said he had been hired by Olaf A. Tveitmoe to take Mrs. Caplan from San Francisco to Reno. It contended that no connection could be shown between the defendant and those who had assisted in taking Mrs. Caplan out of the state, but a statement by Attorney Earl Rogers that Johannsen and Tveitmoe were interested in the McNamara defense was declared by the court to be sufficient grounds for the admission of the evidence.

Renewed objections, however, gained a point for the defense in the avowal by the prosecution that it would connect Darrow directly with the acts of Tveitmoe and Johannsen.

"Remember that avowal," exclaimed Rogers. "Now we've got you where we want you."

Rogers offered to put Johannsen, then present in the courtroom, on the stand and also to produce Tveitmoe to combat the avowal of the prosecution, but the court would not allow it.

Application to the same end was made at the conclusion of Loughead's cross examination, but again it was denied.

Rival Claims for Reward Money.

The respective claims of Detective William J. Burns and Samuel L. Browne, chief of detectives, attached to the district attorney's office, to the $50,000 reward offered for the arrest and conviction of the dynamiters who blew up the Times building, are expected to become involved to a considerable extent in the trial of Darrow.

Burns has claimed the rewards because of the arrest by his men of the McNamaras. Browne, while on the witness stand yesterday, modestly admitted under cross-examination that he was the chief factor in uncovering the perpetrators of the Times explosion.

Three of the seven detectives who were "planted" at Third and Los Angeles streets on the morning of Nov. 28, 1911, when C. E. White, acting for Bert H. Franklin, who was alleged to have been the agent of Clarence Darrow, was said to have passed bribe money into the hands of George N. Lockwood, testified yesterday.

Frey condemned the unionists for their action.

Secretary George A. Williams of the International union, who preceded Frey on the floor, said:

"If this convention sanctions that sympathetic strike in Chicago, the whole organization will be disrupted."

Family of Eight Suffer; Leaky Pipes Unrepaired.

NO BATHS FOR CHILDREN.

Truant Officers Threaten Prosecution; Woman Makes Appeal.

For the last month Mrs. Rose Grysinski, 4738 South Winchester avenue, has been the victim of a water famine. Water pipes in the house in which she lives and conducts a candy store leaked so badly the city water department shut off the water.

Her house is in an insanitary condition as a result, she says. Her six small children have been unable to attend school for lack of clean clothing. She is threatened with proceedings by truant officers if the children do not attend.

Prior to the water being shut off, says Mrs. Grysinski, she repeatedly appealed to the landlord, Thomas Griglak, 4738 South Robey street, to have the pipes repaired. He refused. Mrs. Grysinski has had to "borrow" and carry water for a family of eight a distonce of more than a block. Yesterday she appealed to THE TRIBUNE for assistance.

Quotes Landlord: "Get Out."

A reporter was informed the water pipes in the house had been in a leaky condition since last October. The leakage grew worse during the cold weather. When Mrs. Grysinski requested the landlord to have them repaired, she asserts, he told her, "If you don't like it, get out."

Mrs. Grysinski showed a five year lease of the building which has three years yet to run. She has built up a small confectionery business. The sole support of the family is the candy store. Her husband, James Grysinski, is an invalid. There are three girls and three boys in the family, the youngest 6 years old.

Mrs. Grysinski says she offered to have the pipes repaired at her own expense. Griglak, she says, threatened her with annulment of the lease if she had any work done on the premises without his written consent. She claims Griglak wants her to vacate and give up her lease.

Suit Is Now Pending.

An inquiry was made at the city hall to ascertain if there was any way of compelling the landlord to make immediate repairs. Dr. Young, health commissioner, said his office did not have authority to take immediate action. He said a suit has been instituted against Griglak by the sanitary bureau. It will come up for a hearing next week. In the meantime Mrs. Grysinski is still without water and her house increases in insanitariness.

"Griglak," said the woman, "has threatened the neighbors with prosecution for violating a city ordinance if they give me water He boasts he has enough pull at the city hall to get anything he wants."

Legal Aid society officials have promised that Mrs. Grysinski's interests would be represented by them.

FLAYS PRESIDENT ON EXPENSE FUND

Fitzgerald Charges Taft Mulcted Newspaper Men on Recent Western Trip.

FIGURED OUT IN ADVANCE

Says $4,500 of Secret Service Appropriation Was Used Under Protest.

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Chairman Fitzgerald of the house appropriations committee made a bitter attack upon President Taft today.

During consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill Fitzgerald charged that President Taft had misused the $25,000 traveling expense fund voted yearly by congress. Fitzgerald declared the president, on his recent western trip, had mulcted the accompanying newspaper men and the secret service fund, in spite of protests, to bolster up his depleted funds.

"It is deplorable," said Fitzgerald, "to have to state these facts to the house and to the country."

Fitzgerald Votes for Item.

Fitzgerald declared, however, that he would vote for the item, which was adopted, 78 to 55. He said that he believed it would "pay the Democratic party and the country if the president traveled the year round."

In referring to the president's western trip he said:

"What happened in order to enable him to make this trip? The cost of a special train to be utilized by the president in that trip was figured out in advance.

"The pro rata cost of each person was figured out and every newspaper man who accompanied that train was requested to pay $1,500 to pay for his expenses.

"Out of the fund for the suppression of counterfeiting and the protection of the president of the United States $4,500 was taken to defray the expenses upon the train of three employés of the secret service, against the protest of the acting chief of the secret service that to do so would create a deficiency in that appropriation."

Think He Should See Country.

Former Speaker Cannon, Representative Gillette of Massachusetts, and Representative Shirley of Kentucky [Democrat] argued in favor of the item. They held that it was necessary that the president see the country and that the country see the president.

Representative Page of North Carolina [Democrat], who offered the amendments striking out the appropriation, declared the money was being voted in order to enable "gatherings at county fairs to elect Exhibit A as their president of the United States."

the people of the United States, it ought to be beneath us to throw mud at him in this day."

Representative Prince began the fight against the report by characterizing it as "an insult to the army, the house and the country," and in the debate which followed Representative Cooper brought in the name of the late Senator Hanna.

"In all my public career," Mr. Cooper said, "I know of no officer who has been so malignantly misrepresented as Gen. Wood. I was told on the best authority that when Gen. Wood was in charge of affairs in Cuba a certain senator asked him what he proposed to do about Maj. Rathbone, director of posts of Cuba, then involved in the postal frauds.

"'Senator,' responded Wood, 'I propose to prosecute him.'

"'Do that, Wood,' replied the senator, 'and I will see to it that you never rise higher than captain in the service.'

"Since that time," continued Mr. Cooper, "that senator and his powerful friends have hounded him."

Attack on Senate Conferee.

Representative Martin of Colorado followed with an attack upon one of the senate conferees and pointed out that among the army posts which the war department proposed to abolish, but which would now be left to the disposal of a commission, was Fort D. A. Russell, near Cheyenne, Wyo. He also made reference to Brig. Gen. Pershing and his rapid rise in the army.

The general is a son-in-law of Senator Warren of Wyoming, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, former chairman of the senate military affairs committee, and one of the conferees on the bill.

"Undoubtedly there are gentlemen whose condition would be improved if Gen. Wood were legislated out of office," shouted Mr. Martin. "Men in the army who are sons-in-law of legislators and who have been allowed to jump 700 numbers over the heads of other officers to a brigadier generalship would have a better chance of promotion if a man of Gen. Wood's type were disqualified." He referred to Gen. Wood as "the best man in the American army today."

Hay Calls Wood Incompetent.

When the supporters of the bill got their innings Chairman Hay declared Gen. Wood's removal was for the good of the army and that the general had proved himself an "incompetent chief of staff."

There are hints that the bill's constitutionality may be tested if it becomes law. Many members of both houses hold that the disputed amendments are not proper in an appropriation bill.

is made by stirring a teaspoonful (direct from tin) in hot water, then adding sugar and cream to taste.

No boiling necessary.

Instant Postum saves money, time and trouble. It tastes like those delicious, mild Javas that one used to buy when Java coffee really came from Java, and it costs less.

A 100-cup tin of Instant Postum costs 50c at grocers—½c per cup.
(Smaller tin 30c)
Regular Postum, Lge. Pkg. (must be boiled 15 min.) 25c.
Coffee averages about double that cost.

SHEDS NEW LIGHT ON PANIC RELIEF

Lawyer Shows Government Furnished $29,000,000 to the New York Banks.

FULL LOAN OF MORGAN.

Understanding Was That the Money Was Deposited for Use of the Stock Exchange.

New York, June 13.—Evidence intended to show that the $25,000,000 which J. P. Morgan has been generally credited with placing in the New York stock exchange during the panic of 1907 was supplied by the treasury of the United States was introduced today at the hearing of the Pujo committee of the house of representatives that is investigating the so-called money trust.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, obtained from George B. Cortelyou, secretary of the treasury under the Roosevelt administration, the assertion that he "understood" the money loaned by the government to the banks at that time was to be used on the stock exchange.

From the New York subtreasury the attorney secured a statement showing that on Oct. 24, the day Mr. Morgan told R. H. Thomas, president of the exchange, to announce the $25,000,000 loan to the exchange by brokers, the government had deposited with the banks nearly $29,000,000.

Banks' Agreement Not Kept.

From Charles Steele, a partner of J. P. Morgan, he obtained a statement showing that fourteen banks had "agreed to loan" to the stock exchange $25,000,000 on that day, but the amount actually loaned, according to the statements, was $188,945,000. All these banks, the subtreasury statement showed, had previously received deposits of government money.

The statement from the subtreasury was received after Mr. Untermyer had failed to secure from Mr. Cortelyou the names of the banks in which he deposited government funds, which the witness testified amounted to about $42,000,000 during the panic. Mr. Cortelyou said he could not recall specifically what banks received the money.

He said he came here on the night of Oct. 19, and had a conference with J. P. Morgan, James Stillman, A. Barton Hepburn, George F. Baker, George W. Perkins, Frank Vanderlip, and other financiers. After inquiring into the general situation he promised that the government would aid "in a general way." The next evening, he said, another conference was held. He was not sure Mr. Morgan was present then.

Promise of Government Aid.

At this conference, the witness said, he promised $25,000,000 for distribution among the banks.

"At the first conference," he explained, I stated that I would not deposit a dollar except for the relief of the country generally and the commercial community generally."

Mr. Untermyer asked the witness if anything was said about the high rate of call money and the effect on the stock exchange of the failure to get money here. Mr. Cortelyou started to give an explanation and then said sharply to reply to the question. "You know, Mr. Untermyer," he said, "there are questions I cannot answer yes or no without doing myself an injustice. I have a right to make an explanation of my action and I propose to exercise that right."

This brought cheers from the brokers and bankers looking on and a declaration from Chairman Pujo that he would have ejected any one repeating it. Mr. Cortelyou later said he "probably did have such a discussion" but couldn't recall the details.

Comparison of Two Lists.

Mr. Untermyer was trying to bring out that some of the so-called Morgan banks received funds. The list furnished by Mr. Steele included the First National, the National City, the Hanover National, the National Bank of Commerce, and several others which Mr. Untermyer noted as having Morgan affiliations.

The attorney read into the record from the bank lists comparisons showing that on Oct. 26 the First National had received $9,250,000 government deposits, had "agreed to loan" on the stock exchange $4,000,000, and actually loaned $2,680,000. He made similar comparisons for other banks.

Mr. Cortelyou said he had not been aware that the banks "under Mr. Morgan's guidance" had loaned money on the stock exchange in proportion to the amounts they received from the government," but Mr. Steele testified that Morgan brokers had been sent to the exchange to announce that money was available and to say at what banks loans could be obtained.

Morgan the Captain General.

Mr. Cortelyou conceded that Mr. Morgan was "captain general" of the situation and that everybody looked to him for guidance. He was unable to tell in what trust companies the $10,000,000 was deposited, nor was he able to say whether it was Morgan money or government money that went to the Trust Company of America, which recently was absorbed by the Equitable Trust company, a so-called Morgan institution.

"Now, Mr. Cortelyou, where have you given in any published report to the senate or the house or in any other published report specific information as to amounts you put in these different banks during those five days of the panic?" Mr. Untermyer asked.

"Why do you limit me to published? There are records of the treasury that are not published."

"Because that's what I want to know."

"My recollection is that much of the information you want is contained in my report to congress."

"That's no answer," said Mr. Untermyer.

After Mr. Cortelyou had examined a copy of the report he said:

"Would it be considered an answer if I say that I do not recall?"

"That's what I want," responded Mr. Untermyer.

"Well, that's my answer," said the former secretary.

Offer to Pay Depositors.

Evidence that Charles W. Morse made an offer to the controller of the currency to pay off all the depositors of the failed Bank of North America was brought out in connection with testimony given by Charles A. Hanna, government receiver of the institution. Letters between Morse and the controller's office were placed on the record, showing the government had refused the offer, although Mr. Morse was told if he would deposit his funds with the government the controller would see that the depositors were paid.

After hearing the testimony of witnesses in regard to the practices of the New York stock exchange, which Mr. Untermyer characterized as "contrary to the law of the land" the hearing was adjourned nine dis.

Chairman Pujo announced that future hearings will be held in Washington.

Girl Will Go as Bride to Brazil.

Miss Carrie Mathis.

Miss Carrie Mathis, 2425 Central street, Evanston, teacher in Washington school, will be married tomorrow noon to Harold E. Everly, who graduated this year from Columbia university, New York. The wedding trip, which will begin tomorrow night, will take the bride and groom to their future residence, Port Alegre, Brazil. Mr. Everly was selected by officials of the Brazilian government as director of manual arts in a new state school in Port Alegre. Sixteen other Columbia university graduates received Brazilian government positions.

Miss Mathis is the daughter of Mrs. Ellen Mathis, Evanston. She is one of five teachers in the Evanston school, all of whom will be married this spring and summer.

SHAW KILLED FOR INSULTING WOMAN

Father-in-Law of Van Sickler Gives New Version of Honduras Murder.

CURSED SLAYER'S WIFE

Dying Words of Chicago Bank's Agent: 'Always Thought Mouth Would Get Me in Trouble.'

New Orleans, La., June 13.—[Special.]—A new and startling version of the recent killing of Frederick Pierpont Shaw of New York at Black River, Honduras, was given today by John Riplinger of Iriona, Honduras, president of the American Fruit and Steamship company, who arrived this afternoon.

Riplinger is the father-in-law of Shaw's slayer and was present at the inquest over the young American. He claims the killing took place at 9 o'clock in the morning of June 4 after Shaw had grossly insulted C. B. Van Sickler, formerly of St. Louis, and Mrs. Van Sickler. Van Sickler alone was the agent of his death, he said.

Says Shaw Caused Own Death.

"According to testimony at the inquest," said the ship line president, "Shaw was altogether to blame for his death. The shooting occurred in the plantation house of the banana farm of the Central American Commercial company.

"The night before Shaw had come to the plantation house and ordered Van Sickler and his wife to vacate at once. He was insulting and abusive and cursed shamefully, but was persuaded to leave and agree to a settlement with the Van Sicklers, who had been placed in charge of the place.

Dispute Over Gasoline.

"The next morning a settlement was to be arranged. The dispute arose when Shaw wanted to know what had become of a drum of gasoline.

"While Van Sickler was explaining Shaw suddenly arose, clapped his hand to his belt in which hung two large revolvers, and exclaimed: 'Will some one please rid me of this cur before I——'

"As he paused he made a threatening gesture, as if to draw a revolver and Mrs. Van Sickler screamed, thinking he meant to kill her husband. Shaw turned and ordered her to 'shut up' following the command with a gross insult.

"When he said that Van stepped into a back room and got a gun, which he fired point blank at Shaw."

Shaw, Dying, Calls It Murder.

Riplinger pointed out that Shaw was a powerful man, 6 feet 2 inches tall, and that Van Sickler was only 5 feet 5.

The dying words of Shaw, who lived some forty-five minutes, as told by witnesses at the inquest, were: "I always thought my mouth would get me into trouble, but this is murder."

OBITUARY.

ARCHIE B. MINER, principal of the Proviso Township High school, died at his residence, 716 South Eighth avenue, Maywood, on Wednesday night. He was 38 years old. Mr. Miner was born in Lowden, Mich. Mrs. Miner and two children are living. The burial will be in Hanna, Mich.

CARRIE BELLE GOODRICH, sister of former Judge Adams A. Goodrich and Katherine J. Goodrich, died yesterday at Mercy hospital. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at Jerseyville, Ill.

DEAL ENDS KOSHER STRIKE

Dispute with Packers Settled and Dealers Will Reopen.

WOMEN GIVE APPROVAL.

New Price List Will Get a Trial; Raise Tabooed.

Kosher meat dealers who have been on a strike last night announced that their disagreement with the packers has been settled. They will buy meat this morning and intend to open at sundown tomorrow evening. A new schedule of reduced prices on the principal retail trade stock follows:

	Per pound.
Lean meat	12 cents
Neck chucks	10 cents
First class fat meat	16 cents
First class neck chucks	14 cents

This price list will go into effect for three months, dating from today.

Women Approve Agreement.

At a meeting in the Lessing club house west side Jewish women, whose protests against the high prices of meat precipitated the strike, announced that the prices as agreed upon by the butchers would be given a trial. If they find the butchers advancing their prices above the agreement they will boycott the meat shops, it was decided.

The committee of women which waited upon the butchers was composed of the following: Mrs. Clara Freidman, Mrs. Liba Lerman, Mrs. Annie Gross, Mrs. Katy Rosen, and Dora Karmel. A. M. Liebling, publisher of the Jewish Daily Press, and Samuel Greenblow represented the public.

Oil Poured on Meat.

There was a small riot at Maxwell and South Jefferson streets at 4 o'clock when Policemen Snyder and Prindiville arrested Mrs. Ida Ziat, 6919 O'Brien street, after she had snatched a package of meat from a woman coming out of a kosher meat market.

The woman, according to the police, poured kerosene on the meat she grabbed.

"INDEPENDENT" SAYS HE CAN COMPETE WITH STEEL TRUST.

Officer of Pennsylvania Steel Company Obtained Bridge and Structural Contracts for His Concern.

New York, June 13.—Testimony in effect that bridge companies which are independent of the United States Steel corporation have been able to obtain bridge and other structural contracts in open competition with the American Bridge company, a United States Steel subsidiary, was given today during the continued hearing of the government's suit to dissolve the steel corporation.

The witness responsible for this testimony was J. V. W. Reynders, vice president of the Pennsylvania Steel company, an independent.

Jacob M. Dickinson of government counsel asked Mr. Reynders what firms competed with his company prior to the formation in 1900 of the American Bridge company. The witness said there were about sixty such companies. He testified the gross tonnage of all the companies which later went into the American Bridge company was 54 per cent of the country's total.

SAYS SPOUSE CHOKED HER.

Mrs. Pauline Myers Granted Divorce—Insists Cruelty Followed Rebuke for Gambling.

Mrs. Pauline Myers, 4700 Racine avenue, was granted a divorce from Gustave Myers by Judge McDonald yesterday. The charge was cruelty.

"We had been living at 4416 Sheridan road, and I upbraided him one night when he came home late after he had been gambling," Mrs. Myers said.

"He grabbed me by the throat and choked me until neighbors heard my screams and came to my assistance."

MARINES LANDED TO GUARD MINES

United States Troops Enter Cuban Territory to Relieve Bluejackets.

SEVERAL REBELS KILLED.

Government Troops Give Battle to Insurgent Force Under Col. Mazo.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 13.—Fifty-five marines under the command of Capt. Richard S. Hooker were landed today by the United States gunboat Eagle at Felton, on the north coast of Oriente province.

The marines will proceed to Mayari to relieve the bluejackets recently landed by the gunboat Nashville for the protection of the Woodfred mines.

Several Rebels Killed.

A force of government troops returned to Santiago today after operations lasting twelve days in the vicinity of Songo La Maya, Sabanilla, and Mayari. The troops encountered a band of rebels under Col. Mazo and several of the insurgents were killed. Several horses and a quantity of ammunition were captured by the government soldiers.

Not to Send Wood.

Washington, D. C., June 13.—The administration has not seriously considered sending Gen. Wood, Gen. Crowder, or any other army officer to Cuba at this juncture to bring about peace between the factions.

CATHERINE O'BRIEN'S STORY LEADS TO 3 MORE ARRESTS.

Leon L. Kesner and Two Proprietors of Five Hotels, James Stafford and Charles Davis, Held.

Leon L. Kesner, 6248 Washington avenue, a salesman, was arrested yesterday as the result of charges made by Catherine O'Brien.

Kesner, according to the girl, accompanied her to a downtown hotel while she was away from hmeo and mistreated her. He said he never heard of the girl until he read articles published in newspapers regarding her.

The police say Kesner is a brother of Jacob L. Kesner, 4736 Grand boulevard, who signed his bond.

Two other arrests were made in connection with the delinquency of the same girl last evening. James W. Stafford, 536 South Wabash avenue, owner of four hotels, and Charles Davis, owner of a hotel at 606 South Wabash avenue, were taken into custody and charged with contributing to the delinquency of a child.

"FRATS" OF N. W. U. IN PROTEST.

Object to Proposed Contracts for the Erection of Houses by University.

Alumni representatives of the seven fraternities at Northwestern university met President A. W. Harris and William Dyche, head of the campus commission, and protested the new contracts offered the fraternities under which they are to have houses built by the university.

The new plan is for the fraternities to assume a debt of $35,000 each for their houses, which will be erected in the same building scheme with dormitories.

The total cost of the buildings will be about $300,000. The old plan called for houses to cost $25,000. The contract the fraternities are opposing also forbids the fraternities to conduct separate eating tables and provides other restrictions.

Does Your Power Increase As Your Business Grows?

Mr. Private Plant Owner, how do you meet the demand for increased power? Do you add to your present power plant and undergo the tremendous expense and the waste of valuable floor space such installation entails? Or, facing this expense and waste as an alternative, are you allowing desirable new business to fall by the wayside? Wouldn't it be a decided advantage to you if your power capacity could keep pace with your power requirements?

Commonwealth Edison Service

is elastic. It is adaptable to every power need—small or great—and to varying demands, whatever they may be and whenever the hour. Yet, power from Central Station costs nothing until it is employed. Even then you pay only for what is actually used—nothing for the unlimited available power that awaits your need. There is no waste of power with Commonwealth Edison Service. Its cost is decidedly lower than the operation of a private plant. Let one of our engineers confer with you. No obligation whatever on your part. Just call Randolph 1280.

GOLF CLUBS SEND TROPHY ENTRIES

Nearly Sixty Teams Nominated for Tom Morris Competition Tomorrow.

LIST SMALLER THAN 1911.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Entries for the fourth annual competition for the Tom Morris Memorial trophy, to be played for tomorrow by clubs of the Western Golf association, closed last night. Indications are that the number of clubs will be slightly less than last year, when seventy-seven teams were nominated.

Secretary Charles E. Willard has received nearly sixty entries, among those coming yesterday being that of the Oakmont club of Pittsburgh, which won the trophy in 1910. Cleveland Country club, which won the event last year, also is in, but the Denver Country club, winner of the original competition in 1909, has not been heard from.

New Entries for Trophy.

Mr. Willard expects a number of entries by this morning's mail. The Racine Country club will hold an invitation tournament Aug. 22 to 24. The women's invitation is scheduled for Sept. 2 to 4.

Results in Golf Tourney.

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—Stewart Stickney of the St. Louis Country club eliminated the Rev. Paul Talbot of Jefferson City in the state golf tournament today, defeating Talbot, 6 up and 5 to play. E. W. Morrison, Evanston club, Kansas City, defeated Harry Potter, St. Louis Country club, 1 up, in nineteen holes. Raymond Thorne, Kansas City Country club, won from Sterling Edmond, St. Louis, 3 up and 2 to play.

Catlin Quits at Lawrence.

Appleton, Wis., June 13.—[Special.]—The board of trustees of Lawrence college has accepted the resignation of Coach Marc Catlin and appointed William De Witt of Harvard as his successor. De Witt is a former Harvard football player and is a brother of the assistant coach at Yale. Catlin was a star at the University of Chicago.

White Sox Recruits, No. X.—Ray Jordan, Pitcher.

LARGE ENTRY FOR HILL CLIMB; JENKINS MAY ACT AS DRIVER.

Car Which Was Raced in 500 Mile Event May Be Used in Free for All Contest at Algonquin.

BY REED L. PARKER.

Entries received yesterday indicate that the annual Algonquin hill climb will be more of a success than previous ventures of the kind by the Chicago Motor club. Unexpected entrants sent checks covering entry fees and those certain of competing have not registered.

Hugo W. Ogren has entered a Colby model K in four events. Foster W. Moe has listed a Ford. The Overland will have a car in some event, as will the White. Walter C. White of the White company is anxious to have Jenkins drive the six cylinder car that showed so consistently in the 500 mile race. It is possible that this car will compete in the free for all contests.

Gene Green will drive a Kissel car. The Cino team will have cars in all events of its class, as the factory is backing the venture. Two Plainfield (Ill.) men are tuning cars for the climb.

The contest board of the C. M. C., of which Charles Root is leader, has divided the territory for securing entries. Mr. Root's aids report more than usual success in interesting manufacturers and branch houses. The outside entries have been a source of speculation, as they have listed more cars than ever before.

PILGRIM TO GO TO STOCKHOLM.

Victor in Two Races at Athens to Accompany American Athletes as Assistant Manager.

New York, June 13.—Paul Pilgrim, the former New York Athletic club athlete, who won the 400 and 800 meter races at the Athens Olympiad in 1906, will accompany the Olympic team to Stockholm in the capacity of assistant manager to Matthew Halpin, it is stated today. Lawson Robertson, trainer of the Irish-American A. C., will be sent by his club to look after the Irish-American A. C. representatives.

Fifteen athletes who were placed on the supplementary list will embark on the Finland tomorrow. The Irish-American A. C. has raised money to send Jim Rosenberger and Alvah Meyer, the sprinters. The South Paterson A. C. will send Gaston Strobino, the marathoner, and the Boston A. A. will stand the expenses of Larry Whitney, the young weight thrower star; Tom Halpin, the middle distance runner, and John Johnson, the high jumper. The alumni association of the University of Pennsylvania will pay the expenses of Jervis Burdick, the high jumper; Donald Lippincott, the sprinter; Louis Mareira and Wallace McCurdy, distance runners.

The Xavier A. A. has enough funds to send Hal Hatland, the Cherry X sprinter, and the Chicago A. A. will send F. J. Coyle, the pole vaulter. Wesley Olear, the New York A. C. high jumper; Fred Kaiser, the Mercury foot walker, and Sam Schwartz, the former Pastime A. C. pedestrian, will pay their own expenses, and the Bronx Church House is working to obtain funds to send Harry Smith, the long distance runner.

Workmen today practically completed their task of transforming the steamer Finland into a transport for the American team bound for the Olympic games at Stockholm. That the athletes may not grow stale on the trip every possible means has been provided to give them daily exercise along their special lines. The result is to make the Finland a veritable floating gymnasium.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Franks [36] defeated H. Goodman [40], 34 to 35, in the three cushion tournament at Weeghman's. Lusk defeated Atkins [32], 35 to 22.

Tom Foley is planning to start his three cushion tournament next Wednesday. The entries are as follows: Lowe, Weir, Young, Jenkins, Russell, Silver, Ricketts, Barnes, Olson, Marshall, Davidson, Tetter, Phillips, Brundage, De Lorme.

Henry Schevenell [300] defeated Barrett [175], 300 to 172, in the class A 18-2 tournament at Mussey's, the finish being the most exciting of the tournament. The winner averaged 3 4-37 and the loser a little over 4.

RUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Paducah, Ky., June 13.—[Special.]—Marvin Hart accepted terms to referee a fight between Leo Roux of Memphis and Jack Shelton of St. Louis on July 4.

Nashville, Tenn., June 13.—"Yankee" Schwartz of Philadelphia was awarded the decision over Tommy Kilbane last night in an eight round fight. Both fighters were lissed for rough tactics.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 13.—[Special.]—Jake Abel of Chattanooga has signed articles to meet Terry Nelson of Philadelphia before the Nashville Athletic club at Nashville June 19.

Boston, Mass., June 13.—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh backed out of the ring in the eleventh round of a fight last night with Bill McKinnon and fell on his head on the concrete floor. He came back strong, however, and finished the fight in the next round, securing the decision on points.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 13.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis had a shade the better of Jack (Twin) Sullivan of Boston in a ten round bout last night. Ralph Calloway, a negro boxer of Los Angeles, collapsed in the dressing room after a preliminary bout and was taken to a hospital.

Dubuque, Ia., June 13.—[Special.]—An athletic organization was formed today, of which "Circus" Baldwin was made manager and matchmaker, for the purpose of pulling off a series of boxing contests the week of Sept. 16-20, during the Nutwood paprk races. Efforts will be made to card Packey MacFarland for one bout. Two nights are scheduled, with three bouts as each program.

San Francisco, Cal., June 13.—Three matches were announced last night by three pugilistic promoters. "Sailor" Petrosky, the navy middleweight, was matched for a ten round fight with Otto Berg in Oakland on June 26. "Red" Watson, the Los Angeles lightweight, was matched for a twenty round fight in San Francisco with Frankie Burns of Oakland, June 28. Al Kaufmann, the San Francisco heavyweight, will box Charlie Miller four rounds June 21.

REPORTS JOHNSON IN SHAPE FOR FLYNN BOUT ON JULY 4.

Perkins, One of Sparring Partners, Says Champion Is Confident of Winning Inside of Ten Rounds.

John Perkins, one of Jack Johnson's sparring partners, is in town looking after some of the champion's business. According to Perkins, Jack is in fine shape and is down to fighting weight. The sparring partner said Johnson's training camp is so situated that the colored fighter can take plunges in a small creek after his road and gymnasium work. He also said Jack is confident of beating his opponent inside of ten rounds.

"Jack is in great shape and weighs less than 225 pounds," said Perkins. "He is training hard and will be in better shape for this fight than he was for the Jeffries' battle. He does about ten miles on the road every day and boxes on an average of ten rounds after the road work. He is fast as ever, and his judge of distance is perfect. He has hurt some of his sparring partners by hitting too hard, and when I left the camp he said he was going to send to San Francisco for some big, tough fellows. He wants to cut loose on opponents in training so that he will not hold himself back when he faces Flynn.

"Jack is a 5 to 8 favorite in Las Vegas and is going to bet a lot of money on himself at this price. Flynn is working hard and he has a lot of followers who are taking the short end of the betting. The arena should be completed by the middle of next week and Jack Curley expects 15,000 persons will see the fight. Requests for tickets are being received every day from different sections of the country, and if the weather is clear on July 4 those interested in the promotion of the fight believe close to 20,000 will see the mill.

"Ed Smith of Chicago will be the referee, as he practically has been agreed upon by Johnson and Flynn."

FLYNN TO WEIGH AROUND 190 MARK

Trainer Ryan Finds "White Hope" Has Reduced to the Proper Poundage

BOTH IN BOXING BOUTS.

East Las Vegas, N. M., June 13.—[Special.]—Jim Flynn, 192; Jack Johnson, 223. These are the current weights of the doughty white challenger and the colored champion, who clash for the heavyweight title in this city on July 4. Both pugilists stepped upon the scales this afternoon, following their busy sessions in the gym and the notches given above are what they made.

Johnson says he won't be satisfied unless he gets down to 212 pounds, which is three pounds this side of the figure he has prescribed for himself, while Tommy Ryan, in charge of the white entrant, declares he now is hopeful he will put his charge in the ring at the 190 pound notch. A week ago Ryan gave it out that Flynn was a light heavyweight at best and that he could not possibly toe the scratch weighing more than 182-185.

Flynn May Weigh 195 Pounds.

It was Ryan's belief that Flynn would be lucky to enter the ring with "Lil Artha" weighing 180 pounds. Today he chirped a different story. Apparently Flynn has chased all superfluous flesh. The muscles are surging in full sight all over his frame and the experts doubt if the fireman will get any lower. Even Ryan admits that Flynn will go in against Johnson weighing fully 190 pounds, with a fair chance of scaling as high as 195. So if the dusky champion gets down to 212 pounds there will only be seventeen pounds difference between the rival scrappers.

Flynn practically doubled his road work. He drilled over the hills the greater part of three hours. After going through his full course of gymnasium work Flynn boxed eleven rounds. Tommy Ryan got the first three, Al Williams three, Ray Marshall two, and Howard Morrow the last three.

With the referee question still unsettled, owing to Jack Johnson placing Abe Pollock of Denver back on the list and nominating a new entry, Billy Corcoran of Pittsburgh, Pa., Flynn was asked whom he favored. "Welch, Smith, Cochrane, Levy, Pollock, or anybody," replied the Puebloan. "Ty Cobb or Lillian Russell will do. I don't give a rap."

Johnson again had the S. R. O. sign on display in the back yard of his bungalow in "Old Town." "Lil Artha's" camp is easily reached and the fight fans and natives generally, Mexicans included, are not balking over being taxed 15 cents for a peep at the champion in action. This afternoon Johnson boxed six rounds with Marty Cutler, four rounds with Calvin Respress, and punched the bag for fifteen minutes.

No Gambling at Las Vegas.

Santa Fé, N. M., June 13.—Reports that plans were being considered to give visitors to Las Vegas for the Johnson-Flynn battle July 4 personal experience with old time frontier life by open gambling as in pioneer days have been brought to the attention of Gov. W. C. McDonald. It became known today. The governor admitted he had heard such rumors and that he had conferred with District Attorney C. G. W. Ward and Mayor R. J. Taupert of Las Vegas, who had assured him that the anti-gambling laws would be enforced strictly.

JEFF REFUSES TO REFEREE GO.

Ex-Champion Will Not Officiate in the Wolgast-Rivers Fight—May Call Off the Match.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—[Special.]—Jim Jeffries today definitely decided that he would have nothing to do with the Wolgast-Rivers fight. Jeffries said:

"I am out of the fighting game and do not want to referee any more fights. I think it will be an easy bout to referee, but I am out of it and will not officiate. I know and like both Rivers and Wolgast. They are both friends of mine."

It is believed now that the fight will be declared off because of the inability of the fighters to agree on a referee. Jeffries was the only man both would accept.

Vetoes Prize Fight Measure.

Phoenix, Ariz., June 13.—Gov. Hunt vetoed today the bill permitting twenty round prize fights in Arizona. In a message to the legislature Gov. Hunt declared the bill was a step backward.

AVIATION ADVANCE SHOWN BY REPORT

PLAN FOR BIG AIR RACE

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

The first official report on activities at Cicero flying field yesterday disclosed the fact that aviation in Chicago has entered a remarkable growth since the aerodrome was opened. At a meeting of the Aero Club of Illinois, held at the headquarters in the Auditorium hotel, Andrew Drew, field director for the organization, turned in some interesting figures.

According to the report 309 aeroplane flights were made from the Cicero field between 5 a. m. 6 and June 10. In the same length of time 34 passengers were taken up and seven of them were given lesson flights. There were 64 hours of flying, and during their aerial excursions the various machines covered over 2,500 miles. In addition to these figures there is contained in the report a list of names of fifty aviators, who make their headquarters at the aerodrome. Most of them are flyers licensed under international rules.

Four women flyers are on the list of members. Secretary C. W. French of the Aero Club of America was present at yesterday's meeting and discussed with the local officials the proposed American grand circuit race to be held in September as a feature of the meeting planned by the Aero Club of Illinois. Of the $100,000 prize money it was suggested that $5 per seat constitute the grand prize, to be divided into eight parts. It is likely there will be a second prize for the fastest machines having the best record of endurance during the 1,600 mile trip, and that there will be a daily prize, increasing as the flight progresses.

SOX HOIST FLAG; BEAT BOSTON, 3-2

Walsh Holds Stahl Squad to Three Hits and Drives Home Winning Run.

GAME HALTED BY RAIN.

City Pennant, Chest of Silver, Watch, Drizzle, and Sawdust Figure in Card.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

The weather man took a villainous hand in the city championship celebration at Comiskey park yesterday, but did not have enough rain in his barrel to drown out the ball game or to save Boston from a licking, which narrowed its lead down to a negligible quantity. The score was 3 to 2 and it was a Walsh triumph.

Pitching under conditions which made baseball almost out of the question the Big Reel held the Red Sox down to three singles in nine innings. It was Boston luck that these three hits were bunched in the fourth and counted two runs, wiping out what little lead the home team had managed to acquire off Ray Collins.

Then just before the battle went into extra rounds Walsh came to bat with two out and a runner waiting on second. With a slam through to left on a line the spitball specialist ended his task, for that slam drove home the winning run and let the damp crowd go home. Walsh's bat also drove home Chicago's first run in the second inning.

Game Halted by Rain.

The combat was started in a drizzle which arrived just in time to wet the new pennant as it was hoisted to the mast in right field. Play was halted in the second inning by a bunch of wet which apparently put the field out of commission. After a delay of an hour, during which enough sawdust to supply a five ring circus was worked into the mud, play was resumed. The players slipped, splashed, and skated through the rest of the rounds and it was a case all the time of tossing a coin to decide the winner.

In spite of the threatening conditions a good sized crowd was on hand to watch the festivities, which began with a band concert and were run off without a hitch before the clouds began to leak. A notable feature was the appearance of 250 Illinois National guardsmen, members of the Seventh and Eighth regiments, who, with Col. Moriarity and Col. Marshall, took part in the flag raising.

As the players of the two teams swung into line behind the band to start the parade, the gates back of first base were thrown open and in marched the soldier boys, making the ball players look like half a nickel in the matter of keeping step and alignment. Arriving at the right field flag pole the officers raised the Stars and Stripes to the top while the entire crowd—soldiers, players, and spectators—stood with bared heads and the band hit the usual patriotic strains to the function.

Hoist City Title Pennant.

That accomplished, the parade moved over into the left field corner where the White Sox raised the blue and gold banner which bears on the face of it indisputable evidence that Comiskey's men were "Chicago Champions, 1911."

The weather man butted in right there and started wetting the handsome new pennant, driving the parade to shelter on the run. Manager Callahan ordered the field covered, then changed his mind and let the Woodland Bards have the center of the stage, unmolested by tarpaulin. The bards marched out to the plate, commanded President McAleer and Treasurer McRoy of the Red Sox to appear, then presented them with tokens of the great esteem in which they are held herewith by their fellow Bards. To President McAleer was given a chest of solid silver expertly engraved. To Treasurer McRoy was given a gold watch suitably inscribed and capable of telling him everything except who is going to win the world's series.

By the time these presentations had been made the drizzle had dwindled and promised to cease and it was decided to start the battle.

Stahl Gets Bunch of Posies.

Neither team could count in the first inning, although Rath opened the local half with a single and stole second after Lord and Callahan had failed to advance him on cloud busters. Carrigan's wild throw let Rath keep right along to third, but Jim Collins struck out. In the second inning our old friend saved Walsh a bunch of trouble and saved Bodie a bunch of cussing. Lewis struck out, but Block muffed the third one, then pegged into right field instead of to Fournier. Shauno backed up the play and got the ball in time to fire it to Weaver and retire Lewis at second. Gardner struck out, and Block held that one. Manager Stahl was given a big cluster of flowers when he came to bat, and apparently the weather man took that for a cue that the posies needed wetting, too, for the rain came down hard. They stuck to it until two balls and one strike had been called, then Umpire Dineen suspended play.

For the next half hour the band entertained the crowd, all of which was compelled to seek shelter from the downpour. The open faced seat occupants were first admitted to the pavilions, and when it was found there was not room for all of them there the gates leading to the main stand were thrown open so that practically everybody was housed under the shelter of the big roof and listened to the music.

At the expiration of half an hour it looked as if there was no chance to continue the contest, and part of the crowd started for home. But the umps called for sawdust, marble dust, rakes, and lifesavers. After half an hour of toil under Umpire Sheridan's direction it was possible to find enough solid ground for the players to stand on in their positions and they went at it again.

Baseball Under Handicaps.

How they played as much baseball as they did is a wonder. In spite of the heavy going Ping Bodie and Duffy Lewis pulled off catch after catch that looked out of reach, and the infielders struggled successfully with grounders which bounded and skidded in the sawdust. Once Lord threw a whole handful of sawdust along with the ball to first base.

Fournier opened the Sox second with a double, and was sacrificed to third by Bodie. Weaver struck out and Block was passed in the pinch, but Walsh came through with a single past Yerkes, scoring the first run.

In the next round Lord was called out on strikes and Callahan singled to center. John Collins hit a double past Lewis, driving the manager to third, and Fournier delivered a long fly to left on which Callahan scored the second run. Bodie fouled out.

The visitors did not get a hit off Walsh until the fourth, when they got three. Bodie pulled down a line drive from Yerkes before Speaker singled to center. Lewis singled to left. Gardner hit to Weaver, and Walsh got the out at first, moving up the runners. Stahl pushed a hit past Rath and both of the runners registered, tying the count.

Walsh Produces Winning Run.

For four and a half innings they struggled to break the knot and get in out of the slop, but without success. The Red Sox did not get another runner past Walsh, and the White Sox couldn't make their occasional hits materialize into anything substantial.

Bodie got up in the ninth, pulled a safe one into center, and Zeider was put on to run for him. Weaver sacrificed Rollie to second, but it looked all off when Hooper tore in and pinched another foul from Block's bat. Walsh came up again in the pinch and for the second time slashed out a hit. This one let Zeider hustle home with the winning run.

DESPAIN LOSES AT LINCOLN.

O'Neill, Head of the Western League, Now in Control of Club, Which Is on the Market.

Lincoln, Neb., June 13.—Donald C. Despain, owner of the Lincoln baseball club, has been relieved of the property, and Norris L. O'Neill, president of the Western league, is now in control. O'Neill represents Comiskey, who is said to have invested $10,000 in the team last winter. O'Neill will sell the franchise, the most likely buyer being [illegible] Jones, formerly of Los Angeles.

THE DELEGATE ARRIVES.

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

Boston again today, tomorrow, and Sunday.

P. Bodie gave a swimming exhibition after robbing Yerkes of a hit in the fourth. When Ping made the catch he fell forward and plowed along the soppy turf for several feet. He held the ball, though.

If there ever was a chance for the new patent lid to earn its keep that was it, but, instead of putting out the big tarpaulin when the game was suspended, a couple of smaller covers were put over the plate and the pitcher's position, leaving all the rest of the infield to take a soaking.

Catcher Carrigan had a narrow escape from losing some of his countenance by his own forgetfulness. After the rain Bill went behind the bat in the second inning without any mask on. Fournier fouled the first ball pitched, but it cleared Carrigan's head and hit the stand instead. The catcher gasped, then suspended play until he could get his mask off the bench.

This will be Woodlawn day at Comiskey park. The Woodlawn Business Men's association plans to do honor to Jake Stahl, their fellow member, by attending the game 300 strong to root for the Red Sox manager to make a hit every time he comes to bat. It is expected Woodlawn inhabitants will fill a large portion of the stand on the first base side.

Gardner objected to being called out at first in the fourth inning and barked hard at Umpire Sheridan, who ordered the whole Red Sox team back into the coop. The visitors kept on barking until Sheridan chased them out into the right field warming pan where he could not hear them. The Red Sox were pretty peevish and would not obey orders until Sheridan pulled a watch and gave them a minute to comply with his mandate. Then Manager Stahl told his men to get a move on, for he knew Sheridan would forfeit the game if they didn't.

Failure to Catch Fly Ball Gives New York Final Contest of Series.

ARCHER POLES HOME RUN.

Leach Opens Ninth with Triple, but Mathewson Gets Following Three Batsmen.

BY SAM WELLER.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—The champion Giants made it three out of four by nosing out another victory from the depleted Cubs today, the score being the same as yesterday, 3 to 2. A Heine Zimmerman base hit or two in the last two games might have given both to Chicago, but Heine has to sit in the stand and look on.

Today's game was just as exciting and intense as the others of the series, with better pitching on each side. Christy Mathewson breezed through in great style with no Tinker or Zimmerman to drive him off the slab, and Matty was quite the hero, for besides doing some brilliant pitching he lined the ball to the left wall in the fifth and put his team in front.

Giants Score Two in Fifth.

Sturdy Larry Cheney was on the slab for the Cubs and would have beaten the New York star in all probability except for one miserable bit of fielding in the fifth. Herzog was on first, one was out, and Meyers was at bat. The Indian raised a high short fly to right field. Schulte could have cantered to the spot and taken it or Saier might have gone back and copped it easily, but Evers, the farthest of the three, made the effort with the result that there was a mixup, no one getting the ball. To make it worse, the ball bounded away from every one and went for a double, Herzog taking third. Two runs resulted when none should have happened.

Then another thing took place in the ninth, showing where the Cubs made a mistake by doing the right thing. One run was needed to tie and Leach led off with a drive to the center field wall for three bases. In the seventh Archer had made a home run with a drive to the same place, and Leach is a faster runner than Archer. He could have come in standing up to all appearances, but Tom Needham, coaching at third, did what any careful coacher would have done, stopped Tommy there rather than take a chance, even if it did look easy.

Leach Remains on Third.

If Needham had had time for a second thought and remembered that Mathewson was pitching with two young batters coming up and had he remembered how Chief Meyers often drops the ball in close plays at the plate, probably he would have sent Leach in, but the unwritten rules of inside baseball say the runner should be stopped at third under such conditions as existed, and Needham abided by the rules.

The result was that Leach stayed right there at third while Matty disposed of three batters in a row. Ward Miller was the first, hitting a bounder to Matty; Vic Saier was second, and he fanned, and then Evers made a desperate effort to produce a hit, but Matty stabbed his smash and tossed Johnny out at first.

The crowd was much smaller than at any of the four games in spite of the fact that the weather was perfect. There were about 8,000 or 9,000 there, while the crowds of the previous games had averaged 15,000. The reason for the decrease was the suspension of the Chicago stars, Zimmerman and Tinker. The fans didn't know of it until after they came out yesterday, and today a lot of them stayed away.

For four innings both pitchers worked in sparkling form and there were no runs. The break came in the fifth, the Cubs getting one and the Giants following with two. Evers led off for Chicago with a single to center. On the hit and run play Archer grounded out to Doyle and Evers was on second. Cheney popped out to Snodgrass, but Sheckard followed with a single to right, scoring Evers. Sheckard took second on the throw home, but died there when Schulte was called out on strikes.

Herzog Starts Trouble.

In the Giants' half one was out when Herzog singled. Meyers followed with a pop fly in short right field, and neither Evers nor Schulte could get it. The ball fell safely to the ground and bounced away for a two bagger, Herzog going to third. Fletcher hit a long fly to Schulte and Herzog came home after the catch. Mathewson then waited until the call was three and two on him and Cheney had to put it over the plate. Matty lined it over Sheckard's head for a double, scoring Meyers. Devore bunted and was thrown out by Cheney, retiring the side.

Schulte fumbled Doyle's single at the start of the Giants' sixth, letting Larry go to second, and the mistake gave the Giants another run. Snodgrass sacrificed, putting Doyle on third, and he scored on Murray's long sacrifice fly to Sheckard. Becker singled and stole second, but Herzog closed the round with a pop to Downs.

In the seventh, with two men out, Archer drove the ball over Becker's head to the center field wall for a home run, the relaying of the ball being bad. Cheney fanned, closing that round.

The Giants threatened in the seventh, but a double play cut off their chance, and in the eighth they were close to scoring when Doyle was cut off at the plate on an attempted double steal.

The Cubs could do nothing in the eighth, but Leach opened the ninth with his triple, then stood on third while Matty got the next three batters.

Holds Brooklyn Hitless to the Seventh—Artie Hofman in First Game Stars in Field.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 13.—Marty O'Toole pitched his first game in Brooklyn and shut out the locals, 5 to 0. He had a no-hit game up to the seventh. Hofman played his first game for Pittsburgh and fielded well. Score:

SAM WELLERISMS.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Reulbach or Leifield will pitch for the Cubs tomorrow.

The Cubs took an 8:30 o'clock train tonight for Philadelphia, where they open a series tomorrow.

Heine Zimmerman and Joe Tinker will be eligible for the game on Saturday.

Matty fanned Cheney, Sheckard, and Schulte in a row in the third, thereby drawing great applause.

The Olympic team of athletic stars who sail for Sweden tomorrow was at the ball game today as guests of the New York club.

McGraw has his men playing up on their toes, and the team looks stronger than last year. It will take bad luck now to get it out of first place.

All members of the Cubs' party were glad to take the train tonight to a quiet place. Nine days of enduring New York hotel waiters, bell hasteners, and hat check bandits get on one's nerves.

Three of the four games here were decided by one run. If the Cubs had not been wrecked by President Lynch it is reasonable to think they would have had three of the four.

Yale-Harvard Race Tomorrow.

New London, Conn., June 13.—The first race of the Yale-Harvard regatta, it was announced today, will be rowed on Saturday and will be between the second Yale and Harvard fours. The cup race for the gentlemen's eight will be subject to no eligibility restrictions except those imposed by the athletic authorities of the two universities.

Tigers Take Deciding Contest of the 1912 Series Before a Big Crowd.

Nine Runs Secured Off Hartwell in Second Inning Virtually Decides Issue.

New York, June 13.—By a score of 19 to 6 Princeton defeated Yale at American League park today and won the baseball series of 1912. Ten thousand partisans, about equally divided, crowded the stands and bleachers.

Princeton won by good batting. Yale was painfully weak in its pitchers, calling upon five, none of whom was effective.

The Blues opened with two runs in the first inning. When the Orange and Black got through with its pounding of Hartwell in the second session the score stood 9 to 2 in favor of the Tigers. Yale made desperate efforts to retrieve, but its batsmen could not solve Lear's delivery. Score:

De Oro Leads for Title.

Trenton, N. J., June 13.—Alfred De Oro, former holder of the world's championship at pocket billiards, scored another point for the title last night against Edward Ralph, present holder, by capturing the second block of 200 points to his opponent's 180. This gives De Oro a lead of seventy-one points for two nights' play.

The Faust Legend.

For 1,400 years the Faust legend—the sale of a human soul to a devil—has existed. The first recorded hint of its vitality is given in the sixth century story of "Theophilus." That story suited the early Christians in their efforts to stamp out the necromancing devices of evilly disposed persons prone to seek power by unholy means. The association of the name of Faust, however, with the legend is not more than 400 years old. The likeliest prototype of the modern Faust is the man of the same name who in Cracow boldly proclaimed himself a professor of magic. In the sixteenth century stories of Helen of Troy was bestowed by Mephistopheles upon Faust, and not until the middle of the eighteenth century does there appear a shadowy Margaret, in the form of a "beautiful but poor girl," who afterward develops into the Margaret of Goethe.

Engraving by Telegraph.

Monsieur Carbonelle, a Belgian, has invented an apparatus by means of which a picture can be reproduced by telegraph in the form of an engraved plate, from which printed copies may be immediately taken. The picture to be sent is printed with thick, non-conducting ink, and wound round a revolving cylinder, over which passes a stylus electrically connected with the telegraph line. At the receiving end a similar cylinder is encased with lead, or other soft metal, on which presses the point of a graver. The variations of intensity in the current produced by the stylus passing over the picture at the transmitting station cause the graver to cut more or less deeply, and thus to produce a typographic copy of the original, which may be placed without change on the printing press.

Steamer Hit Swordfish.

W. G. Hall, while crossing the Hawaii channel, struck an enormous swordfish, and the impact was so great that the sharp edges went through the planking of the vessel. She immediately sprang a leak and it was necessary to put the Likelike on the run during the repairs.

When the story was told of course landsmen were skeptical.

GARBAGE BOARD REPORTS TO CITY

FOR INCINERATING PLANT

If Successful in Eighth and Ninth Districts, Others May Be Established.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The formal report of the garbage commission was made to the city council last night. Briefly, its recommendations are:

The city's dead animals and garbage, except that of the Eighth and Ninth wards, shall be sold to the highest bidder.

He shall dispose of them by reduction and rendering.

Bids shall be received on basis of private plant located in city owned building on city owned site and on basis of privately owned and controlled site.

Bids shall be received for five, ten, fifteen, and twenty years, beginning Jan. 1, 1915.

Present contract shall be extended from Aug. 31, 1913, to Jan. 1, 1915, for the purpose of carrying out this program.

An incineration plant, at an estimated cost of $250,000, shall be erected at once and operated by the city to dispose of garbage and ashes of Eighth and Ninth wards. If successful, others shall be erected and operated by city in various outlying districts.

Refer Report to Committee.

The council referred the report to the finance committee to work out the recommendations. Ald. Martin, in whose ward the present reduction plant is located, protested against an extension of the existing contract.

"The present plant was erected in six months," he asserted. "Half a dozen persons in Chicago can do that now. My constituents object if you stall around with this proposition."

"The finance committee will not permit any delays," responded Ald. Richert, head of the garbage commission. "We want as quick action as is consistent with intelligent consideration of the details. Throughout the country the garbage business is in the experimental stage. It will take longer than six months to erect a proper plant."

Report Explains Extension.

The report covers ten typewritten pages and is general in both its discussion and recommendations. According to the program of the commission, active work in carrying out the scheme will not begin until after vacation. Commenting upon the extension it is proposed to give the present contractor, the report reads:

"This will give a period of thirty months before the new contractors or the present contractors begin to operate under the new specifications. Much must be done in this time, and a real beginning cannot be made until the council reconvenes after the summer vacation. This leaves twenty-seven months and brings us to within twelve months of the expiration of the present contract.

"The following will then have to be done: The city will have to acquire a site by lease or purchase, the council must pass an ordinance creating a new rendering district, the site must be prepared, and the construction of the buildings advertised for, the contracts let, and the work done. Allowing a reasonable time, these things will take not less than three months. This leaves nine months before the expiration of the present contract.

Discusses New Plant.

"Then we must advertise for bids and close the contract. This will take at least three months, leaving six months in which the special machinery must be designed, built, installed, and tried out. It might be done in six months, but would probably take nearer ten.

"Suppose, however, it was not done in six months. Who cares to face a situation with from 300 to 500 tons of garbage a day accumulating? We would be at the mercy of the present plant. We believe the new plant should be completed at least six months before it begins operation under full working conditions and should be fully tried out during that time. To secure this the contract for the extension of the present contract should provide that the city withhold not to exceed 100 tons of garbage a day for experimental reduction by the new plant."

View of Commission.

The commission, which is composed of Ald. Richert, William Ryan, Sitts, and Harding, Commissioner of Health Young, Commissioner of Public Works McGann and Superintendent of Streets Solon, asserts it is "inexpedient for the city to attempt to operate a garbage reduction plant." Yet the report indicates municipal operation later may be desirable.

It is proposed that in a few years an incineration plant shall be located beside the reduction plant and the power obtained from the burning shall be sold to the reduction company. That is pointed out as one of the advantages of the municipally owned site for the reduction works.

It is argued that this plan will reduce the amount of overhead charges. The commission makes no argument in favor of a plant located on a private site, nor does it explain why bids are to be requested on such a proposition.

Calls Cleveland Plant Failure.

Commenting upon the proposed long term, the report reads:

"It is doubtful if any one not operating a going concern can bid advantageously on the dead animal contract alone, though the business is admittedly profitable. It is also certain that any one bidding for the garbage contract can offer more favorable terms in proportion as the term of contract is lengthened. It seems worth while trying the experiment of giving investors an opportunity to bid on disposing of one or both classes of material under conditions favorable to handling them, either separately or conjointly."

The commission visited eleven large cities before formulating its report. They have formed the opinion that incinerating plants are best suited to dispose of the wastes of cities under 500,000 and that reduction should be used for garbage in larger cities. The impression is given in the report that the Cleveland municipal reduction plant, about which much has been printed for years, is a failure.

"The facts," reads the report regarding Cleveland, "are that the published figures of results are worthless. Practically they credited everything and charged only a part of the items."

Against City Ownership.

Relative to municipal operation here the commission says:

"The controlling reasons for deciding municipal ownership by Chicago inexpedient are, first, that the cost of operation here would be very high on account of the prevailing rates of wages and fuel and of the eight hour law; second, that the city cannot 'follow the market' in disposing of the products of reduction."

Titled Woman Artist in Chicago.

Baroness Hermione von Preuschen-Telmann of Berlin, who has won honors as a painter, is in Chicago visiting Mrs. George H. Gorman, 852 Lafayette parkway. She will complete her fifth trip around the world next month. She has been traveling ever since the death of her second husband, Conrad Telmann, the German poet and romance writer. When she was in America two years ago, the baroness paid Chicago an oblique compliment. She declared the stockyards to be a theme for poetry such as she had not found elsewhere in the country. They reminded her, she said, of a picture from Dante.

Iowans to Hold Basket Picnic.

The Clinton County (Iowa) association of Chicago will hold its annual basket picnic tomorrow afternoon in the Iowa pavilion in Jackson park. Word has been sent to all members to bring full baskets and an invitation is extended to all former residents of Clinton county. The officers of the association are C. D. Boardman, president, and Cora Davis, secretary.

Little Quips and Quirks.

Breakfastlogue on Russia

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

DOBRYM oo'trahm, kak pahzheevah'yete.

Ah, dear fellow breakfastloggers, I surprised you a little bit just then. You did not know what I said to you, did you? No, Mildred, I was not swearing at you. no. I was merely saying to you, morning, how do you do?" in Russian. have all forgotten that I told you at the of our last breakfastlogue that our travel study class would next journey to land of the czar.

then, let us walk out of our hotel in St. and look things over. You will find Russia is a most exciting country—there something doing every minute.

down the street comes a great procession with a band playing loudly at the head. people cheer. You think this is the society of St. Petersburg on its way annual picnic.

no! We observe from the banners that carried by the jolly paraders that 149 of the Amalgamated Nihilists' and Benefit association and that the are on their way to the royal palace chat with the czar. Ah, you thought a picnic because all the people were round cheeses in their arms. But not cheeses. Those are bombs and you will hear the grand marshal, who on the big bay horse, yell hoarsely, the czarowski. Soakemovitch fellow-

Observe there comes the army. See Amalgamated Nihilists run down the alley. away except the trombone player in band. The army has caught the trombone and now they are putting great shackles his arms and legs and the general of the buying him a one way ticket to Siberia. not sad that the poor trombone player go to Siberia when in our own dear country are thousands of people who play every night and who are not in jail? Ah, even a despotic government has its good points.

walk down this street. See what have .

comes another parade. It con- six wagons, all filled with gold and and priceless rubies. See, there is a man all dressed in white silk and in a great coat of ermine. Observe his silk hat is a crown of gold with gems.

observe the parade halts and the the wagons hitch their horses and out they get their shovels and return- their wagons and climbing in on top of and jewels they wait the orders of young man in the white ermine he looks at a book and then he at the number over the door of the .

says, "Allrightski, boysovitch, dump- At once the men begin shoveling and jewels out onto the pavement in the house. And observe, an upper the house opens and a beautiful lady a pouting frown looks out and says,

"Don't unloadski that stuffski out thereovitch. Drive around to the alleyski and throwavitch it offski into the backyardovitch."

This is all indeed very strange to us. Let us seek an explanation. We will inquire of the policeman. Ah, now we have it.

The handsome man in the white ermine who told the workmen to shovel the gold out to the sidewalk is none other than a Russian grand duke who admires the beautiful lady whom we saw but a moment ago at the window and who is one of the ballet dancers at the Imperial theater. In America, when a gentleman admires the performance of an eminent actress he sends her a half dozen roses or two or three orchids, but we observe they do these things better in Russia, and we must all agree that there is certainly some class to the grand dukes.

Now we continue down the street looking eagerly for more pictures full of what we call in French the coleur locale—do you get me, Steve?

Ah, see that fine looking man walking down the street wearing all those medals upon his chest. Who can it be? See how happily he twirls his mustache and smiles kindly on all he chances to meet.

But, ah! he is angry. Look, he draws his sword and rushes at the man who is standing there on the sidewalk and chops off his head with his saber. What was the trouble? Let us ask of this driver of a cab. O, it is very simple. The noble looking man who was so handy with the sword was the Grand Duke Boris and he was angry at the man whom he slew because the man had on tan shoes. You cannot see why the man should be slain merely because he had on tan shoes? Well, let us again ask of the cab driver regarding this matter. The cab driver says that anyhow the Grand Duke Boris did not like the man's face, and besides the man was a tenant on one of the duke's farms and the duke owed him fifteen kopecks. Which explains all.

Now let us go over and call on the present czar, and first let us find out if the present czar is still the present czar, and if he is sitting on his throne or over in the church with somebody standing over him telling what a nice man he was. They do these things very quickly in Russia. Let us ask of this gentleman standing on the corner.

"Ah," we say to him, "pardonski, has the czarski been assassinatedovitch todayski?"

"No," replies the man, "not yetski."

Ah, the remark was most unfortunate. The man has been seized by a bootblack, a rag picker, and a tramp, all of whom are members of the secret police. They heard the gentleman's reply to our question and immediately suspected him.

Let us hope they will find him innocent. But not so. They search his pockets and give shouts of triumph. See, they have found incriminating documents. Look, they are taking from the man's pocket three business cards, two cigarets, a mortgage on a house, a receipt for making strawberry shortcake, and four cough lozenges.

"But," I hear you say in startled accents, "they can't send a man to Siberia just for having those things in his pockets?"

No, Mildred, they can't, but they do.

Sixty-six Receive Knox College Degrees.

GALESBURG, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—Knox college closed its diamond jubilee today with the commencement exercises, the commemorative exercises, and the historical pageant. A class of sixty-six received degrees and the honor students were Gladys M. Campbell, Helen M. Ryan, and Ray L. Sauter of Galesburg; Jesse A. Crafton of Springfield, Ill.; Josephine Wible of Mendon, Ill.; Palmer D. Edmunds of Chelan, Wash.; and Robert W. Caldwell of Galva, Ill.

In addition to the degrees in course the following were conferred:

M. A.—Lucy Innes and Arvid P. Zetterburg of Galesburg.

M. S.—William W. Peters of Galesburg.

D. D.—The Rev. Arthur W. Little of Peoria, the Rev. Roy B. Guild of Topeka, the Rev. J. Percival Huget of Detroit.

LL. D.—J. V. N. Standish of Galesburg, C. W. Leffingwell of Knoxville, E. A. Bancroft and John P. Wilson of Chicago, and George Hay Perkins of Burlington, Vt.

Degree of Literature—Thomas R. Willard; Ida M. McCall, Galesburg, and Ellen B. Scripps, Los Angeles.

Thomas R. Willard retires from the chair of languages after forty years' service.

Chief interest centered in the commemoration exercises, at which greetings either by person or letter from most of the universities and colleges of the country were extended.

The principal speech was made by John H. Finley, president of the College of the City of New York, who received his early education here. Dr. Finley declared the purpose of college is to fit men to live in higher intellectual and moral fields. On the platform listening to President Finley's eulogy of his alma mater were representatives of fifty colleges and universities.

Booker T. Washington of Tuskegee institute brought greetings from the colored race and in its name thanked Knox college for its stand against slavery before the war and for its broad spirit since.

President Edward D. Eaton of Beloit college brought greetings from colleges of the interior and emphasized the struggle all the interior colleges are making for social and political betterment.

George S. Payson of Yale, Victor Elling of Columbia, and Frank Hamlin of Harvard extended best wishes of their institutions and spoke of the high esteem in which Knox college is held throughout the east.

President Chard of Wheaton college, whose father was president of Knox during slavery days, recalled the hatred shown the college as an abolition institution. Representatives of several other colleges brought greetings.

The day's exercises closed tonight with a banquet at which 600 were seated. Dr. Finley was toastmaster.

Wiley for New Democracy.

Bloomington, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—At the annual commencement exercises of the Illinois Wesleyan university here today Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert, addressed the fifty-one graduates. His theme was "Success."

"My idea of success," he said, "is service to humanity. Do something for the benefit of humanity. If it can be said after you are gone that the world is better or happier for your having been here, then your life is a success."

Referring to the present political campaign, he said:

"When our presidential candidates go about seeking office by the methods of ward politicians the people will never learn from them who is fit and who is unfit to act as president for them. What I want to see is a new democracy. This new democracy is coming.

"A democracy of all of the people, based upon intelligence, morality, and the proper aim of life, is what we must have. We need a democracy in which the people will have a chance to learn who is capable of administering the duties of the greatest office in the land."

Award Medals at Notre Dame.

Notre Dame, Ind., June 13.—The closing exercises of the preparatory department of the University of Notre Dame were held tonight. The Right Rev. Dennis O'Dougherty, bishop of Zamboanga, Philippine Islands, delivered the address. Twenty-five received certificates of graduation. Joseph J. Hagerty of Boston, Mass., was awarded the medal for oratory; John C. Wittenberg of Pineville, W. Va., the Mason medal for the best record; Joseph J. Adriansen of De Pere, Wis., the Lyons medal for elocution; Leo J. Vogel of Pittsburgh, Pa., the Fitzsimmons medal for Christian doctrine, and Henry Gluckert of South Bend, Ind., the O'Brien medal for the best record in Latin.

St. Viator Degrees Awarded.

Kankakee, Ill., June 13.—The forty-fourth annual commencement of St. Viator college took place today. Twenty-eight degrees and diplomas were conferred upon successful students. Archbishop Quigley presided. The subjects of the commencement orations were "The Riddle of the World" and "The Materialistic Solution." The valedictory was delivered by G. T. Bergan of Peoria. Chicagoans who received degrees and diplomas were: In master of arts, J. F. Kelly, E. M. Kelly, M. Mugan; bachelor of arts, C. Marino; high school diplomas, J. Warren and P. McCoffrey.

Mark Flag Anniversary Today.

The 135th anniversary of the birth of the American flag will be celebrated today in several of the public parks and in all the public schools, the former under direction of the American Flag Day association and the latter by order of the board of education, following a request from Dr. J. B. McFatrich, president of the board.

In the schools there will be two hour exercises during the afternoon, mainly patriotic songs by children. This gives them something approximating dress rehearsal for the more spectacular singing to be a feature of the National Education association meeting next month, when 1,500 will take part.

Johnny Hand will direct most of the music at Lincoln park's celebration, beginning at 3:30 p. m. The principal addresses will be by Thomas H. Gault, Dr. B. J. Cigrand, Col. L. D. Greene, representing Gov. Deneen; H. J. Ganey, representing Mayor Harrison, and Julius R. Kline.

At Washington park, at Garfield and Humboldt parks, and West Park No. 1 will be similar celebrations. Children of dozens of schools will take part in these ceremonies as well as the school exercises, and in most places Grand Army veterans will speak.

The rooms of the board of education are draped with flags, due to remain up through Flag day, Independence day, and through the National Education conference on July 9.

Various College Commencements.

WOOSTER, O., June 13.—[Special.]—University of Wooster today conferred 106 degrees upon its graduates, divided as follows: Eleven bachelors of arts, sixty-two bachelors of philosophy, twenty bachelors of science, eight bachelors of music, and five scattering.

The board of trustees conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws on the Rev. Andrew C. Zenos of Chicago.

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 13.—Miss Ethel V. Kynaston of Moberly, Mo., the only young woman student in the Missouri University school of law won the Karnes prize in legal ethics at the commencement exercises of the university today. Four hundred and thirteen certificates and degrees were conferred.

DELAFIELD, Wis., June 13.—[Special.]—St. John's Military academy tonight was placed on the list of ten distinguished military schools, according to a telegram received by President Smythe from the secretary of war.

DIXON, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—Harold F. Woodyatte, who graduated here tonight from the Dixon High school, has the state record for attendance in the higher grades of the public schools of the state and he was presented an unusual certificate by Supt. W. N. Snyder, stating he had been in continuous attendance at the Dixon public school for seven years without being tardy or absent. This would make 1,270 school days without a miss.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 13.—[Special.]—The honorary degree of master of physical education was yesterday conferred on A. Alonzo Stagg of the University of Chicago at the commencement exercises of International Young Men's Christian college. Mr. Stagg is a graduate of the college. He was the principal speaker at the alumni dinner, taking as his subject the possibilities of physical education. Thirty-four young men were graduated into the association work, several of whom will go to the canal zone.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Ia., June 13.—[Special.]—Charles E. Piper, fraternal insurance expert of Chicago, today was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws by Iowa Wesleyan. The Rev. Freeman A. Havighurst of Tuscola, Ill., class of 1889 was given a D. D.

ALBION, Mich., June 13.—[Special.]—At the Albion college commencement exercises today Bishop Frederick D. Leete was given the degree of doctor of laws. Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus delivered the principal address.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 13.—[Special.]—Charles E. Merriam of Chicago tonight delivered the Nebraska university commencement oration.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 13.—[Special.]—Pennsylvania college today conferred the degree of doctor of divinity on Billy Sunday, the evangelist.

In the Religious World.

Plan Welcome for Paulist Choir.

After winning signal honors in Paris and Rome the Paulist choristers of Chicago are now on the Atlantic. Before they land the citizens' committee will be in touch with them by wireless. The committee voted to relay a message from one vessel to another until it reaches the singers. This will tell them of the reception planned and will start the movement for a possible concert shortly after they arrive home.

The choristers left Naples last week on the Hamburg and are due in New York on Monday.

On Tuesday evening there will be a concert and home coming welcome in St. Paul's Paulist cathedral in New York. The choristers will leave there on Wednesday or Thursday, arriving in Chicago on Thursday or Friday.

The details of the reception in Chicago will be completed by the committee on Monday, when the reply to the wireless message will be read. The plan is to have not only the mayor and council extend an official greeting, but to ask the coöperation of business organizations.

Augustana Synod in Session.

The Augustana synod of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran church opened last night at the Bethel church, South Peoria and Sixty-second streets. Five hundred delegates from the United States and Canada are in attendance. The sessions will continue until next Tuesday night. Dr. L. A. Johnston of St. Paul gave the opening address. On Sunday the visiting pastors will preach in the thirty-five Lutheran churches of Chicago.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Mission society of the synod is holding its annual meeting at the same time, with meetings in the Augustana church, Hyde Park, and the Salem church. There are about 100 delegates and 100 visitors to this meeting.

Vaudeville at Hebrew Institute.

The Young Players club of the Chicago Hebrew institute will give its fourth vaudeville performance on Sunday evening at the institute building. Those who will take part are Abe Feldman, Alex Siegel, Miss Esther Berman, Toby Gananaky, Mrs. Elizabeth Rossen, Harry Frank, Samuel Goldstein, Israel Soloman, Miss Rose Leichtenstein, Miss Marie Siegan, Frederick M. Gottlieb, and Miss Minnie Leon. Jacob M. Loeb, president of the institute, will speak.

Folk Songs at Lincoln Center.

The choir of St. Mark's church gave a concert of folk songs last night at Lincoln center. Much of the music was arranged especially for the occasion. Songs of Wales, Scotland, England, America, Hungary, Syria, Spain, Norway, Algeria, Tunis, Egypt, China, Japan, Persia, and Russia were sung. The soloists were Master Stuart McCombs, Master Harold White, W. J. Coxe, and Earl Stern. H. P. Goodwin directed. The proceeds will go to the choir outing fund.

Kirmess Dancers in Rehearsal.

A dress rehearsal of the kirmess dancers will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the parish house of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Rogers Park. Mrs. Lainie Higgs, who is directing the dances, has arranged unique features for the affair of June 19, 21, and 22, including a summer garden. Three solo dancers, Miss Frances Sullivan, Miss Vera Poehlman, and Kathleen Ward, will have specialties.

Dedicate Church Tomorrow.

The corner stone of First Methodist Episcopal church of River Forest will be laid tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. C. M. Stuart, president of the Garrett Biblical institute, and the Rev. H. V. Holt, district superintendent, will officiate.

Claims Cake Never Fails.

"Water Sponge Cake (a cheap cake that never fails): Three eggs and one cup and one-half of sugar. Beat together without beating the eggs first. One-half a cup of cold water, two cups of flour, two small teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in two layers. Use either white or chocolate icing. MRS. J. M."

We are on the watch now-a-days for anything that will lower market bills. Your cheap cake is an item. We want cake, but eggs and butter are formidable ingredients.

Simple Popover Recipe.

"May I give a simpler recipe for popovers than the one printed for 'G. M. E.' One cup of flour, one cup of milk, two eggs, and a generous pinch of salt. Put all into a bowl together and beat for five minutes. Grease any kind of a muffin pan well and bake in a very hot oven. The oven must be red hot when the popovers are put in. We never were able to make popovers by any recipe until this was given to us. I hope some one else will like it. "INTERESTED READER."

We recognize in the simpler recipe the elements of success, particularly in the injunction to beat for five minutes. A popover worthy of the name is incompatible with lazy mixing. The beating "aerates" it. Then serve at once before cooling flattens the air vessels.

Who Knows This Dish?

"Can you give me a recipe for chicken à la king? MRS. E. S."

Referred! I hear of it now for the first time. The recipe will probably be supplied by a contributor. There is always somebody "who knows."

Will Prevent Rust.

"Would you kindly tell 'Jane' that if she will cover the knife blades with vaseline they will not spot or rust. Also that steel forks and knives must not be put into a pitcher of hot water and left standing there, as the heat loosens the handles and yellows the ivory. When I began housekeeping we had only that kind, some with handles riveted on.

"I have been looking in the Corner for something that removes ink spots and return thanks to you for your suggestion. I have oxalic acid, but I was afraid to use it.

"Would you kindly inform me if the chlorinated soda is a powder and if so how much to dilute it or is it to be rubbed on the wet ink spots? GRANDMA."

All grandmothers are not out of touch with the times, however advanced they may be. This is one of our widest awake correspondents. We owe other good things to her besides the advice to "Jane."

Chlorinated soda is a liquid preparation.

Brown Bread Formula.

"I should like to send you my brown bread recipe, which is excellent and economical. It helps to use up dry white bread which often accumulates in every family. Two cups of fine dry bread crumbs, pour over enough hot water to moisten thoroughly. Let it stand half an hour. Sift two cups of corn meal, one cup of graham flour, one-half a cup of flour, a teaspoonful of salt. Mix with the crumbs. Add one cup of molasses, one teaspoonful of soda, dissolved in one-half a cup of hot water or sour milk if you have it. Have the mixture quite soft and steam for hours. MRS. J. F. P."

In certain portions of New England brown bread and baked beans are still the stereotyped Sunday breakfast, and this in well to do and up to date households.

Boston brown bread, when properly made, is toothsome and nourishing.

I should call yours "graham bread," but it promises well. I like the unusual addition of bread crumbs. It lightens the whole loaf.

Furniture Polish Directions.

"Please send to me a recipe for home made furniture polish and silver polish? "MRS. E. F. W."

Home Made Furniture Polish: Mix together a tablespoonful of sweet oil, the same of turpentine, half a cupful of vinegar and the white of an egg. Shake together in a bottle for five minutes. You will then have an "emulsion," which apply in the usual manner.

An excellent recipe for silver polish was given last week. I hope you saw it! Our space does not warrant repetitions.

Hint on Canning.

"Here is a way to can strawberries. They will be whole and fresh berries and the juice will be as clear as crystal. First, make a sirup of two parts water and one part sugar. Then hull your strawberries. Fill the jars as full as you can, shake them down genty and fill up again. Strain and pour the sirup over. Put the lids on and set in your boiler on strips of wood with water within one-third of an inch from the cover and boil twenty minutes. Do not screw the covers on tightly until after the sirup boils. I put my peaches up the same way and they are just lovely! If you follow these directions your friends will all remark: 'How nice your strawberries look! How do you put them up?' I shall surely put mine up this way next time!' All my friends who have seen and tasted have put theirs up like mine. MRS. P. C. T."

A cheery, gossipy letter, embodying a safe recipe. We have not the heart to abridge the dear woman's story.

Woman and Her Interests.

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

"Soulful Eyes and Mellow Voice."

"Dear Miss Libbey: What advice can you give me—a heartsick, lonely girl? A perfectly divine man much older than I—O, he has such soulful eyes, and such a mellow voice—is the only one I would want to marry, but he doesn't even pay any attention to poor little me. Now what can I do to make him notice me? I know I shall die if I can't marry him. "J. B."

I am suspicious always of men with soulful eyes. Usually they don't amount to a hill of beans. Thank your lucky stars he does not pay attention to you. He probably has not the price of his next meal. Try to be more sensible. If you don't you will make your life miserable.

Can She Marry Him?

"Dear Miss Libbey: About a year ago my mother married a man of considerable means, so we came to live on a farm. This man has a son of 22, quite handsome, with good habits. During the last year he has shown me marked attention and about a week ago he told me of his love. I know both parents would heartily consent to our marriage, but the one thing is, is he any way related to me so as there could be any prevention of marriage? We are much puzzled about this, so if you would kindly answer as soon as possible. I had never seen or heard of him until mother's marriage. L. M."

No, he is not related to you in any way. There is no reason why you should not marry him if you care to.

Proper Step to Take.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have gone with a young lady who is a college graduate (we both graduated in the same class) for three years and week ago she accepted my proposal and said her parents favored me, but wished I would wait a few weeks before I wrote her father asking his consent to marry her. She said she would immediately write home as she is away teaching and tell her parents of her accepting my proposal. I have often seen her parents and wish to know if it is the proper thing to do, to wait until I get her parents' consent before I give her a ring, which in this case will be a diamond, or give it to her before I get their consent. TOM."

Tom, I think you better get her parents' consent before you give her the diamond ring.

A Man of 43.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a man of 43 and in love with a girl of 17. I have been keeping company with her for almost a year. I am deeply in love with her and she seems to love me. We want to get married, but her folks thinks her too young to marry me. For the last month I haven't been allowed to come to see her. She wants to elope. What would you think best for me to do? L. M."

I think eloping would be a bit strenuous for a man of your age. It might give you heart failure. I would advise you to keep out of it absolutely. Better get interested in a woman nearer your age. A girl of 17 soon would tire of a man of your years. You could have nothing in common.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

The Happiness of Eating All You Want.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

WOMEN seem to consider that denying themselves a portion or two of food is a terrible self-denial. By some perversity of nature, stout women are usually fond of sweets and desserts, not to mention griddle cakes by the half dozen and hot biscuits and waffles, all of which are fattening, while the incongruous fact exists that women who are thin generally adore lemons and pickles and would consider it a great deprivation were they obliged to do without them. If the tastes were reversed the stout women would be thinner and the thin women would grow stouter.

Education has the power to alter the tastes of people as well as conditions, and the happiness that is lost by not eating all one wishes is made up in the end.

A woman makes up her mind to diet, whether for the purpose of reducing her size or for toning up her general system. She thinks out her plan and decides upon the foods she will eat while following the régime. Now, if she wants a beautiful figure and good health, she wants that so sincerely that any food that would have a tendency to interfere with her plans of diet would only annoy her. If she looses any happiness by denying herself certain things to eat she is not sincere in her desire to reduce.

There would be no happiness to a sensible woman in anything that would put on one ounce of the flesh she so earnestly desires to lose or has lost.

We hear the cry so often, "O, if I could only eat all I wanted just once." Why should women want to gourmandize? And after all what is the real difference what one eats or how much, if one feels well and keeps well?

Health is the only road to real happiness, and the curse of the universe is overeating. It is the original cause of all illness. It is surprising what a small amount people need to eat to keep them in fine condition, but they should eat every four or five hours. Eating a hearty meal and then going without any food for eight or ten hours is debilitating. A little should be eaten, but often.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

K. B. L.: Do not, I beg of you, ever use a liquid powder on your face. Sometimes when wearing a low necked gown it is necessary to use it on the arms and neck. All liquid powders contain oxide of zinc, and in time this will ruin the finest skin in the world, leaving it dull and without healthful hue. I shall send the formula for the liquid powder to you if you care for it and will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

A. S. A.: There is nothing better for developing the chest than deep breathing. Take a deep breath through the nostrils and see how it expands the chest. Deep breathing should be practiced the first thing in the morning when arising; in fact, it should be practiced constantly. A great many people do not know how to breathe properly and then wonder why their chests are not well developed. I shall be happy to send you the instructions for deep breathing if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

Economical Housekeeping.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Chocolate Pudding.

THE chocolate puddings are many and good, or indifferent. They are economical puddings if one uses any judgment and taste in making them and are also fine enough for the most exquisite meal. The secret of making all those which are creamy is in the beating. They must be thoroughly whipped. I find that people are accustomed to call such puddings "little desserts." It is a good name for them. They are one of the ideally light finishes for a meal. They may be served cool and yet be much more wholesome and better for the digestion than an ice.

Several people have lately given me their recipes for chocolate puddings or spoken very highly of some one they use. The first of the following came in a letter and was prefaced with the statement: "Here is such a delicious little dessert I have worked out. Others doubtless have the same, but I have never seen it in print that I can recall. It is just a chocolate pudding, but much thinner."

Chocolate Pudding I.—One pint of sweet milk, two and one-half tablespoons of sugar rounding measure, one egg, one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon of chocolate, liberal measure, vanilla flavoring. Beat the eggs and sugar together thoroughly; add the dry flour, beating it in smoothly. Then add the milk, just a little at first, increasing the amount gradually, beating all the time. Melt the chocolate over a moderate fire and the instant it is melted remove and begin to stir in a little of the sweet milk that has been left for this purpose. When the chocolate and milk are properly mixed and the chocolate so thinned add the other mixture and put all over the fire. Stir constantly or it will lump. Allow it to boil and thicken for a few seconds, remove from the fire, add a few drops of vanilla, set in a cool place over night, and serve next day for dinner in glasses with a liberal helping of very stiff whipped cream on top. This is beautiful in glasses, and is elegant, being much like ice cream. I take great pains in making it, since I have found it pays to do so.—Mrs. R. E. T.

A pudding of a different sort, but likewise declared to be delicious, is the following:

Chocolate Pudding II.—One-half cup of sugar, one-half cup of milk, a square and a half of chocolate melted over steam, one egg, one teaspoon melted butter, one cup of flour, one teaspoon baking powder. Steam one and one-half hours. Sauce: Yolks of two eggs, one-third of a pound of butter melted or steamed and thickened with sugar. Keep warm.—Mrs. Q.

From the lessons prepared by two scientific young women on the subject of cooking I take the following recipe:

Chocolate Bread Pudding.—Soak one cup of bread crumbs in two cups of milk. Add one-third cup of sugar, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, and the yolk of one egg. Melt one ounce of chocolate over hot water, add enough milk to make a consistency to pour—about four tablespoons—and add to the bread mixture. Beat the white of an egg until stiff and fold into the pudding. Add one teaspoon of vanilla. Pour into a buttered baking dish set in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven about twenty minutes, or until firm.—Miss R. and Miss H.

In a much more advanced lesson these two teachers include the following pudding:

Steamed Chocolate Pudding.—Cream three tablespoons of butter, add two-thirds of a cup of sugar gradually, and one egg well beaten. Mix and sift two and a half cups of flour, four and a half teaspoons of baking powder, and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add to the creamed mixture, alternating, with one cup of milk; then add two and a half ounces of chocolate melted. Turn into a greased mold, cover, and steam two hours. Serve with cream sauce. Cream Sauce: Cream one-fourth cup of butter, add one cup of powdered sugar gradually, one-half teaspoon va[illegible]a, and one-fourth cup heavy cream beaten until stiff.

JULY WHEAT EASY; RAINS AID BEARS

Lack of Outside Buying Is Big Market Factor; Better Support Near Close.

COARSE GRAINS FIRMER.

Commission Houses Buying Corn and Oats Freely on More Bad Crop Advices.

Rains in the northwest and also in the hard winter wheat belt had a bearish influence on wheat prices yesterday. Moreover, the lack of outside buying was a bear help, encouraging local professionals to pound the market every time it showed signs of weakness. July was under the greatest pressure, closing 1@1¼c off for the day, while September was only ½c off and December ⅝c down.

Cutten and Snydacker led the local selling and there was commission house selling, headed by Logan-Bryan, Lamson, Clement-Curtis, and Chapin. On the break commission houses took hold on the buying side a little more freely, and there was a little rally. Logan-Bryan, Bartlett-Frazier, and Lamson were moderate buyers near the close. Shorts covered freely near the close, and there was some strength due to the firmness in coarse grains.

Big Cash Sales Reported.

Rumors of big cash wheat sales were current, and it reported there had been three cargoes eat worked in the last two days and that ...es yesterday were about 250,000 bu. Sentiment generally was bearish, and locals were influenced by the somewhat more encouraging reports from Kansas and Nebraska, where it is said there has been great improvement since the recent rains.

Texas and Oklahoma wheat harvest, under way, shows generally good yields and fine quality, but there has been nothing to indicate that farmers are disposed to market their wheat except at good prices. In view of the shortage in the big central states, southwest growers of red winter should not be obliged to sacrifice their wheat. Dealers look for heavy buying of hard winter wheat for the northwest.

Paris Has Big Advance.

Paris wheat prices advanced 2@3⅝c for the day, making new high records for the crop. Supplies in France are said to be abnormally light, in spite of fair importations. No indication of a lowering of the day of 37c a bu was reported. Liverpool was strong, ⅝@⅞d higher, the continental demand continued. Antwerp was unchanged, Budapest ½c off, and Berlin ½c higher.

The weather map showed general and heavy precipitation all west of the Mississippi and in the northwest, with predictions for further showers over practically the entire district. Receipts here were 9 cars, with 12 cars the estimate for today. Primary points had 308,000 bu, against 348,000 bu a year ago. Argentine shipments were estimated at 2,400,000 bu. Winnipeg had 208 cars; last year, 150 cars; northwest points, 160, against 226. Minneapolis stocks decreased 900,000 bu for five days.

Corn Crop Has Poor Start.

Country reports to the effect that the corn crop had a poor start in many sections, with much replanting to be done yet, had a bullish effect on corn, and the tone was decidedly firmer. Prices at the close were ⅛@¼c to ⅝@⅞c up, although the slump in wheat caused some hesitancy on the part of buyers. Cash prices were a little firmer here, and at most of the outside markets gains were registered in the sample markets. Shipping sales were 125,000 bu.

Receipts here were 358 cars, with 408 cars inspected yesterday. Primary points had a total of 966,000 bu; last year, 659,000 bu. Cables were irregular, Liverpool ⅛d higher to ¼d off. Argentine shipments are expected to be about 6,000,000 bu. More outside buying of the September and December was noted than for some time past.

Firm Tendency in Oats.

Oats showed a tendency to advance and there was more activity on the buying side than there has been for several weeks. Bartlett-Frazier and Ware-Leland were on the buying side, and there was also buying early by Fitch and Requa. Kidston was an early seller, and the weakness in wheat caused some unloading late in the day. Final quotations were ¼@⅜c off for the July, with September ¼@⅜c higher and December ½c up. Firmness in corn helped to counteract the heaviness in wheat. The cash demand continues good and sales were 200,000 bu, the sample market being ¼@⅝c up. Receipts were 96 cars, with 104 cars the estimate for today. Primary arrivals aggregated 380,000 bu, against 554,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Products Are Heavy.

Provision had a heavy tone most of the day, and prices slumped sharply early. Later there was covering by shorts, with fair buying headed by Barrell and Logan-Bryan, which rallied prices somewhat, although the close was a little lower for the day, except for pork. Western receipts continue fair, and there are no present indications for a letup in the market. Offerings of product were liberal early, Hately leading the selling of lard. Receipts of hogs here were 26,000, with prices at the yards 5s off. The estimate for today was 19,000. Liverpool prices were unchanged except for lard, which was 3d higher.

Weak Barley Market.

Barley was weak to 2c lower, with malting 95c@$1.18; mixing, 80@85c; feed, 65@68c; screenings, 35@68c. Receipts were estimated at 12 cars.

Rye was neglected, with No. 2 89c bid; No. 3, 81@86c; and No. 4, 75@80c, nominal. There were no fresh receipts.

Timothy continued inactive, with cash lots $6.00@12.00. Clover seed was dull at $16.00@21.50 for country offerings.

Duluth flax closed steady to 1c lower, with cash on track, June and July, $2.29½; September, $2.08; October, $1.94. Receipts were 8 cars. Minneapolis flax was 1½c lower at $2.25½@2.26½ for cash on track. Receipts, 16 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Supplies of No. 2 hard are said to be increasingly hard to buy in this market. One broker stated yesterday that he was having difficulty to find a small lot to complete a cargo. It was stated also that three cargoes of No. 2 hard wheat had been sold the last few days, and that Lichtstern's hard wheat sock had been pretty well disposed of. Sales here yesterday were placed at 250,000 bu, although details as to the sales were lacking. Outside cash markets were quieted. A car of red winter wheat from Oklahoma has been consigned to Chicago, and should arrive next week Monday or Tuesday. St. Louis expects a car of new wheat from Oklahoma by tomorrow.

John Inglis wired Logan-Bryan from Evansville, Ind.: "Find no improvement in wheat from Terre Haute to Vincennes; doubt if it averages 5 bu per acre. From Vincennes to and around Evansville early seeded shows improvement, and some fields will give fair yield, but taking whole acreage left standing, crop does not promise as much as it did a month ago. There is still some wheat fields going into corn. After an extended drive here, find heads large and chaffy."

Charles Sincere & Co. received the following from Indiana: "This territory is considered a good wheat section, but we will have a total failure and there will not be enough wheat raised here for seed. What little old wheat is held by farmers cannot be bought at any price, as they are holding it for seed. Millers here are shipping in wheat to grind. In other years wheat was shipped out."

A large number of reports embracing many different sections of the corn belt have been received the last few days. Much replanting is still going on, and complaints are numerous in regard to the stand being poor. These reports were influential in stimulating a little better demand from the outside. Buying of December was a feature of the trade, the big discount under the September appealing to traders.

Cash corn was in fair demand and there was a little higher range of prices. Outside cash markets were also firm, and generally shippers were inclined to express a more encouraging view of the situation. Sales here were 125,000 bu. Offerings were moderate. Oats were in fair demand and about ¼@½c higher, with sales of 200,000 bu.

A Sikeston, Mo., message to Lowitz said wheat was being cut and that quality would be fine; prospects being for about three-quarters of a noraml crop.

St. Louis wired that their bids on wheat were said to be 6c out of line for Texas wheat, farmers in the latter state holding for $1.00 on the farm.

G. R. Denniston of Chapin & Co. leaves tonight for a vacation in New York state.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 900,000 bu for five days.

P. S. Goodman wired from Peoria: "Find quite a difference in views among Illinois shippers as to July oats. Present condition of fields is generally all right, but many believe late crop means small yield, and some fear trouble later on, and all waiting to see how plant will bloom. There is a large number who are banking on as good a crop as two years ago, when crop was late. Many hold to opinion that there will be a lot of oats for July delivery, saying that in other years thrashing was first taken up, but this year there is no wheat in the oats sections of the state, and that early thrashing and marketing will be the rule. Hear of sales of new oats for late July delivery, but on present basis."

Since June there has been an advance of 3⅝c in the near position at Paris and of 7½c in deferred months. During the same time there has been an advance in flour of about 44c a brl. The steady advances in both wheat and flour in France is credited to the insufficient supplies left over from the crop of 1910, the short crop in 1911, and the high import duty on imported wheat. The situation has been complicated also by the bad crops in Russia and the Danube and by the delays occasioned by railroad strikes. Paris futures are now considerably higher than in the Leiter year.

"The carrying charges and premiums on futures, coupled with a dull cash lard business and continued heavy western hog receipts with especially good quality at Omaha and Sioux City and other Iowa points, are still used as arguments for a decline," said W. L. Gregson. "It is possible that a sharp decline would not only attract speculative investors but move some cash lard and bring in buyers for fall shipments."

"Our September oats looks like an attractive purchase," said H. E. Rycroft, "particularly in view of the fact that a great many complaints are coming from the territory east of the river regarding the lateness of the crop and the necessity of rain. With the probability of fairly high prices for corn next fall, September oats around 41c are not high and should anything happen to cut down present prospects they could easily sell at 50c."

Carruthers of Montreal wired that deliveries of wheat at country station in the Canadian northwest were about 250,000 bu daily. It is expected shipments from the counter will continue heavy all through the summer.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 12 cars; corn, 408 cars; oats, 104 cars; rye, none; barley, 3 cars; hogs, 19,000 head.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅛@1c lower; corn, ⅛@1c higher; oats, ½c lower to ⅝c higher; rye, 1c higher.

W. E. White of Barrell & Co. is ill at his home in Rogers Park, being threatened with pneumonia.

Argentine shipments were estimated at 2,400,000 bu wheat and 5,950,000 bu corn.

Low Summer Fares to NEW YORK CITY
and Jersey Coast Resorts

Spend your vacation in the metropolis of America—New York City—the most popular vacation ground on the continent. In New York you are less than three hours' ride from Asbury Park and Atlantic City—both ideal sea-breeze-swept resorts. The surf bathing at Atlantic City is a joy to every bather. Asbury Park, with its magnificent board walk 80 feet wide and extending for three miles along the ocean front, is in a class alone. Cooled by the invigorating salt breezes of the Atlantic Ocean, the Jersey Coast Resorts are beyond compare.

The Joy of Getting There

Go to New York and the Jersey Coast Resorts by the double-track Grand Trunk Route. From the time you leave Chicago until you reach your destination the trip is one big joy ride. Palatial cars, smooth track, safe speed, up-to-date dining car and train service, beautiful scenery—in fact, everything that goes to make one's trip enjoyable—is found on the Grand Trunk-Lehigh Valley route.

URGES REFORM OF CURRENCY

George M. Reynolds Insists on Legislation by Congress to Avert Panics.

PRESENT SYSTEM A PERIL

Fears Financial Disaster Alone Will Teach Statesmen the Needed Lesson.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 13.—[Special.]—George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago, said in an address delivered before the New York State Bankers' convention today that he wondered if it would be necessary for this country to be plunged into another panic before congress would realize its duty in the matter of enacting currency legislation.

Mr. Reynolds had been discussing the necessity for a new banking act something like that proposed by the national monetary commission.

Likes the Commission's Plan.

He also had discussed the money trust, and after saying he did not believe in the existence of such a thing as the latter, as popularly understood, he continued:

"Whatever the investigation of the so-called 'money trust' may disclose, I venture to predict it will be found that currency legislation providing for the establishment in the United States of the National Reserve association along such lines as is recommended by the national monetary commission will serve as a complete corrective of any unsatisfactory condition.

"Considering that such a large percentage of our people recognize the weakness of our present system of banking and currency, and in view of the existing widespread demand for currency legislation, I must confess I am amazed at the apparent indifference which some of the members of the congress of the United States show toward this, which to my mind and the minds of many people is the most important subject of legislation before our people at this time.

Lessons Taught by Disasters.

"It seems that we had to have the calamity of the Iroquois theater fire in Chicago, with its consequent loss of nearly 600 lives, before we secured safe theaters in this country; we had to have the sinking of the steamer Slocum with its freight of hundreds of human souls before we had safe pleasure boats, and, more recently, the disaster of the destruction of the Titanic at sea, carrying with it to a watery grave some 1,600 people, before we could have safe ocean passenger vessels.

"Is it possible that we must experience another panic before the members of the congress of the United States will awaken to the appeal to their sense of duty in this great crisis of needed currency legislation?

Demand for Proper Banking.

"If the members of congress will do their duty in this extremity of needed currency legislation they will now, before disaster has overtaken us, give such attention to the subject as will result in its proper solution, thereby saving the necessity later on of appointing a committee to investigate the causes of what will, if legislation is not enacted, prove to be our next serious financial panic.

"The influence of a proper banking and currency system will reach the hearthstone alike in the mansion and the hut, and for this reason it should inspire in us a desire as well as a determination to treat so important a subject—the most important legislation since the civil war—along broad lines of patriotism and free from petty party politics and prejudices.

Not a Partisan Issue.

"Credit is not partisan; currency is not partisan; personality, integrity and character are not partisan; then why consider from the standpoint of partisanship the question of the establishment of an institution that will deal in nonpartisan qualities, calculated to serve alike and faithfully people of all parties and all creeds?

"I appeal to the members of congress and wish I might impress upon them the urgency of the duty they have to perform through providing for this country a proper system of banking and currency, and I would that they might be brought to a realizing sense of the necessity for early action—action on their part free from partisanship and bias and reflecting an honest, patriotic desire to truly be of service to their constituents and their country."

FAVORS BEMIS FOR EXPERT

Ald. Cermak Springs Surprise on Council Phone Committee.

NO DECISION IS REACHED.

Recommendation of New Investigator Was Expected.

Ald. Cermak, chairman of the council committee on gas, oil, and electric light, sprang a surprise on his associates yesterday. He recommended that E. W. Bemis be given the supervision of an investigation of the Illinois Tunnel company's automatic telephone system.

The alderman had been requested by the committee to devise a method of determining whether the corporation was serving 20,000 bona fide subscribers June 1, 1912. The question has been before the committee eighteen months and no real beginning on an effort to determine whether the company had complied with its franchise to this effect or by failing to do so had forfeited its telephone grant.

Expected Change in Experts.

It had been expected Ald. Cermak would recommend the engagement of a new expert, as much dissatisfaction has been expressed with the work of Mr. Bemis, whose review of the Hagenah report on the Chicago Telephone company has been put off from week to week since last March.

Instead the chairman explained he had taken up the question of the automatic system with Mr. Bemis and the Everet Audit company. He suggested the audit company undertake the task under the supervision of the expert. The committee was not ready to adopt this suggestion.

Ald. Hey proceeded to question Mr. Bemis as to methods and under suggestions from the committee an outline plan for thorough work was framed, but the committee still was not ready to act. It asked Chairman Cermak to obtain from the audit company and other similar concerns estimates on the cost and the length of time necessary for the inquiry. Mr. Bemis' estimate was that the work would require two or three months.

Traction Man Makes Protest.

W. W. Gurley, general counsel for the Chicago Railways company, protested against the demand of City Electrician Ray Palmer that the traction companies be compelled to install "negative booster" systems to ... electrolysis. He declared the cost would be prohibitive.

CLEARING SALE WEEK DRAWS MANY MERCHANTS TO CHICAGO

J. V. Farwell Company Says in Review Dry Goods Wholesale Houses Have Cleared Broken Lines.

John V. Farwell company's weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade says:

"Clearing sale week brought many merchants to the city. Broken lines of seasonable merchandise were disposed of and the general results have been satisfactory, especially in the sale of wash goods, gloves, hosiery, underwear, lace curtain nets, etc.

"In spite of the season being backward, the underwear department has had the largest midsummer sale it ever had, and the same holds true in the hosiery department. Drapery and lace curtain nets were a special feature. The demand for white parasols continues and goods are scarce.

"Mackinaw cloths of all kinds are the coming thing for fall and winter coats and jackets. Nub novelties, boucles, zibilenes, diagonals, homespuns, two tone materials, and chinchillas will be in demand for the fall season in the dress goods lines."

GERMANS PLEAD FOR MORE MONEY

Renewal of Cash Demand Among Few Items Bearing on New York Market.

ONLY FEW STOCKS ACTIVE

Movement of Professional Kind as Isues of Unknown Merit Feature Trades.

New York, June 13.—Proceedings before the money trust committee and further urgent call on our financial reserves were among the few items which bore upon today's apathetic stock market.

The first named was a factor largely because of the prominence of some of the witnesses rather than from any actual developments.

Renewal of the German demand for our cash was interesting mainly because of the sidelight it threw upon the recent reduction of the discount rate by the Reichsbank. Berlin bid 5½ per cent for thirty day money in this market, and, the rate proving attractive, some loans were negotiated.

Put Stop to German Credits.

It is clear from this, however, that the efforts of the German bankers to allay concern by what are now regarded as artificial methods have proved somewhat abortive. Both Paris and London are reported to have shown skepticism and bankers at the French capital have put a temporary stop to Berlin credits.

The stock movement here was small in volume and largely professional, judging from the efforts to excite interest in issues of unknown merit.

The undertone was more steady, however, especially in the market leaders, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Union Pacific, and Canadian Pacific showing some support, although reacting from their best toward the close.

Especial weakness in Virginia-Carolina Chemical, which later affected other fertilizer stocks, was among the few noteworthy features.

Guggenheim Issue Active.

Guggenheim exploration shares, which were admigted to the exchange today, were more active than many of the old time favorites at an advance of three points compared with yesterday's bid price on the "curb."

The purchase and speedy sale of $15,000,000 Illinois Central railroad two year 4½ per cent notes, the proceeds to be applied to the purchase of Central of Georgia 5 per cent income bonds, was announced.

A currency transfer of $1,000,000 to San Francisco, its ultimate destination being Japan, was the one notable feature of the local money market, rates otherwise being unchanged from the previous day, although lenders show a further disposition to make concessions.

The bond market was steady, with total sales par value of $1,568,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call steady, 2¾@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2⅞ per cent; closing bid, 2⅞ per cent; offered at 3 per cent. Time loans steady; 60 day, 3 per cent; and 90 days, 3 per cent; six months, 3½@3⅞ per cent.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 3⅞@4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8475 for 60 day bills and at 4.8720 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.84. Bar silver, 61½c. Mexican dollars, 48c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds steady.

Bank of England Statement.

LONDON, June 13.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes: Total reserve, increased £762,000; circulation, decreased £298,000; bullion, increased £403,923; other securities, decreased £705,000; other deposits, decreased £528,000; public deposits, increased £520,000; notes reserve, increased £677,000. Government securities unchanged. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 49.57 per cent; last week it was 48.44 per cent.

Bank of France Report.

PARIS, June 13.—The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes: Notes in circulation, decreased 80,250,000 francs; treasury deposits, increased 5,450,000 francs; general deposits, increased 28,175,000 francs; gold in hand, increased 7,025,000 francs; silver in hand, decreased 2,400,000 francs; bills discounted, decreased 10,700,000 francs; advances, decreased 8,525,000 francs.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, June 13.—Money was steady and discount rates were firm today.

The stock market was more cheerful now that the transport workers' strike is considered a failure, but Argentine rails were higher on better traffic reports and Kaffirs on dividend announcements. Copper stock also improved.

American securities were quiet and steady. Prices advanced a fraction on professional support during the forenoon and later when Berlin liquidation ceased. Canadian Pacific advanced. The closing was firm.

OLD POTATOES RISE FURTHER

Receipts of 14 Cars Cause an Advance of 3@5 Cents.

POULTRY CONTINUES WEAK.

First New Apples Arrive; Butter and Eggs on Firm Basis.

Receipts of old potatoes at Chicago yesterday were only 14 cars, and sales were made at a further advance of 3@5c a bu. Carload lots of fancy Wisconsin offerings sold at $1.25@1.28, while holders asked $1.30 and higher for fancy Michigans. Receipts of new crop potatoes were 50 cars, and the market held steady at $1.40@1.60 a bu.

Weakness again pervaded the market for poultry and live fowls sold at a decline of ½c, while ducks and spring geese were urged on sale at irregular prices. Retailers were moderate buyers, but dressers took hold freely at the reductions.

First new apples of the season were received from Tennessee. They were in four basket crates and sold at 75@90c. Strawberry receipts were moderate, but the demand was curtailed because of the half day holiday taken by city retailers, and prices were weak to a shade lower. Good Michigan strawberries had to sell at $1.00@1.25 a case.

Butter and eggs held on a firm basis, with receipts of the former 9,980 tubs and of eggs 19,212 cases.

WOMAN CLEARS $60,000 IN DEAL

Mrs. Julia F. Heyworth Sells Michigan Blvd. Property to Mrs. Mary Corwith Baker.

CASH PRICE IS $235,000.

Investment Nets a Big Profit Within a Few Years' Time.

Mrs. Mary Corwith Baker, wife of Alfred L. Baker, has purchased from Mrs. Julia F. Heyworth, the property at 1523-31 Michigan boulevard for $235,000 cash. Mrs. Heyworth's connection with the property is of a particularly interesting character besides serving as an excellent illustration of how money can be made by sagacious investors in carefully selected real estate.

The property fronts 100 feet with a depth of 161 feet to an eighteen foot alley and fronts west sixty feet north of the St. Charles Air Line road. The lot is improved with a three story stone front building, the front half of which is under lease to and occupied by the Diamond Rubber company. The rear half is under lease to the Chicago Cold Storage company. The purchase, which is looked upon as a good one by reason of the rising market in Michigan avenue, nets 5 per cent on the purchase price.

Mrs. Heyworth Clears $60,000.

Mrs. Heyworth purchased the land in 1906 through Oliver & Co. for $90,000. They immediately negotiated for her leases to the Diamond Rubber company and Cold Storage company, in a new building to be erected at once, the former concern moving from Lake street, near Clark. The building cost Mrs. Heyworth $65,000, so that her total investment was $155,000. In 1907 Oliver & Co. sold the land under the building to the estate of John D. Jennings for $150,000, Mrs. Heyworth taking back a lease for 198 years at an annual rent of 5 per cent on this amount. The lease also contained the right to repurchase the property within five years for $175,000. From 1907 Mrs. Heyworth has had an income of approximately $5,000 per annum on what was practically no investment.

Recently she availed herself of the option to purchase, in the lease, and bought back the land for $175,000, so that she takes a profit of $60,000 in the sale to Mrs. Baker. Oliver & Co. represented her in the transaction and Albert L. Strauss Mrs. Baker.

Leasehold Brings $100,000.

It is reported that Frederick R. Barnheisel, president of H. H. Kohlsaat & Co., gave Joseph P. Murphy $100,000 for the leasehold interest in the property at 618-620 Michigan avenue, 80 feet east front, by a depth of 172 feet, being 160 feet north of Hubbard place.

Considering that he acquired this leasehold interest a little over six months ago, the transaction is particularly profitable for him. The land belongs to Mrs. Hetty H. R. Green and was leased to him for ninety-nine years at an annual rent of $15,000 for the first five years, $20,000 for the second five years, $28,000 for the following thirty-nine years, and $35,000 for the remaining fifty years. The average annual rental is $30,474, which on a 4 per cent basis is equivalent to $761,850. Cremin & O'Connor represented Mr. Murphy and White & Tabor Mr. Barnheisel in the transaction.

Mr. Barnheisel has arranged a loan of $65,000, running twelve years at 6 per cent from Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company, secured by the leasehold estate at 430-432 South Wabash avenue, near Van Buren street, lot 40x170 feet, improved with a six story mill constructed building.

George N. Neise, cashier of Foreman Bros. Banking company, has purchased from Frank J. Klauck the twelve apartment building known as the Pemberton at the northwest corner of Racine and Wilson avenues. It contains twelve apartments and occupies a lot 50x150 feet, the consideration of $10 appearing in the deed; also from August W. Fleck the twelve apartment building known as the Colona, occupying 48x125 feet ground, at the northeast corner of Wilson and Kenmore avenues, the consideration also being $10.

Gets $70,000 at 5 Per Cent.

Joseph Cormack has given a trust deed to Charles Pearson to secure a loan of $70,000 ten years at 5 per cent on the property on Drexel boulevard, 108 feet north of Forty-fifth street, 150x377 feet, east front, and 200 feet depth on the south, improved with an apartment building.

The apartment house property at the southeast corner of South Park avenue and Sixty-first street, with 97½x124½ feet of ground, has been sold by Josephine Appleton to John J. Popp, the deed reciting a consideration of $10 and the transfer being subject to an incumbrance of $30,000, which the grantee assumes.

John D. Gates has sold to Joseph J. Lanzit the high grade six apartment building at 4843-45 Michigan avenue for $42,000, subject to an incumbrance of $20,000. The apartments consist of seven and eight rooms. Mr. Lanzit gave in part payment the vacant property at the southeast corner of Ogden and Washtenaw avenues, fronting about 120 feet on the former and about 288 feet on the latter. A. M. Johnson of Robert F. Schenck & Co. represented both parties.

William M. Hoyt has sold to John J. Healy the property on Hawthorne place, 165 feet west of Sheridan road, 65x200 feet, south front, the consideration being nominal.

High "Outside" Rental.

Mark Levy & Bro. have leased for Israel and Samuel Lanski to William Edelstein the two corner stores, having a frontage of 36½ feet on Thirty-first street by 51 feet on Indiana avenue, in the new building to be erected at the southwest corner of Thirty-first street and Indiana avenue, for ten years, at a monthly rental of $625, or $75,000 for the term. Mr. Edelstein will occupy the corner store, 20x51 feet, with a buffet, and the adjoining store for a retail cigar store. The rental of $4 per square foot is one of the highest for the small amount of space that has been paid outside of the loop. Willis Rayburn was associated with Mark Levy & Bro. in this lease.

The property at 10025 to 10031 Ewing avenue, 100x166, has been sold by Hugh M. Coleman of Mineral Wells, Tex., and C. C. Parish of Deming, N. M., to Joseph and Anna Dreveny of Norwood Park, Ill. This property is improved with a three story and basement brick building, containing four stores and eight flats. The new owners will remodel the building into a store and office and flat building. The deal was negotiatd by Frank J. Petru.

Mrs. Alice Bulger has sold to William E. Ridgeway the property at the southeast corner of Irving Park boulevard and Pine Grove avenue, with a frontage of eighty-six feet on Irving Park boulevard and ninety-five feet on Pine Grove avenue, improved with a modern residence. The consideration mentioned is $10, but it is understood Mrs. Bulger held the property at $40,000. Madden Bros. represented both parties in the transaction.

It's Easier to Save a Dollar Than to Earn One

Here—in these col- ums of small ads—is the place to do the saving. A glance will prove it. Take the time now to look over the bargain offerings—they're brief and well arranged for easy reading.

Notice the class of firms who stand back of these cut prices. Many of them are known to you, all will commend themselves by the standard quality of the goods they describe.

Two things are unique about this Tribune Bargain Page. First, the majority of merchants on it don't advertise their choice bargains anywhere but here. Second, these bargains are changed from day to day and are fresh in each issue.

Any one who follows these special values through a week's issues of The Tribune cannot help but know that dependable articles — supplies — services — are being offered each day at prices that will actually put money in your pocket and bring a world of satisfaction as well.

Of course, even the best of bargains can't save you a penny unless you make use of them and follow them up. Therefore, answer such ads as please you. Make it a point to drop in and see the goods for yourself.

Rally Brings Values Up 10 Cents; Sheep and Lambs Dull and Lower.

With fresh receipts of 25,000 head and a holdover supply of more than 9,000, the hog market at Chicago yesterday declined to 10@15c lower than at the best time Wednesday and closed in a depressed condition. Eastern shipping demand was lethargic and local speculators had nearly all of the stale hogs on their hands. This gave packers an opportunity to amass their droves without outside competition of any consequence and they had little trouble in keeping values on a downward trend. The average price for the day declined 8c to $7.44, and the bulk of the good hogs sold at $7.35@7.50.

Cattle market retained all the strength of earlier days this week and further gains of 10c brought values to largely 30@40c higher than at the recent low time. Receipts of 4,500 included some choice beeves that topped the market at $9.40, with yearlings at $9.30 for steers and $8.40 for heifers.

Sheep and lamb market was weak and lower, with receipts of stock direct to packers from southern points exerting a depressing influence.

CHARGES 16 HOUR VIOLATIONS.

Government Begins Suits Against the Milwaukee and St. Paul and Baltimore and Ohio.

Civil suits alleging violation of the 16 hour act were filed in Chicago yesterday by United States District Attorney Wilkerson against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Baltimore & Ohio railways. Against the former are eleven counts, calling for fines aggregating $5,500.

The road, the government charges, permitted one of its crews to operate a train from Savannah, Ill., to Galewood, Ill., for longer than 16 hours consecutively. The act, under which the charges are made, is that for promoting the safety of passengers and employés, and the suits follow investigations by the interstate commerce commission.

J. A. Fowler, chief assistant to the attorney general, is in Chicago, conferring with the district attorney on various plans now under way, notably the delayed dissolution of the National Packing company.

The investigators have been instructed to watch closely the conditions aboard the summer excursion boats running out of Chicago. The particular purpose is the obtaining of evidence relative to violations of the ... law.

CONGRESS' RIGHT TO 'RECALL' COMMERCE JUDGES QUESTIONED

Fine Point of Law May Reach Supreme Court of the United States, Say Officials.

Washington, D. C., June 13.—The right of congress to "recall" the judges of the Commerce court by legislating to reduce the number of Circuit judges by five, as contemplated by the senate, presents a fine question of law which may reach the Supreme court of the United States, according to officials of the department of justice.

A high official of the department today declared congress could not legislate the five judges out of office in view of the constitutional provision that federal judges shall hold office during good behavior.

In establishing the Commerce court, congress increased the number of Circuit judges by five and stipulated that that number should periodically be assigned to the Commerce court.

The right of congress to abolish the court is not questioned, but many officials hold that these five Circuit judges, once appointed, cannot be deposed unless the Circuit Courts of Appeal, where they serve, in addition to their duties on the Commerce court are abandoned.

The line is sharply drawn, many lawyers in congress claiming these judges were created for the Commerce court, and that in abolishing their functions there the judges likewise are deposed.

FOR SALE—A BARGAIN—
130 acres of 4 year old apple orchard, located two and one-quarter miles northeast of Grand Junction, Colorado; planted to Jonathan, Winesap, and Gano varieties only, and these varieties are all standard.
Because of the owners having other interests which require their exclusive attention, this orchard can be bought cheap.
Grand Junction is a city in the Grand Valley district, which will ship this year from 6,000 to 10,000 cars of fruit. It is situated at the junction of the Grande and the Gunnison Rivers, midway between Denver and Salt Lake City, and has a population of 12,000, paved streets, mountain water, good roads, and is a most attractive location for a home. The climate at all seasons of the year is unsurpassed. Grand Junction and the Grand Valley has a great future and the people who buy this orchard now will be in on the ground floor. This is not a trading proposition.
If interested address
D. B. WRIGHT, Grand Junction, Colorado.

REDEMPTION NOTICE— CENTRAL UNION TELEPHONE COMPANY.

To the holders of the outstanding 5 per cent consolidated mortgage gold bonds of the Central Union Telephone company, dated Jan. 2, A. D. 1899:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by the undersigned, the Central Union Telephone company, of the City of Chicago, Illinois, to the holder or holders of all and singular and each and every of the outstanding and unredeemed consolidated Mortgage Bonds of said telephone company, of its issue of Jan. 2, A. D. 1899, that said telephone company will on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1912, at the principal office of the Old Colony Trust company, trustee under the mortgage securing said bonds, in the City of Boston, Massachusetts, pay and redeem, or cause to be paid and redeemed, each and all of said outstanding and unredeemed Consolidated Mortgage Bonds, by paying therefor or causing to be paid therefor, at the time and place above set forth, the full amount of the principal of each bond and all accrued and unpaid interest thereon, together with 5 per cent premium upon the principal of said bonds. All of said bonds hereby called for redemption shall cease to draw interest on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1912.

The bonds hereby called and intended to be called and to be redeemed pursuant to this notice being 5 per cent gold bonds, dated Jan. 2, 1899, maturing on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1919, all of which bonds are signed by the Central Union Telephone company and payable at the office of the Old Colony Trust company, trustee, in the city of Boston, in the state of Massachusetts, and all of which bonds are secured by mortgage or trust deed dated on the 2d day of January, A. D. 1899, and executed by the Central Union Telephone company upon all of its corporate property and assets, to the said Old Colony Trust company of the city of Boston, Massachusetts, as trustee.

Each and all of said bonds are hereby called for payment and redemption at the time and place and in the manner above set forth, and the holder or holders of each and all of said bonds are hereby notified and requested to present and surrender said bonds and each and all of them, together with all interest coupons thereof maturing after July 1st, 1912, and all matured and unpaid interest coupons at the office of the Old Colony Trust company, trustee, in the city of Boston, in the state of Massachusetts, on the first day of July, A. D. 1912, for payment and redemption, pursuant to the above and foregoing notice and call.

Dated at the city of Chicago, in the state of Illinois, this 25th day of April, A. D. 1912.

CENTRAL UNION TELEPHONE COMPANY, By [Signed] B. E. SUNNY, President.
ATTEST: [Signed] CHARLES E. MOSLEY, Secretary. [Seal.]

NOTICE TO BONDHOLDERS— NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by the undersigned, Trustee for the bond holders under a certain mortgage executed by the Berghoff Brewing Association of Fort Wayne, Indiana, on the first day of August, 1911, that twenty-five thousand dollars [$25,000.00] of such bonds will be redeemed on August first, 1912, and respectfully invites the holders of such bonds to submit proposals to the Trustee at its office in the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, on or before the first Monday in July, 1911, for the redemption and surrender of his or their bonds, in an amount sufficient to approximately exhaust the sum aforesaid.
